ASK STATE LAW TO SELL OUT TAX DELINQUENCIES

Urge Valid Deeds After 5 Years.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 24.—Gov. Green's tax conference recommended today that a law be passed permitting the sale at auction of all real estate on which taxes have been delinquent for five years, with the stipulation that the high bidder be given a perfect title to the land.

Deneen Watson.

Adoption of this proposal would, the governor said, affect hundreds of thousands of pieces of tax delinquent property in Cook county, on which is unpaid about 250 million dollars, including penalties.

Green gave no indication of his attitude toward this plan, which was submitted by a group of civic organizations, labor leaders, and private citizens, headed by Attorney Deneen Watson of Chicago.

Some Other Recommendations.

Other recommendations made by the conference follow:

1. Division of the department of finance into two new departments. The department of taxation would collect the sales, liquor, and utility revenue taxes. It would include the state tax commission, which would be set up as board of tax appeals to hear appeals from state tax assessments. The department of administration would handle state personnel and blanket-in the civil service commission and the division of architecture.

2. Establishment of a joint purchasing agency for the six major governmental agencies in Cook county—the city of Chicago, county, sanitary, park, and forest preserve districts, and the Chicago board of education.

Civil Service Extension.

3. Extension of state civil service. It is suggested that an expert outside agency be engaged to classify state positions. Extension of salary standardization also is urged.

4. Separation of the duties of county treasurer and county collector in Cook county, now embodied in the office of treasurer. Downstate, the report suggested, the office of county property tax supervisor should be established in counties of more than 40,000 population and left optional in small counties.

5. In Cook county, assessment complaints should be reviewed prior to determination of tax rates and extension of taxes. Judicial review should be forbidden save where there is proof of fraud or arbitrary action.

6. Elimination of state grants to school districts "so small as to be inefficient and excessively costly."

No State Property Tax.

7. Continuance of the present policy of making no property levy for state purposes, but consideration should be given, the report added, to shifting the assessment date and adjusting fiscal years and levy dates of local governments "so as to obviate the use of tax anticipation warrants and effect other improvements in local government financial procedures."

8. As the first step in the direction pointed in recommendation 7, the report recommended that the delinquency date for personal property and the first half of real estate taxes be advanced one month in each of the next three years: To May 1, 1942, April 1, 1943, and March 1, 1944. The second instalment would remain Sept. 1, as at present.

9. All state taxing bodies should be required to adopt budgets annually after making tentative budgets available for public inspection and conducting surveys.

Cigaret Bill Passed.

The governor's 2 cents a package cigaret tax bill was passed in the house today with the support of 39 Democrats and 73 Republicans. The vote was 112 to 17. More Democrats voted for the measure than have supported any other administration proposal this session.

This fact brought cheerful forecasts from Republican quarters that Green need not worry for the success of any part of his tax program or, indeed, for his appropriation bills, which are rapidly being added to the calendar as the session nears the end of its fourth month.

INDUSTRY CALLS ON OFFICIALS TO PUNISH KILLERS

The Cleaning and Dyeing Plant Owners association of Chicago announced yesterday the offer of a $2,500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the men who beat Anton Gorczak, a driver, to death with a bat in a tailor shop at 1745 West 63d street Wednesday.

Hymie Ditkowsky, president of the association, said its members tolerated no gangsterism and were anxious to maintain their reputation and the welfare of their 10,000 employés.

"We call on the mayor, the state's attorney and the police to use every effort to solve the mystery and pledge our full coöperation with them in any way they may designate," Ditkowsky said. He said that the organization had had no labor troubles for years.

Prosecutor, Police Begin Probe.

State's Attorney Courtney and Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan and their aids questioned a number of men yesterday, delving into various discordant elements of the cleaning industry. Somewhere in this labyrinth, they indicated, they expected to find the motive for the Gorczak slaying.

Murray Humphreys, one time Capone gangster who has been active recently in the cleaning business, and Ben Alberts, also known as Abrams, former labor union organizer who has been trying to form a tieup between an association of retail cleaning merchants and the Republic Cleaners plant at 1823 South Cicero avenue, Cicero, were among those questioned.

Assistant State's Attorneys Francis McCurrie and William B. Crawford learned that Humphreys' wife, under her maiden name of Mary Brendle, is owner of 49 per cent of the stock of the Klever-Shampay Cleaners at 4633 Cottage Grove avenue, and that Samuel Ginsberg, who was once a defendant with Humphreys in a racket trial, also owns a substantial part of the stock.

Fatal Attack Follows Threats.

This line of investigation was pursued because Abraham Rubin, owner of the shop in which the fatal attack occurred, recently transferred his cleaning business from Klever-Shampay to Republic, which employed Gorczak. Both Rubin and Gorczak had reported being threatened with harm because of the shift of trade, and the killers shouted to Gorczak: "You're getting this for being so sassy."

Humphreys denied any knowledge of the killers. He was released in bond of $1,000 after a writ of habeas corpus was requested in his behalf. A hearing on the writ is to be held next Thursday.

Alberts appeared in a dual rôle. He was, he admitted, the general manager for the little independent merchants. At the same time he was on the pay roll of Republic Cleaners at $50 a week. Many cleaning plant owners regard Alberts as a disturbing element in the industry.

Some of them said confidentially that his new effort had halted, at

VICHY IS YIELDING TO NAZIS, REPORT

U. S. Diplomatic Officials to Leave Paris.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 24.—A deal between the French and Germans envisaging Europe's future reconstruction appears certain. The French will accede to German demands, diplomatic circles in Vichy believed tonight.

It was semiofficially announced that Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan would go to Berlin to confer with German authorities. Darlan is in Paris, where he conferred with Fernand de Brinon, Vichy's ambassador to the occupied region.

Americans to Leave Paris.

An official announcement, which seemed to be preparing public opinion, said "the present exchanges of opinion are invested with an extreme importance and their results will be soon known."

In connection with indications of a French-German deal, it was disclosed that all American diplomatic officials are quitting Paris, leaving only consular representatives there.

New Boundaries Hinted.

Significant in the French-German conferences is the disclosure that the French hope to get a better settlement about boundaries. That is, division of Balkan territory may reward Italy to such an extent that Italy would be willing, under German inducement, to relinquish its claims to Nice, Corsica, and other French regions.

The Germans also are dangling better boundaries in the north of France before the eyes of Vichy.

Island Girls Steal Sheets and Then Try to Cover Up

Miami, Fla., April 24 (AP).—Charter boatmen brought here this story of an unusual obstacle to national rearmament preparations: Engineers used bed sheet size pieces of muslin to mark survey posts over the site of a new outpost of Mayaguana Island in the Bahamas. Each night the sheets disappeared. The annoyed surveyors investigated—and learned that many of the native girls were sporting new muslin bloomers.

Army Air Corps Invites Bids on Gliders to Carry Soldiers

Washington, D. C., April 24 [Special].—The army air corps has asked airplane manufacturers of the country to bid on construction of experimental troop-carrying and freight-carrying gliders, it was learned today. Air corps observers this week will see a demonstration of glider flying at the Elmira, N. Y., headquarters of the Elmira Area Soaring corporation, it was learned.

Interest in motorless planes, it was said, arises from reports by American air attachés in England and Germany that the Nazis make use of such aircraft in their blitz campaigns. These attachés report that troop-carrying gliders were used in Holland and Belgium last year and may ultimately be used in an assault on England.

Must Carry 10 Men.

The army's specifications for a glider call for a machine with capacity for at least 10 infantrymen with considerable equipment and ammunition. Air corps specifications call for gliders with a sinking ratio of at least 15:1—this means that the gliders will fly 15 feet forward for each foot of altitude that they lose. This is about double the gliding ratio of light power planes and triple that of military bombers or fighting ships.

Several aircraft manufacturers have been called to Dayton, O., where the air corps has its matériel division, for conference on the glider program. The army has arranged to buy several models of high performance soaring planes now manufactured commercially and expects to have a number of its regular pilots trained to fly these motorless planes.

"The army is far from sure that troop carrying gliders will ever have a practical purpose in war," an air corps spokesman said. "We have a lot of experimental work to do before we can say definitely one way or the other. It looks, however, as if they might have some real utility as freight carriers."

Towed at 100 Miles an Hour.

The army in its general specifications has asked for a glider that can be towed at 100 miles an hour airspeed. This is about 25 miles an hour faster than most sporting gliders and soaring planes are designed to be towed. The higher speed for the army ships is necessary because most of the army's transports cannot be safely flown at speeds slower than 100 miles an hour.

The 10 men gliders must land at 35 miles an hour to fulfill the army's wishes, it was disclosed. To obtain this low landing speed—most military planes land at from 70 to 85 miles an hour—a wingspread of 110 feet will be required. This is about the size of German troop-carrying gliders which are reported to carry from 8 to 12 men each.

One Plane Tows Three Gliders.

The Germans and Russians have shown that one powerful air transport plane can tow from three to five gliders behind it and thus lift into the air approximately four times as much payload as the ship alone could carry. Such glider trains have been visioned as bringing shock troops silently and secretly to England if the German attack on the island begins. It is reported that such gliders were used in the taking of "impregnable" fortresses of Belgium.

Fills 360,000 Jobs

Arthur S. Flemming, a member of the United States Civil Service commission, yesterday told University of Chicago students, meeting in the Social Science assembly room, that from June 1, 1940, thru April 19, 1941, the civil service commission had placed 360,000 persons in jobs in the army and navy departments alone, or five times the normal job placements for the entire federal government.

TROOPS TO TAKE LONG TEST HIKE —TO NOWHERE

Washington, D. C., April 24 (AP).—The war department announced today an extraordinary "hike to nowhere," during which soldiers will march and march for hours in tropic heat and arctic cold without ever arriving or even departing.

The line of march will be a treadmill in the Fatigue Laboratory at Harvard university, and the aim of all the footwork will be to find out how soldiers—and their uniforms—stand up under field conditions.

Thirty volunteer doughboys will participate.

Must Get Arms to Britain, Say 2 Cabinet Men

Urges Protests

A plea to all who oppose the entrance of the United States into the European war to send personal messages to President Roosevelt expressing their convictions was made yesterday by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, chairman of the America First rally to be held in the Chicago Arena next Sunday afternoon. To make it easy to send such messages, she said, 10,000 postcards will be distributed to the audience at the rally.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], will be the speaker. He will arrive in Chicago Sunday morning and make his headquarters in the Palmer House before going to the arena, which is at Erie street and McClurg court on the near north side. The meeting will open at 3 p. m.

[Senator Wheeler spoke in St. Paul, Minn., last night. Details on page 5.]

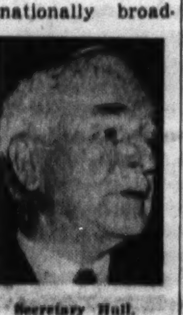
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—In public addresses, nationally broadcast, two members of President Roosevelt's war cabinet tonight beat the tom-toms for American convoying of war munitions to Great Britain. Their speeches followed a "full dress" discussion of the international situation by Mr. Roosevelt and his war cabinet at the White House.



Secretary Hull.

Speaking in Washington before the American Society of International Law, of which he is president, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said:

"In my judgment our safety and security require that, in accordance with the declared policy of the legislative and executive branches of the government, aid must be supplied without hesitation to Great Britain and those other countries that are resisting the sweep of the general conflagration.

Must Find Way, Says Hull.

"This policy means, in practical application, that such aid must reach its destination in the shortest of time and in maximum quantity. So—ways must be found to do this."

This was diplomatic jargon which scarcely veiled its obvious meaning, according to Washington official and diplomatic opinion.

Speaking before the American Newspaper Publishers' association in New York, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was even less obscure in his declaration for convoying.

"Hitler cannot allow our war supplies and food to reach England—he will be defeated if they do. We cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic—we shall be beaten if they are," Knox asserted.

Copies Prowar Declaration.

This statement was taken almost verbatim, without credit, from the policy declaration of the new Fight for Freedom committee, which was organized to agitate openly for war. Secretary Knox, who uttered this warlike statement tonight, told the senate foreign relations committee and

LINDBERGH APPEAL BRINGS 3,000 MORE INTO AMERICA FIRST

New York, April 24 [Special].—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's strong appeal here last night for a united citizenry to keep this country out of war has brought 3,000 new applications for membership in the antiwar America First committee and a hurried radio reply from the new prowar Fight for Freedom committee.

The New York chapter of America First announced 2,000 membership applications were signed at last night's meeting, which drew an overflow crowd of 10,000 despite rain. Another 1,000 came today by telephone, telegraph, letter, or personal visit to committee headquarters.

Two speeches by James P. Warburg, banker, and Rex Stout, author, formed the Fight for Freedom group's radio retort, assailing Lindbergh and calling for American entrance into the war without delay.

Warburg went so far as to charge Lindbergh with acting as an "enemy of the country" in delaying "total" entry into the European war. Stout called him "a quitter."

BRITISH-GREEK ARMY CLINGS TO THERMOPYLAE

Nazis Turn Bigger Guns on Allies.

ATHENS, April 24 (AP).—Hurled back when they attempted to storm the historic pass of Thermopylae with infantry, the Germans today brought up 6 inch guns and shelled the British-Greek positions. This was the heaviest artillery yet used in the Balkan campaign, indicating the stoutness of the allied resistance.

Ambulance drivers returning from the front said the British losses around Thermopylae had been "extremely light" but they understood that a German attempt to force the pass with infantry cost the invaders heavily.

Refugee Ship Bombed.

Meanwhile, German dive bombers, darting down in the rays of the setting sun, tonight heavily attacked Piraeus, the port of Athens, bombing a ship which was taking on refugees.

The ship immediately burst into flames and the government, identifying it as the 2,295 ton Hellas, a converted yacht, said many of the women and children boarding it for sanctuary from the war in Greek islands were killed or wounded. Another steamer was damaged heavily off the Greek island of Kea, and two hospital ships were sunk.

Strike at Corinth.

There were no casualties aboard the hospital vessel Polikos, sunk at Methone, but a few of the crew of the hospital ship Andros, sunk at Loutra, were killed or wounded.

Concentrating on Greece's southern coast and the clusters of islands off it, the German raiders also struck at Corinth, Aegina, Elevsis, and Megara. Antiaircraft fire brought down three Nazi bombers.

DESTROY BRITISH SHIPS

BERLIN, April 25, Friday (AP).—British lines of retreat to Egypt from Greece have been considerably crippled by the Nazi air force, German commentators said early today after the German high command claimed destruction of approximately 89,600 registered tons of shipping space in Greek waters in the last three days.

All these ships, it was said, were held in readiness to carry British troops and valuable equipment out of Greece.

[A British radio commentator in a broadcast heard in New York said "not one British soldier has reëmbarked from Greece."]

German bombers Wednesday sank five transports and material ships amounting to 21,600 tons and damaged seriously 10 larger ships. Two auxiliary warships were "sacrificed" to the German air attacks, one British destroyer was heavily damaged by direct bomb hits, and a four motored British flying boat burst into flames.

Advance "by Way of Thebes."

Altho responsible German sources said that German troops still are an appreciable distance from Athens and approaching it in the most methodical manner, German press dispatches said the advance was continuing "by way of Thebes," which is 35 miles northwest of the capital. The press said the army had been ordered to occupy Athens without harming its ancient and splendid monuments.

These reports, not bearing the stamp of the high command, said the highways and railways to the north of Thebes were in full control of German troops.

The high command's bulletin yesterday, however, said merely that at Thermopylae, the historic pass 100 miles north of Athens, "we succeeded in breaking into positions which were situated in especially favorable terrain [presumably for the defense]."

Gate to Athens.

Thus the high command did not confirm the report by other German sources of Wednesday, and implied in the Thebes report yesterday that the Nazi army had broken thru Thermopylae and opened the gate to Athens.

The command bulletin did say that 30 British tanks were taken between Lamia and Larissa, north of the pass, and DNB, the German news agency, declared that at one large British camp hundreds of tanks and munition trucks and many three inch guns had been captured, as well as several thousand British soldiers.

HOPKINS LANDS A $10,000 BERTH ON WAR PAY ROLL

Directs British Financing; Wayne Coy Heads OEM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—President Roosevelt today formally placed his friend and confidant, Harry L. Hopkins on the White House pay roll at $10,000 a year to direct the British war financing program and selected a new nominal head of the Office for Emergency Management, the top holding company in the setup administering the domestic arms program.

Wayne Coy.

Hopkins previously had been designated as the administrator of aid to Britain and other nations opposing the axis powers. Hopkins' previous experience had been as a social welfare worker, WPA administrator and briefly held the portfolio of secretary of commerce.

Called Dominating Influence.

More recently he made a special mission to London in behalf of the President and since his return has been regarded as a dominating influence over the President in matters of policy concerning the European war. He resides at the White House and maintained offices in his bedroom there until his appointment as British aid administrator when elaborate quarters were established in the palatial Federal Reserve building.

To head the OEM, Mr. Roosevelt appointed Wayne Coy of Indiana, a longtime associate of Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, to whom he has been a special assistant. Coy was recently named by the President as chairman of the board of "experts" to investigate the entire field of transportation under the transportation act of 1940.

Appointments Opposed.

Coy and the other two nominees to the board, Charles O. West and Nelson Lee Smith, have not been confirmed by the senate and indications were that the senate would not approve them because of inexperience and lack of fitness. Coy has asked the President to withdraw his nomination as a member of the board.

Like Hopkins, the other directing genius of the armament setup, Coy was a welfare worker. He served under McNutt in various capacities while McNutt was governor of Indiana, and was head of the Indiana prison administration when the arch criminal John Dillinger escaped to conduct a reign of terror in the middle west. Coy later became WPA regional administrator in the midwest under Hopkins.

Becomes Liaision Officer.

Coy will assume the duties held by William H. McReynolds as liaision officer for the OEM, shuttling between the White House and the Office of Production Management, and other sundry armament directing agencies, in which the $1 a year business men are berthed. McReynolds, one of the President's administrative assistants, will concentrate on handling civil service personnel problems.

In reality the OEM is directly under Mr. Roosevelt, the supervising head of the whole armament program, and Coy and other New Dealers brought into the setup will act as buffers between the President and the OPM, etc. Coy will carry the title of special assistant and get a salary of $9,000 a year.

STATE AND MONROE

Urges Churchill to Include Dominion Men in War Cabinet

Debate Avoided

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 24.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill soon will be urged to form a new war cabinet with representatives of the dominions included in its membership.

Edgar Granville, Liberal, today told the house of commons that such a cabinet would assure the dominions of obtaining information regarding the risks assigned to their troops in the various theaters of the war.

Granville announced he would ask Churchill whether "in view of the great responsibility involved in decisions of policy, he will consider the formation of a supreme war cabinet of ministers without departmental responsibilities and irrespective of party considerations and if he will invite dominion statesmen of the caliber of Menzies [Prime Minister Menzies of Australia] to join."

Many Favor Plan.

Many members of commons favor the proposal because it presumably would avert misunderstandings among the empire nations.

Churchill again was badgered in commons by members demanding a full explanation of the British campaign in Greece, but he once more sidestepped the issue.

"A serious responsibility rests with the government not to take any course or to make any statement which would prejudice the safety and success of the British, Australian, New Zealand, and Greek forces now in contact with the enemy," Churchill said in explanation of his desire to avoid a debate.

Demands Eden Statement.

Former War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha, who recently had lunch with Churchill and again is talked of as likely ministerial timber, renewed his demand that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden make a statement on his tour of Turkey and Greece which preceded the outbreak of war in the Balkans.

Australian Shift

SYDNEY, Australia, April 24 (AP).—The government of Prime Minister R. G. Menzies, under fire because of the Balkan reverses, appeared left today at the mercy of the Laborites who gained a majority of one vote after the death yesterday of J. L. Price, government whip.

Price's death reduced the government's full voting strength to 35, compared with Labor's 36. A strong Labor candidate might win his seat, giving Labor a majority of two unless a national war administration is formed. Menzies is a member of the United Australian party.

Oppose Government Policy.

It appeared certain that Labor would reject an invitation to join the national government. Labor party leaders were said to be opposed to the policy of the government.

A. W. Fadden, who is serving as prime minister in the absence of Menzies, now in England, said it would be foolish to regard recent fighting in Greece as anything but rearguard action.

"Australia never before faced a position so fraught with such danger," he said in urging "greater efforts on the home front."

Defends Decision.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, April 24 (AP).—Prime Minister Peter Fraser today declared the decision to send New Zealanders to Greece was reached only after long and anxious consideration and that if he had to decide again he would take the same course.

Fraser said that his government was fully consulted and that it accepted a full share of responsibility. After studying the views of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, and middle east defense chiefs and a discussion with Australian leaders, Fraser said, it was decided the prospect of effective resistance to the Germans was reasonable, tho hazardous.

HOUSE GROUP TO VOTE ON BILL FOR COOLING OFF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—The house rules committee today agreed to vote next Tuesday on the question of sending to the floor the Vinson bill calling for compulsory mediation and a cooling off period in strikes which affect production in the armaments program.

A last minute attempt to forestall action on the measure was made by Mrs. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the house labor committee. She declared that the bill was "antilabor" legislation and condemned the provision which provides for continuation of the open or closed shop in industries manufacturing war weapons.

"This bill should have been referred to my committee," she declared.

"I think the labor committee has staged a sitdown strike on all labor legislation," remarked Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.]. "The house is burning and water has got to be applied, and here comes the naval committee with the water." [The measure is sponsored by Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee.]

William Allen White as he stopped in city yesterday between trains.

"I have no ideas about the war and do not even read the war news," William Allen White, Emporia, Kas., editor, told interviewers here yesterday when he passed thru Chicago bound for New York City.

White resigned several months ago as chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, after having been quoted in various newspapers as saying he had become convinced the leaders of that group were trying to get the United States into the war.

White said he was going to New York in connection with the annual Pulitzer awards for merit in various fields of endeavor.

SIX MATANUSKA COLONISTS FACE OUSTER ACTIONS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 24 (AP).—The Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation filed ouster suits against six Matanuska colonists in federal court today.

The actions asked removal from their land of Carl R. Rasmussen, E. J. Leduc, and Frank Clark, all directors of the Matanuska Coöperative Marketing association, and C. F. Sullivan, Joseph Dragseth, and George Venna. The corporation declared the six had refused to make payments on their indebtedness.

Sullivan and Venna, formerly of Michigan; Dragseth, from Wisconsin, were among the original colonists sent north by government agencies in 1935. Leduc, formerly of Montana, joined the Matanuskans in 1936. Colony records do not indicate the former homes of Rasmussen and Clark.

GERMAN RAIDERS SHIFT ATTACK TO SOUTH ENGLAND

LONDON, April 25, Friday (AP).—Switching their attention from the southwest, where they had raided Plymouth for three nights, German bombers last night and early today showered high explosives on an area of south England.

British bombers attacked the 26,000 ton German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst at Brest, occupied France, Wednesday night for the 12th time and were believed to have put the Scharnhorst out of action "for some months" by hits on its bow. The Gneisenau was understood to have been hit amidships in an earlier raid.

Fires were started in the dock areas of Brest and at Le Harve and direct hits were reported registered on an important power station at Ibbenburen, northwest Germany in a daylight raid. Nazi troop concentrations and shipping off the coast were attacked. The admiralty announced that "a heavily laden oil tanker of over 10,000 tons was torpedoed" by the British submarine Urge.

[A Berlin report said Nazi planes sank three merchant ships totaling 14,000 tons and damaged another.]

ITALIANS ROUTED FROM HEIGHTS IN ETHIOPIAN CLASH

Posts Near Dessye Taken by South Africans.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 24 (AP).—Dispatches from Ethiopia reported tonight that British South African forces have routed the Italians from mountain barricades before Dessye in the fiercest battle of the entire campaign.

The South Africans captured many prisoners and inflicted heavy casualties on the Italians. Dessye is 140 miles northeast of Addis Ababa, the capital.

Road to Sea Already Cut.

Ethiopian patriot troops operating with South Africans have cut the road to the Red sea port of Assab and also are stopping any Italian retreat into the Danakil desert to the east.

Farther to the west the British were said to have taken Maji, an Italian supply depot north of Lake Rudolf and a center of the Merille tribes which were declared in revolt against the Fascist rulers.

British sources, claiming the initiative in an increasing number of ground sorties on the Libyan-Egyptian frontier, said the axis descriptions of Tobruk as a beleaguered city were "misleading." It is two weeks now since the axis drive toward the Suez canal stalled at Sollum, just inside the Egyptian frontier, and headquarters here viewed the situation with confidence and some optimism.

Constant Harassment.

The frequent British raids from Tobruk were described as highly successful harassment of axis forces attempting to by-pass Tobruk to push their thrust beyond Sollum. The sorties and air attacks are aimed at the axis' 800 mile supply line across the desert from Tripoli. Supplies were further disrupted by the fleet's bombardment of Tripoli on Monday.

Eight German planes were shot down when British fighters intercepted a large force over Tobruk. The British lost three planes.

More than a dozen large fires were started in Bengazi during a heavy raid Tuesday night. Axis aircraft at the nearby Derna airfield were attacked.

Troop concentrations and supply lorries were bombed in eastern Libya and a damaging raid on shipping and harbor facilities at Tripoli was carried out.

Tobruk Attacked from Air.

BERLIN, April 24 (AP).—Axis planes yesterday repeatedly attacked Tobruk, Libya, it was announced here today. "Direct hits put tanks out of action and dispersed motorized columns. In the harbor ships afloat were heavily damaged and one was sunk."

GREEK HEROISM IS STRESSED BY TURKISH PAPERS

ISTANBUL, April 24 (AP).—The Turkish press stressed Greek heroism and Turkey's own defense precautions tonight.

"It appears that Greece will be another Norway, but all Turkey feels most deeply for Greece and honors her unmatched heroism," said the newspaper Cumhuriyet.

The newspaper Yeni Sabah, discussing persistent rumors of a nonaggression pact with Germany, said that "today relations bewteen Turkey and Germany are normal," but "if it is necessary for them to fight one another the fact of a nonagression pact would not prevent it."

Authorities are requisitioning vehicles here and at Edirne [Adrianople] to collect stocks of grain and food. Five hundred youths, recent high school graduates, are being enrolled in pilots' courses.

A Turkish trade delegation at Bucharest, Yeni Sabah reported, has reached an agreement for German occupied Rumania to make further oil shipments to Turkey.

CHARGES FRENCH EX-CHIEF'S JAIL LIFE IS INHUMAN

Doctor Tells Conditions at Chateau.

VICHY, France, April 24 (AP).—The physician attending former French leaders now held at Bourassol château, near Riom, says he has been forced to "intervene energetically" against what he called "inhuman treatment" of the fallen statesmen.

The charge was made by Dr. Roulet in the Paris newspaper Le Matin in telling of the living conditions of former Premiers Edouard Daladier and Leon Blum, Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, former allied generalissimo, and Guy La Chambre, ex-air minister.

Sources close to the ministry of justice here denied that they had been inhumanly treated and said, in fact, they had been given a privileged position.

Say They Lived in Ease.

Authorized circles here said that, up to now, the Paris newspapers had been picturing the prisoners as living in ease and apparently had been ordered to change their tone.

"The first to call me in for consultation was Gen. Gamelin," Dr. Roulet wrote. "Like the others, he hadn't the slightest heat. I treated him and made a report, as a result of which 20 tons of coal were placed at the disposition of the prisoners and their guards."

On one occasion, the physician asserted, Gen. Gamelin had to make a sharp protest because his sheets had not been changed for two months.

Guard at Door.

There is no set time for getting up and going to bed, but their doors are locked each night and a guard sleeps in front of each door. The former statesmen almost never see one another.

Their food is sent over from the Hotel Des Voyageurs in Riom and is the same as that served to hotel clients.

Mme. Robert Blum, the former premier's daughter-in-law, has lived at a hotel in Riom since last September and bicycles to the chateau each day.

Le Chambre's wife lives in Vichy and takes the train over every morning. She spends the afternoon with her husband in his room.

Gamelin's wife, who lives in Lyons, visits him once a week.

Seize Daladier Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 24.—Pierre Jacomet, former Premier Edouard Daladier's general secretary at the ministry of national defense, has been arrested and charged with responsibility for France's deficient armament production in the three years that preceded the war, it was revealed today. Jacomet was sent to the Bourassol detention establishment near Riom.

NAZIS REPEAT GREEK CLAIM OF HOLDING OFF ITALIAN TROOPS

New York, April 24 (AP).—The German radio today broadcast in full a Greek army high command communique which included a claim that Italian forces failed to advance into Greek territory before the Greek capitulation. As the Germans broadcast it, the communique concluded with this:

"It is confirmed that at the moment of capitulation Italian forces had not succeeded in advancing onto Greek territory, but that they were held back on Albanian territory by our troops."

Mussolini Hails Troops.

ROME, April 24 (AP).—Premier Mussolini issued an order of the day today expressing Italy's pride in her troops, whose "victory" over the Greeks illuminated Italian flags "with new glory."

"After six months of most sharp fighting the enemy has laid down his arms," the order said. "The victory consecrates your bloody sacrifices. The fatherland is proud of you as never before. Hail the king!"

NAZI PRESS SEES ANTI-WAR SPIRIT GROWING IN U. S.

BERLIN, April 24 (AP).—The German press today watched intently and approvingly the development of what was termed antiwar feeling in the United States. Many papers were saying that "American common sense is asserting itself."

The usually authoritative magazine Berlin-Rome-Tokio said the Jugo-Slav collapse had "pushed Roosevelt out of Europe." If the British were driven from the Balkans, it added, "American interventionist policies and Roosevelt must be counted among the beaten."

Dr. Otto Dietrich, German press chief, published an "open letter to Churchill" citing numerous statements of the British prime minister with the idea of showing that he is a poor prophet. Among them were forecasts that the Germans would be stopped by the Maginot line, and in Norway, the Low Countries, and the Balkans.

HUGE TRANSPORT LANDS TROOPS AT SINGAPORE BASE

Army of 90,000 Planned for Key Stronghold.

SINGAPORE, April 24 (AP).—Formidable new reinforcements of men and machines landed at this British far eastern stronghold today, strengthening the defense of Singapore and the Malay peninsula against a surprise thrust by land or sea.

They came in a huge transport as reinforcements for the main body of the Australian imperial force which arrived here on Feb. 18.

Australian manned bombing planes roared out to meet the convoy 100 miles at sea and circled overhead as the big troop carrying liner steamed thru a protective minefield and past the powerful harbor fortresses to the naval base dock.

Plan an Army of 90,000.

The new contingents included transport services and other auxiliaries. With the troops already here —said by some observers to be the forerunners of an army of 90,000— they will take up positions in already prepared stations on the Malayan peninsula.

[The reënforcements arrived 11 days after the signing of the Japanese-soviet neutrality pact, which has been interpreted in some quarters as freeing Japan for a thrust against Singapore or the Dutch East Indies.]

Lieut. Gen. L. V. Bond, commander of British land forces in Malaya, said that the defense of the peninsula in terms of men, guns, and planes was nearing its peak.

Other army contingents of Australians and Indians, and a whole shipload of the latest type antiaircraft artillery from Britain and warplanes from the United States have insured a closely coördinated striking power.

Able to Concentrate Guns.

The additional antiaircraft guns will make possible a more concentrated barrage than at many places in England, with enough guns to spare for strengthening vital centers in northern Malaya [facing Thailand (Siam)].

As for possibilities of attack from the sea, Gen. Bond conceded there were numerous possible landing points on Malaya's eastern or China sea coast, despite swamps and reefs. But, he emphasized, neither artillery nor armored forces could break a path thru the dense, almost roadless jungles.

Gen. Bond said: "Japan would be a dangerous enemy," but added that he did not believe a Japanese attack would be "catastrophic."

"There is no question but that the United States fleet is the most powerful factor deterring the activity of an enemy of Britain in the Pacific area," Gen. Bond said.

NAZIS DENY DEMANDS MADE AGAINST TURKS; SEE A BRITISH 'TRICK'

BERLIN, April 24 (AP).—The London Daily Herald's assertions regarding German demands on Turkey for control of the Bosporus and Dardanelles were called by an authorized German spokesman today "just another typical British attempt to mislead."

It was suggested that England is anxiously trying to divert attention from her Greek defeat, and to this end is using alleged German demands on Turkey and designs on Spain and Portugal.

PUSH U. S. DRIVE FOR CONVOYING AID TO BRITAIN

Help Must Be Delivered, Say Two Cabinet Men.

the house foreign affairs committee when he appeared in support of the war dictatorship bill that he was opposed to convoying because it would be an act of war. He said he would change his mind, however, if the President should determine to use American naval escorts for convoys.

It was learned today that Mr. Roosevelt has made that decision but intends to wait until he is convinced that public opinion will support him before putting it into effect. Mr. Roosevelt, it was learned, has gone so far as to ask Attorney General Robert H. Jackson to prepare an opinion holding that the President has authority under the constitution, as commander in chief of the navy, to use warships on convoy duty.

His Authority Challenged.

The President wishes to be fortified with an opinion from the attorney general because of the eminent body of legal opinion holding that he has no authority, without a declaration of war by congress, to use naval vessels in an attempt to break a blockade in foreign war zones. No less an authority than Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the foreign relations committee and manager of the war dictatorship bill, declared when it was under consideration in the senate that the President has no constitutional authority to put naval vessels on convoy duty without a declaration of war by congress.

The President, it is understood, will not order convoying of war supplies all the way to England until public opinion is fully conditioned for it, by such speeches as those delivered tonight by Secretaries Hull and Knox.

Recall January Words.

Still too fresh in the public mind, according to administration sources in congress, is the President's statement in January, when the dictator bill was under consideration, that "convoys mean shooting and shooting means war."

In the meantime, however, the administration will approach the full convoying objective by intermediate steps such as the extension of air and sea patrols 1,000 miles out in the Atlantic, as announced yesterday by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, chairman of the joint American-Canadian defense board. Another intermediate step said to be under consideration is the actual convoying of war shipments to Greenland and possibly Iceland, for transshipment to England.

HULL CALLS FOR ACTION

"The conclusion is plain. Now, after some 15 nations have lost everything that makes life worth living, it is high time that the remaining free countries should arm to the fullest extent and in the briefest time humanly possible and act for their self-preservation.

"Events have shown beyond possible question that the safety of this hemisphere and of this country calls for resistance wherever resistance will be most effective."

Hull sought to answer those asking why America should interest herself in who wins in a war which is merely a traditional and recurrent struggle for power. He contended that all the military movements and official acts and utterances of the aggressor nations indicate that this country is included in their plans for world domination.

Sees Safety in Strength.

"Safety can only come," he asserted, "from our ability, in conjunction with other peace loving nations, to prevent any aggressor from attaining control of the high seas."

In attempting to allay fears that German submarines and bombing planes would attack American vessels and thus plunge this country into war, the secretary said:

"No nation is going to attack us merely because it is our policy to defend ourselves. Neither, for that matter, are any aggressors going to let us alone merely because we attempt to placate them. In the philosophy of the conquerors, an attack is justified whenever and wherever it looks easy and convenient and serves their purposes.

"There is no possible safeguarding our security, except by solid strength, placed when and where it is most effective.

Pleads for United Effort.

"The best, indeed the only, way of allaying the fears and doubts and questions of those who are in anxiety is for us, 130 millions of Americans, to rise in our might and proceed as one man in the Herculean task of equipping this nation to the fullest for its self defense. These preparations should not be for a month, or for a year, but they must continue as long as our safety is threatened.

"For us, the task of safeguarding our security requires the full, continuous effort, patriotically inspired effort of each and every one of us. The energies of those who control the operation of our factories and their machines together with the labor of those who make and operate the machines must be devoted to the attainment of maximum production. Each and all must work with a sense that what they do or do not do is important in determining whether this country shall be secure.

Views Task as Huge.

"Every part of our vast productive machine that can serve to produce military supplies must be put to that purpose. The desire to continue ordinary ways of business must yield to the needs of the crisis. Individuals and groups have no right at this time to think or act primarily in terms of their personal interest to the detriment of the general national good.

"Altho the task is huge, tho time is pressing, and tho the struggle may continue for a long time, I am confident that at the end there will come a better day. We are at work not only at the task of insuring our own safety, but also at the task of creating ultimate conditions of peace with justice."

DELIVER, KNOX URGES

New York, April 24 (AP).—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox tonight coupled a statement that "we cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic—we shall be beaten if they are," with the assertion that "we must make good our promise to give aid to Britain."

"Hitler cannot allow our war supplies and food to reach England; he will be defeated if they do," Knox said in a speech at the annual dinner of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publisher's association.

After making an "utterly realistic and objective" survey of the world situation and touching on the nation's foreign and defense policies, Knox added: "Having gone thus far, we can only go on."

Our Fight, He Declares.

"We must see the job thru," the secretary continued. "All of this is needed for our own safety and our future security. This is our fight. The American people have recognized the catastrophic quality of a totalitarian victory and by overwhelming majority they have endorsed every step along the progress we have made to our present posture.

"Proclaiming, as we do, our faith in the ultimate victory of good over evil, our devotion to the cause of human liberty, our century and a half of the pursuit of justice between men on terms of equality, we can no longer occupy the immoral and craven position of asking others to make all the sacrifice for this victory which we recognize as so essential to us. Our manhood and our self-respect demand that we shall assume our part of the burden."

Surveys World Situation.

In his survey of the world situation, Knox said that "what we all see is an America which is gradually becoming encircled by military powers whose ideals, institutions, and methods are all of them irreconciliably antagonistic to our ideals, institutions, and methods."

The latest link in a "chain of encirclement that is being forged," he said, "is the recently announced agreement between Russia and Japan."

"Everywhere as we estimate the situation the world around," he continued, "the pressure on us grows—thru Libya, thru Egypt and the Suez, thru Jugo-Slavia and across to the sea, from the western coast of Africa to South America, thru the Pacific to the Dutch Netherlands, and, most vital of all, across the broad North Atlantic from German bases in France and Norway and now to Greenland.

"German strategy—world strategy, carefully planned and efficiently executed—is becoming clearer each day. German aspirations for world dominion can no longer be mistaken. The jaws of the Nazi trap are closing."

"How long," Knox asked, "will we remain bemused and stupefied while the axis powers press their plans for our isolation and ultimate defeat?"

Present at the wedding were Mrs. Kaufmann's daughter, Lilliana, 11 years old, and both Richard and Leonard Florsheim Jr.

It is Mr. Florsheim's second marriage, his first wife, Mrs. Bertha Aberle Florsheim, having died in 1934. He is 61 years old. Mrs. Kaufmann has been a resident of Chicago for several years and formerly lived in New York and in Vienna, Austria.

The couple are now honeymooning in the east and will return the latter part of May to set up residence in Highland Park.

Thief Slain

Jacob Teune (left), who was shot to death by Albert Weidenhofer (right), special agent for express company.

A Railway Express agency guard last night shot and killed one of three men who broke into a company truck in front of 305 South Market street. The dead man was identified from his draft registration card as Jacob Teune, about 23 years old, 1633 14th place.

Lieut. Albert Weidenhofer, a company policeman who was inside the truck, told city policemen that when he heard some one battering at the rear door of the truck he drew his gun and waited. As the door swung open Teune leaped in, to be met with Weidenhofer's demand, "Stick 'em up. This is a policeman." Instead, Weidenhofer said, Teune hurled a crowbar at him, Weidenhofer fired, and Teune fell with a bullet thru his head. His two companions fled on foot.

Teune has a police record which includes a sentence of a year in the Bridewell in 1935 for malicious mischief, marked down from burglary; a three month sentence in 1937 for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and arrests for disorderly conduct, tampering with an interstate shipment, and speeding. He was shot in 1935 during the attempted burglary of a south side church. Then, also, two companion escaped.

Martin J. O'Connor, 19 years old, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Edward S. Scheffler on three charges of robbery. O'Connor was beaten severely by an employé and four customers in a liquor store at 2254 Madison street which he tried to rob Sunday with a toy pistol.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 24 (AP).—Six cabinet ministers resigned today on orders of the Radical [Liberal] party of which they are members. They are Arturo Olavarria, minister of the interior; Luis Alamos, foreign relations; Marcial Mora, finance; Antonio Irjbarren, education; Juvenal Herandez, defense, and Alfonso Quintana, agriculture.

Radical party leaders said Olavarria had violated party principles in ordering the newspaper El Imparcial closed for criticizing the government and in decreeing the expulsion of three Spanish refugees.

Resignation demands were served on the other five ministers for having supported Olavarria.

REPORT 361 SHIPS BUILDING; REVEAL ONLY 63 ON WAYS

Navy Has Fewer Vessels Than 15 Months Ago.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—Only one out of every six ships, previously listed as under construction in reports by the navy department, is actually on ship ways. This was revealed today in an official compilation of the naval construction program.

On April 16, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox announced in a summary of the progress of naval construction that a tremendous increase had taken place in the number of ships under construction April 1, 1941, as compared with Jan. 1, 1940.

He reported 361 combat vessels under construction April 1 as compared with 61 on Jan. 1, 1940. He also reported 123 auxiliary vessels under construction this month as compared with 16 on Jan. 1, 1940.

Bulk Only on Paper.

The official naval records do not bear out the secretary's claims of a tremendous increase in shipbuilding. Most of the program of which he boasted is on paper, according to the navy's own compilation of the building program.

According to the compilation only 63 of the 361 fighting ships, listed as under construction, are actually on ship ways or being completed in ship yards after launching. On Jan. 1, 1940, the navy listed 61 fighting ships under construction and 54 were actually on ship ways.

In the field of auxiliary craft only 13 of the 125 vessels listed by Knox as under construction are on ship ways.

	Jan. 1, 1940.		April 1, 1941.

Mine layers	1	0	1	2
Fleet tugs	3	0	3	7
Total auxils.	14	2	13	110

In the fifteen month period the size of the navy has been decreased by 30 vessels because transfer of ships to Britain overcame building gains. A comparison of the navy of Jan. 1, 1940, and the navy of April 1, 1941, is given in the following table:

Type.	Jan. 1, 1940.	Apr. 1, 1941.
Battleships	15	15
Aircraft carriers	5	6
Cruisers	34	37
Destroyers	218	164
Submarines	87	107
Total	359	329

The current building program has taxed the facilities of American shipyards. The government and private yards have accommodations for 63 fighting ships, the number the navy is building.

STALIN TO WIN IF U. S. ENTERS WAR: NORMAN THOMAS

The greatest danger to the world lies in the possibility of America's entrance into the war, Norman Thomas, socialist leader, asserted last night in a debate with Maj. George Fielding Eliot. The debate was held before an audience of 1,100 in Cahn auditorium on the Evanston campus of Northwestern university. It was sponsored by student organizations as a feature of the current "Peace week."

The war will probably be a long and exhausting conflict, Thomas said, and Russia's Stalin "will be the only victor" if the United States expends its energies in the war. "If it is a short war, we will be of no help to England," Thomas added. "And if we should step in and end the war, our intervention would prabably lead only to another Versailles treaty which would breed another conflict."

Maj. Eliot, military expert, said that sea power will win the war. "England is apt to be defeated this year" if America does not convoy war materials to the British Isles, he said.

Sixty-four legs kicked, clogged, and tapped yesterday afternoon on the stage of Mandel hall at the University of Chicago. But students in the impromptu audience had eyes for only 32. The others were too heavily muscled and too obviously masculine. The occasion for this display was an effort on the part of 16 male "chorines" in the forthcoming production by Blackfriars, the all male student musical comedy, to learn dancing from 16 chorus girls who appear in Michael Todd's Theater Café. The student show, a satire on the university's 50th anniversary fund raising drive, will be produced tonight and tomorrow night and on May 2 and 3.

ST. PAUL THRONGS CHEER WHEELER FOR PEACE PLEA

Hall Jammed; War Pledge Revelation Demanded.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., April 24.—The city of St. Paul tonight gave a noisy demonstration in support of Senator Burton K. Wheeler's argument that the United States does not want war.

More than 3,000 men and women crowded into the municipal auditorium to cheer the Montana Democrat as he pleaded for unity against involvement in the European conflict.

Here the America First committee which sponsored the meeting had been organized only four days since confirmation of the speaking date. With the press unfriendly the meeting had been heralded only by several small paid advertisments and handbills.

Given Spontaneous Ovation.

However, 30 minutes before the arrival of Wheeler each seat was filled and the crowd stood at the back of the hall and in the balcony. Appearance of the senator was marked by a spontaneous ovation with the crowd on its feet.

More than 4,800 persons heard Wheeler's antiwar argument during the day. A noon meeting, sponsored by the Minneapolis Traffic club, was held in the Hotel Nicollet of that city.

Scheduled as a regular club function, it filled the ballroom, overflowed into a second room, and into the lobby. About 1,800 managed to get hearing space at this gathering.

Challenges Administration.

At the night meeting Wheeler drew a cheer from the enthusiastic crowd when he challenged the administration to make public the reports of American ambassadors.

He told the crowd that the American people will soon be faced with the grave necessity of choosing between war and peace. This decision he added, must be made in an atmosphere beclouded by the most artful deluge of propaganda ever loosed in the United States.

"While the President of the United States was promising the American people peace," Wheeler told his audience, "his ambassadors urged Poland to fight Germany—urged war with the promise that the United States would enter. Mr. Bullitt knows that he assured certain nations if they stood up against Hitler we would enter the conflict. Mr. Bullitt knows this—and Mr. Bullitt knows that I know it.

"I say to the President: 'The American people have trusted you as they have trusted no President before you. Three times they have elected you to the highest office in the land. You should have faith in the American public and you should make public the reports made to you by Mr. Bullitt. And, Mr. President, you should make public the reports of Joseph P. Kennedy.'"

Why shouldn't all the facts be given the public, Wheeler asked, in order that the people may better chart the course of the nation? He added that while the President may refer to Bullitt as "my ambassador," ambassadors should be the servants of the public.

83 Pct. Opposed to War.

"As a nation we are against entering this war," Wheeler asserted. "Even Dr. Gallup tells us that 83 per cent of the Americans are opposed to our entry into the war. I believe that 98 per cent are against entering the conflict.

"Accordingly, the administration believes the American people must be educated; they must be softened up to accept convoys and to accept war. So Fiorello La Guardia, New York's belligerent mayor, states that we will not convoy, but we will 'guard' shipments half way across the Atlantic.

Like "Half Way Over Niagara."

"What devilish ingenuity! You cannot go half way over Niagara Falls. If you guard or convoy half way across the Atlantic today, you guard or convoy thru actual war zones tomorrow.

"This is a trial balloon. It was sent up from New York City, but the administration will watch public reaction. If the American people accept these 'guards'—these convoys—then we will be at war."

The speaker urged that in making the most important decision in the history of the country—war or peace—that emotions and sympathies must be stifled.

"The American people should ask themselves: Was the last war worth while? Then they should ask themselves: Should we enter a war already lost? Should we buy with tears and dollars an interest in the newest blood bath of Europe?

"Where and with what would we fight? If England was compelled to withdraw from Dunkirk, Narvik, and Greece, where would we land our troops? Germany cannot be conquered from across an ocean. To conquer the Nazis it will be necesary to drive Hitler back into Germany."

Sextuplets were born yesterday to Nanny, a goat belonging to John Tabak, 3513 Princeton avenue. One of the kids died, but the other five were reported doing nicely. The ordinary litter is two kids, and livestock experts termed the sextuplets a rarity. The mother is 3 years old.

least temporarily, a project of the Plant Owners association to appoint a czar corresponding to Judge Landis in baseball. It has been rumored that former Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson had been considered for the post. The judge said last night that he had not received any offer of the kind.

Republic Cleaners and Dyers changed hands only a month ago. The former owner, Abe Neivelt, was questioned.

"We hadn't been doing so well," he said. "The general understanding that firms won't steal each other's customers didn't seem to apply to me. Sidney Kramer made me an offer for the Republic plant and I took it. It was $36,000—$7,000 down, $10,000 in a year and the rest in a mortgage. I was also on the pay roll for $50 a week.

"I hadn't been doing well in business because Klever-Shampay were taking a lot of my customers. On the north side another outfit controled by Fred Evans [known as the financial brains of the Nitti gang] was doing the same thing."

Sent to See Kramer.

Alberts said he was sent to see Kramer by Attorney Robert E. Barrett, and they made a tentative agreement for independent tailors organized by Alberts to give their work to the Republic company. Barrett confirmed this.

"I have known Kramer, a former commercial photographer, for years," Attorney Barrett said. "I have no investment in Republic but expect a fee for my work in forming the organization.

"The agreement entered into with the independents under Alberts was entirely voluntary. The work at Republic had hardly started, but the plant is being put into shape for full operation. Altogether, Alberts, who is well known to me, had about 200 to 250 members."

It was the opinion of the investigators that labor troubles were not directly involved in the killing of Gorczak. He had been a member of the Laundry and Dye House Drivers, local 712, for 15 years, and had paid up his dues on Tuesday. His brother, John Gorczak, a driver for another cleaning firm, said Anton told him two weeks ago that he had taken two accounts from Klever-Shampay and was warned anonymously a few days later that trouble was coming his way if he didn't "lay off stealing accounts."

Union Defines Its Stand.

Reports that the union forbade its men to solicit business from the routes of other companies were denied.

George Bendel, union secretary, said the only restriction was on men who quit or were fired. In that event, he said, it was agreed with the owners that the ex-employé could not solicit his old customer for a rival firm within a year. He said Gorczak had no enemies within the union.

Gorczak was 33 years old and the father of four children. The family home is at 4938 South Hermitage avenue. An inquest into his death was continued to May 8 at the request of the police and the state's attorney.

Last night the police had in custody only one witness. He is Charles Berndel, a driver for the Klever-Shampay company, who serviced the Rubin shop until the owner went over to Republic. Berndel denied knowing anything about the slaying and volunteered to take a lie detector test. A preliminary test was made last night and another is to be tried today.

16 FINED, 2 JAILED FOR VOTE FRAUDS ON GUILTY PLEAS

Eighteen poll officials in 6 precincts of the 24th ward during the April, 1939, mayoral election pleaded guilty yesterday before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki to contempt of court charges growing out of vote count irregularities. Sixteen paid fines and two others got one day jail sentences, which were considered served.

The defendants and their penalties were: 5th precinct, Irving I. Citron, Democratic judge; William Beberman, and Julius Stovitsky, Republican judges, each fined $10; 15th precinct, Mrs. Minnie Jaffe, Republican judge, $100; Mrs. Deb Feldstein, Republican judge, and Emanuel Springer, Democratic judge, each $10; 19th precinct, Joseph Romanoff, Democratic judge, $50; Mrs. Sarah Rosenthal and Mrs. Florence Bass, Republican judges, each one day in jail.

31st precinct; Barney Gagerman, Democratic judge, and Mrs. Sylvia Graver, Republican judge, each fined $50; Dorothy Janesi, Republican judge, $200; 44th precinct, Albert J. Marcus, Democratic judge, $150; Leo Kekowitz, Democratic judge and James Maranto, Republican judge, each $25; 58th precinct, Fred Seeler, Republican judge, and Harry L. Davis and Nathan Barkan, Democratic judges, all $100.

PAINTERS RATIFY CONTRACT HIKING PAY 10 PER CENT

A contract calling for a 10 per cent increase in wages for Chicago painters has been ratified by members of 23 locals of the Painters' District council, it was announced last night. The new wage agreement will affect 18,000 to 20,000 painters and paperhangers.

A. W. Wallace, secretary of the council, said that the wages of members of the union will be raised from $1.66 an hour to $1.83 an hour, or from $10 to $11 a day. Painters work but six hour a day.

The union secretary said that the new contract with contractors and building managers will become effective May 1. Members approved the new agreement unanimously, he reported, after the results of a recent referendum had been tabulated.

DIES AFTER TAKING DRUGS.

Mrs. Marion Weeks, 59 years old, died yesterday in her home at 2254 Logan boulevard. Her son, Glenn, told police his mother had been taking sleep inducing drugs.

STORES TO FIGHT NEW 'MONOPOLY' LIQUOR SALE LAW

Drug and Grocery Group to Seek Injunction.

Drug and grocery store owners who want to continue selling alcoholic liquor along with other commodities will start a court fight against the new city ordinance which bans the sale of liquor in combination stores, effective Oct. 31, Sidney M. Libit, attorney for the Committee for Defense of Combination Liquor Stores, announced yesterday. Libit said the membership of the committee includes the Chicago Retail Druggists' association and a group of grocery stores.

The ordinance was passed Wednesday by the city council and immediately signed by Mayor Kelly. It specifically prohibits the issuance of a liquor license for any premises where commodities other than liquor are sold, except food and beverages for consumption on the premises and cigars and cigarets.

Repeals "Vague" Statute.

The new law repealed an ordinance which would have gone into effect at the end of this month. The old law, passed in 1939, specified only that the sale of liquor should be the "principal business" in each place for which a license was intended. It was described as "too vague" by the courts and council kept extending the date upon which it was to become effective.

"For more than two years we have carried on this fight against a monoply ordinance which would hand over the liquor business to the taverns and the retail liquor stores," Libit said yesterday. "We are now planning to circulate protest petitions and send them to Mayor Kelly and the city council. These petitions will be signed by people who want to buy their package liquor in grocery or drug stores without being compelled to enter liquor stores or taverns."

Plan to Seek Injunction.

Libit said his group believes the new ordinance is unconstitutional and discriminatory and that an injunction against its enforcement will be sought.

Under the ordinance, according to Ald. Thomas P. Keane [31st], chairman of the license committee which recommended its passage, a drug, grocery, or department store desiring to sell liquor would have to do so in an adjacent store. Such a store would have to have a separate entrance and could not be connected with the main store.

HILLMAN TELLS A CIO UNION THAT IT HAS EVERYTHING AT STAKE

New York, April 24 (AP).—Sidney Hillman said today that "this is no time for labor to withhold the full and final measure of its contribution to defense."

"No American worker needs to be reminded what is at stake for labor in the present world crisis," the associate director of the Office of Production Management said in an address at a convention of the Textile workers Union of America [CIO]. "Everything is at stake: The rights to speak and think and act as free men; the right to bargain collectively; the right to worship as we choose; the right to have a voice and vote in determining our own destiny. The real issue at stake is whether free labor or slave labor shall prevail."

CITIZENS OF U. S. FACE 24C TAX ON EVERY $1 EARNED

Treasury Reveals Fact in Listing New Levies.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—Twenty-four cents of every dollar earned in the future by the American citizen must be diverted to the payment of taxes, the treasury asserted today in submitting to congress its program for crushing levies to help meet the expenses of the arms program.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and his assistants outlined to the house ways and means committee their proposals for 3½ billions of dollars in new taxes, raising the federal income taxes of the average taxpayer by as much as 600 per cent. If the tax increase is voted and state and local taxes remain constant, the tax bill of the public will be about 24 per cent of national income, it was estimated by Undersecretary of the Treasury Daniel W. Bell.

Proposals Previously Revealed.

This was the highlight of the first open hearing held by the committee considering the new tax bill. The treasury's tax recommendations, submittted by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John L. Sullivan, had previously been revealed despite an attempt at secrecy. They call for heavy surtaxes on personal incomes, a corportation surtax, new and increased luxury taxes, increases in estate and gift taxes, and higher levies on liquor, beer, cigarets, and many other commodities.

The treasury witnesses estimated the program would produce the following additional revenues:

1. Income surtaxes, $1,521,000,000.
2. Estate and gift taxes, $847,000,000.
3. Corporation surtax of 6 per cent, plus upward changes in the excess profits taxes, $935,000,000.
4. Commodity excise and luxury taxes, $1,233,000,000, of which $86,000,000 would come from general excise taxes, $178,000,000 from liquor, and $188,000,000 from tobacco.

Some Decreased Yields Foreseen.

This estimated yield of approximately 4 billion dollars must be cut to approximately 3 billion 600 millions, Sullivan told the committee, because the imposition of some of the taxes will decrease the yield of others. The corporation tax increase will reduce the excess profits tax. Increases in corporation taxes and excess profits taxes will likewise decrease the yield of the individual income tax.

Current taxes should provide approximately two-thirds of federal expenditures during the "emergency" period, Sullivan asserted. The government proposes to spend about 19 billions in the next fiscal year. Present taxes will provide 9½ billions, leaving approximately 3½ billions to be raised by new taxes. The treasury will borrow the remaining 6 billions.

Morgenthau Calls It "Modest."

Secretary Morgenthau said he was presenting a "modest proposal." The new taxes represent only 4 per cent of a rapidly rising income, he remarked. The United States is big and rich and strong, he told the committee, and the American taxpayer stands ready to take the burden in his stride.

"I note," said Representative Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], "that the proposed estate taxes are greater than those of Great Britain. Why is that? We are presumably at peace and Britain is at war. Is this a share-the-wealth program or a bill to raise revenue? Is the administration trying to bring every one down to the WPA level?"

"A tax on dead men's wealth will least disturb the national economy," retorted Morgenthau, who is in the multimillionaire class.

Compares It to British Load.

"If you add these proposed federal taxes to the state and local taxes," said Knutson, "I think you will find that the American taxpayer is paying as much as the British taxpayer."

It is a safe conclusion, Morgenthau admitted, that the national income would rise to 90 billions in the coming fiscal year. Under present taxes the government would receive 11 billion 200 millions from such a revenue. If the national income rose to 100 billions, as seems possible with great government expenditures, the tax yield would be 13 billion 400 millions, about the amount desired by the government. The treasury secretary indicated that the administration could not wait for such a possibility.

"Economy" Is Recommended.

Morgenthau recommended "economy" in government expenditures outside the arms program. He admitted, however, that he knew of no attempt by executive departments to cut spending.

"It would be a folly," he said, "to assume that we can continue to spend now as we did in normal times. I want to make it perfectly clear, however, that the government must continue to provide for those in want, those who face old age without means of their own, or who are otherwise in urgent need of relief."

Pressed for concrete suggestions for possible economies, Morgenthau said the current agriculture department bill contains 500 millions for soil conservation funds. He also mentioned 300 millions for the CCC and 370 millions for NYA activities.

Relief Figures Brought Up.

"I can't think of better examples for economy than the CCC and the NYA," he told the committee. "They are taking boys over 21 just as tho we didn't have the army taking them."

Representative Knutson said he had seen figues indicating relief rolls had been increased by 100,000 in the last six months while millions of men were obtaining employment in arms industries. Morgenthau said it was his impression that relief rolls were steadily going down and that he would be surprised if Knutson's statement were correct.

The Republican minority of the committee, led by Representative Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], announced they would fight for milder income taxes as proposed by committee experts. The committee plan would raise income tax payments by 200 or 300 per cent in comparison to the treasury's 600 per cent increase program.

Increasing interest in the committee about a wage tax was exhibited. Knutson read a telegram suggesting a 5 per cent salary and fee tax to be taken from pay checks. Assistant Secretary Sullivan said, in opposition to the suggestion, that it would be practically impossible to collect the tax from farm labor, small business employers, self-employers.

FRED FISCHMAN REPORTED NAMED FOR ARVEY'S POST

County Commissioner Fred Fischman was reported named by the Democratic county committee last night as the party's candidate to succeed Jacob M. Arvey as alderman of the 24th ward in the coming special aldermanic election June 3. Fischman was made ward committeeman in February after Ald. Arvey announced that he was going into military service. Fischman, whose political career began 30 years ago, has occupied various public offices, including that of superintendent of city licenses. He is 48 years old and lives at 3239 Douglas boulevard.

Voters in the 37th ward will go to the polls June 3 to choose an alderman to fill the post left vacant last year when Ald. Roger J. Kiley was elected a Superior court judge.

John S. Rusch, chief clerk for the board of election commissioners, announced that Tuesday will be the last day for filing petitions for the elections in the two wards. He said objections to the petitions should be filed within five days after next Tuesday. The two elections are expected to cost $9,880.

RAID ALLEGED HANDBOOK.

Detectives John Hick and Alfred Lauderdale of the Maxwell street station late yesterday visited an alleged handbook in room 203 at 600 Blue Island avenue where they arrested 15 men. Frank Snyder, 32 was charged with being the keeper.

NEW YORK RALLIES AGAINST WAR.

The America First rally in New York on Wednesday evening filled two large halls and left an overflow crowd of 3,000 standing in the rain to hear the speeches as they came over the public address system.

The size of the audiences and the enthusiasm with which they greeted Col. Lindbergh and the other speakers served to dispel the notion that New Yorkers generally favor American participation in the fighting and approve the steps which are intended to get us into the war. Those who were present at the meetings came away greatly encouraged. As they looked about them, they realized, perhaps for the first time, that millions of patriotic Americans in New York want to keep this nation at peace.

Their viewpoint has had relatively little publicity in New York. The well organized minority, with its wealth and its control of many of the means of public expression, has succeeded in giving a wholly false impression of the state of public opinion.

The meetings the other night broke what might almost be called a boycott. Now, at last, New Yorkers realize that the belief that American foreign policy should be devised with a view to American interests and welfare is not a minority view but the judgment of the majority. From now on we may expect the patriots under the leadership of America First to be more and more vocal, more and more confident, more and more determined that the wishes of their majority be respected and followed.

This country does not need to send its navy to fight in European waters. It does not need to send its conscripts to fight and die on European battlefields. It does not have to send ill-equipped and half-trained men into battle against heavy odds. There are no American interests now at stake which require any such sacrifice. Our country can defend itself against any threat which may be directed against it, now or in the future. We have no reason for fear, provided we do not dissipate our strength in ill considered adventures. It is immensely encouraging to discover that this opinion is at last asserting itself in the largest of our cities.

More than any other community in America, New York is bound to Europe by a skein of racial ties, as well as by commercial and financial associations, and the social allegiances of many of its leading citizens. The great headway which the America First movement is making there is heartening. It indicates that the efforts of the interventionists to stampede New York will be overcome if the campaign is pursued with energy.

THE PEACE WITHIN.

The manifesto of the new war group known as the Fight for Freedom committee contains the following statement: "Once we accept the fact we are at war—even tho it be undeclared—we shall at least find a peace within ourselves which can never come as long as we seek safety at the cost of others' sacrifice."

Bishop Henry W. Hobson of Cincinnati is chairman of the organization. Eighty-three year old Carter Glass of Virginia has accepted an honorary chairmanship. The membership list as published contains the names of clergymen and college deans and presidents, some of them identified as to age by the word "emeritus." Mr. Warburg's name appears, and a lady editor has signed up for the peace within for herself and the war without for the young men.

Many of the members doubtless can find no inner peace in war except vicariously. They will not seek release from inner turmoil by stopping a bullet or a bomb fragment, although even for the most infirm of them some service might be found in bombed areas, in carrying consolation if not stretchers. Some there must be among the seekers of release who could make their quest where danger would be a bright spearhead pointed at them. They could join up where the fighting is and earn for themselves the inner peace they wish to receive from other persons.

Some of the searchers might be advised to devote themselves to self-restraint, contemplation, and communion with the equities of other people. If nothing but the sight of embarking divisions in which they have no sacrificial stake will bring them solace their spiritual unrest is an expensive commodity for the people who must relieve them.

The old men seek vicarious adventure, vicarious courage, and vicarious sacrifice. They have joined up for the club window front.

A PROPAGANDA FILM.

Senator Wheeler has been talking about propaganda films. We saw one the other night which deserves his attention.

Nominally this short movie was directed against gossip. The producer sought to persuade his audience that the spreading of whispered falsehood is a well organized business in this country, in which many hundreds, if not many thousands, of persons regularly make their living. He said the method is accepted as good commercial practice. He intimated that it is easy in any large city to find organizations which do a steady and thriving business in character assassination.

The producer then presented a noble citizen who had devoted his life to preparing a project for clearing the slums in his community, only to be defeated in the end by hired whisperers who spread the story that the noble citizen had seduced his secretary. Thereupon the voters lost faith in him and refused at a referendum to vote for the slum clearance scheme. The money for the campaign of slander came from a clique of tenement owners who didn't want their good thing spoiled. Having told this story, the movie went on to say that wars are made in just that way.

The movie, in addition to being silly, is vicious. There can be no free society where citizens have lost faith in each other. That is axiomatic. Trust in the decency, the common sense, the good intentions of the vast majority of the people is the foundation upon which democracy is built. This movie does what it can to destroy all that. The clear tendency of the movie is to promote mistrust among neighbors and class hatred in addition.

The movie is one which Messrs. Hitler and Stalin could applaud, for they rose to power precisely thru the propagation of such notions. If Hollywood thinks that this film can do anything to promote the system of liberty in America, Hollywood must be even more stupid than it is generally credited with being. And that's saying a lot.

MR. MORGENTHAU GOES TO TOWN.

A feeling of despondency must have settled over many households when details became available of Secretary Morgenthau's plan for new taxes totaling 3½ billion dollars which would raise the total income of the government to nearly 13 billion dollars. The previous announcement that taxes were going to be boosted, without saying whose, was probably regarded by the average person as a praiseworthy step to put the government finances on a sounder basis. O, of course, it was too bad for the other fellow who was going to be obliged to dip deeper for defense, but it was a step in the right direction.

When the administration's plan was given out and it was revealed that the new taxes were not going to be confined to somebody else but were going to hit you hard and make you change your standard of living, the incident fell into an entirely different category. The tax plan affected some who previously had got off scot free because their incomes were too small. At the other extreme, the largest incomes, the proposed tax increases were also relatively small. On the middle sized incomes Mr. Morgenthau went to town.

The levies on those in the lower brackets were not well received. Congressmen began to hear from home almost at once and the house committee members were quick to announce that they would see to it that the little fellows, of whom there are so many, would be more gently dealt with than the secretary of the treasury had proposed. That means that the middle sized incomes, on which the boosts in the 1940 tax law were concentrated, and which were dealt with severely in Morgenthau's plans, are to be burdened still more heavily in what congress finally enacts.

What the secretary of the treasury and the ways and means committee members proposed has become a necessity if a politically hazardous levy upon working people is to be avoided and a substantial yield is to be obtained. Several income tax laws ago the rate on the highest incomes passed the point of maximum returns so that both congress and the treasury realized that further advances in the rate would reduce revenues. The group now to be bled to the utmost consists of those with incomes from $5,000 to $20,000—the physicians, dentists, lawyers, engineers, university professors, bank officers, minor corporation executives, and owners of small successful businesses. Washington thinks they will not make much of a squawk.

They are going to be squeezed hard this time and still harder in succeeding years until all that is possible is wrung from them. Those with incomes from $5,000 down to $800 and less will in the meantime be prepared for later treatment by increased levies from time to time.

Mr. Morgenthau asserted that two-thirds of the expenditures must come from taxes. The Roosevelt administration spent 25 billion dollars more than its income, much of it for pump priming purposes. It felt no limitations on its spending power whatsoever when there was no national emergency such as we now face.

During the world war the treasury spent nearly 19 billion dollars in a single year and collected only 5½ billion dollars in revenue. The danger in the large deficit now arises from the undermining of the credit by the wasteful expenditures the administration has made in the past. We have repeatedly denounced deficit spending and warned that a huge debt might mean that in an unforeseen emergency drastic steps might have to be taken.

Mr. Morgenthau says he wants to head off an inflationary price rise. This is remarkable in view of the nature of the taxes proposed. If the increased incomes resulting from defense spending create a danger of inflation, then the danger should be avoided by taxing those who are benefiting in the form of larger incomes. Instead, those are to be heavily taxed whose incomes have not increased because of rearmament and probably will not increase at all. In other words, a Wilmette family will not be able to carry out its plan of sending the children to college because $16 a day pay for shipbuilding workers at Newport News creates a danger of inflation.

The administration sought to keep the terms of the tax bill secret in the hope that the measure could be rushed thru congress before the inarticulate groups could do anything to defend themselves. It remains to be seen whether professional men and little business men, now that they know what is in store for them, are as weak and inarticulate as the Roosevelt administration thinks they are.

BLATANT HAROLD.

[Los Angeles Times.]

In his Sunday night blast at various Americans who do not happen to agree with him, Secretary of the Interior Ickes far overstepped the bounds of decency. It is no great fault in a politician to love the sound of his own voice or even to indulge in slight exaggeration. But in attempting to read numerous Americans out of the pale of citizenship and to hurl at them such epithets as "Nazi fellow travelers" Secretary Ickes confirms the opinion that he is a fourth rate demagog.

It is not taking up the cudgels for the opinions of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, with whom the Times differs widely, to say that it is not true that he "prefers Fascism to democracy, that he is indifferent to liberty, agrees with Hitler that Christian civilization is decaying, and condones, if he does not actually applaud, the brutalities of which the Nazi ideology has already been guilty."

Ickes' aspersions on the patriotism of Gen. Robert E. Wood, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Henry Ford, Hanford MacNider, Ernest Weir, and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE are equally out of place. If Ickes—as a government official—is not rebuked from the White House for making that speech, it will be because the President forgets his duty.

A VOICE FROM BEYOND.

To our desk on Shakespeare's day came a book without publisher's announcement or covering letter, and when we had extracted it from its cardboard carapace [a cold chisel is often needed in such cases] we found that an old friend was speaking from the other side of the curtain. For this is a compilation from the newspaper writings of the late Percy Hammond, culled from the files of the Chicago Tribune and the New York Herald-Tribune.

"This Atom in the Audience" is the title—a phrase that once fell from Percy's cynical lips in reference to his professional tenancy of an aisle seat for 30 years. A somewhat Falstaffian atom, to be sure, but then, Percy was always be-littlin', himself as well as the players whose deeds he chronicled with amazing grace and ironic wit.

In glancing over the pages we were frequently halted by passages that we remembered almost as well as if they had been written day before yesterday instead of decades ago. Moreover, they did not have the flavor of age, like so much of the writing you can find in the files. Percy's purple patches were as fresh as if they had been painted the night before, over the can of coffee in which he brewed his curious style. Only superior journalism can pass such a test.

The compilation is the work of Percy's son, whom we knew as a stripling called Jack when he joined the Marines in 1917. The editing and the introduction suggest that Jack should have followed his father's profession instead of becoming a banker named John H.

"In attempting to salvage something of my father's humor," he writes, "I realize that it found most of its fun in a theater that has passed. Still, I hope the reader will agree that the satire has a broader range, that it derides sham, artifice, and pretentiousness which we have always with us. And I believe that it has an even wider significance in its healthy ridicule of public taste. Many of the play reviews are more than dramatic criticism. They are audience criticism."

The book is a welcome contribution to the annals of years that most Americans would like to recapture.

DESPAIR ON OLYMPUS.

Now from the austere heights Olympian,
The ancient pagan gods look down aghast.
Great Zeus beholds his thunderbolts surpassed
By lightning thrusts of vain and vengeful man;
Ares incredulously stoops to scan
His wanton cruelty of old outclassed
By mortals, and gives up the palm at last
For deeds of hate Mephistophelian.

And shall the sacred Mount of Olives, too,
By conquering ranks of heathen hordes be won?
Faith's last and holiest cherished rendezvous—
Shall it surrender now unto the Hun?
Where yesterday the Savior lived and died,
Tomorrow shall mankind be crucified?

Thoughts of a Mountainy Man.

Seems as tho I've got to get back to the Green river country. A-settin' here, penned up by four walls and a roof—to say nothin' of the cellar—I'm about to bust; got somethin' to get off my chest. Goes deeper'n my cracked ribs, tho—goes deep into whatever it is that makes a man whatever he is to other folks and beyond that into whatever he is to himself. Lyin' there by the campfire at Three Forks pass that evenin' at sundown, I felt kinship with them golden eagles the Shannon boys spied soarin' in big, lazy circles, way above the jagged comb of Clark mountain. Circlin' so irregardless of the thousand foot cliff carved off its face so long ago. I wouldn't have seen the eagles if the boys hadn't pointed. All I saw was the mountain rearin' straight up above us, so big and black and waitin'—sort of. Just like my troubles. Awful big and black and beyond climbin'. 'Til you get above 'em. Then they're different.

I know now what that feller meant when he was tryin' to tell me what a paradox is—I felt smaller and yet I felt bigger. Maybe bigger ain't the word. "Free" seems to fit better. That's it—free!

That if those noble tooters go,
I won't be there with you!

Glimpses of Life with Grandfather.

OUTWITTING A SENSITIVITY TO INSULIN.

Do diabetics ever become allergic to insulin? In a few instances, yes! The substance does not differ in character from certain other irritants. Its very nature may disturb some individuals, causing them to react unfavorably.

While sensitivity to this product in one who is free from hay fever need not be anticipated, nevertheless, the condition does exist. In a relatively large number, there will be stinging and smarting at the site of the hypodermic puncture, followed by swelling and redness. These symptoms may come on within 12 to 24 hours, disappearing within two or three days. The difficulty is not due to the needle nor to the skin cleanser [usually alcohol], but to the effect of the drug itself.

But some patients are annoyed more than others. I have in mind a friend who experiences considerable pain after every "shot." A puffy area, simulating hives, persists for a long period. With a few persons, general or systemic reactions may occur—including numbness, tingling, itching, or swelling of the face. In addition, there may be pallor, succeeded by flushing, a feeling of heat thruout the body, and a weak pulse. The same rebellion to the hormone may manifest itself in another group, with nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps, diarrhea, etc.

Fortunately, the purification of insulin has reached a high degree of perfection in the United States. It is far more common to read such reports in European literature—a great compliment to our own manufacturers.

We should recall that the preparation is made chiefly from the pancreatic glands [sweetbreads] of swine and cattle. Only occasionally will it be necessary to switch the sufferer from the pork to the beef variety, or vice versa. However, this procedure may prove curative should sensitivity appear. Diabetics who are also asthmatic face a puzzling situation. But trouble may be forestalled with smaller and more numerous doses.

One patient who came under my observation recently complained of colicky pains and nausea after each treatment. Later she exhibited intolerable itching. The thing that bothered her most was the fact that her lips felt stiff. Protamine was substituted without improvement. Fortunately, her difficulties were alleviated by reducing the amount of the medicine and prescribing more frequent meals. She is still allergic, but 5 to 10 units may be taken without complications.

We must not forget that the elderly particularly will be more likely to develop symptoms. It may be advisable, therefore, to resort to a strict diet long enough to establish tolerance. Presently, insulin can be employed, beginning with a minute portion.

For the most part, except in asthmatics, from the 20th to the 26th injection will mark the time when disagreeable responses will be noted. Dropping the dosage to a fraction of the original quantity and adjusting the menus accordingly will be more helpful than stopping the "hypos" entirely as—on resuming them—a far more violent episode may be encountered.

Fortunately, most patients can be rendered immune, even tho susceptibility is present. Beginning with tiny amounts, the quantity may be increased slowly until a normal proportion may be taken with immunity. Sometimes attacking the origin of the hay fever or asthma, as the case may be, will solve the problem. At any rate, if we are obliged to use the drug, we can be cautious should some signs of allergy fall to one's lot.

SUGAR PRODUCTS.

L. J. writes: Is molasses made from white or brown sugar?

REPLY.

Molasses is a by-product in the manufacture of cane sugar. It is the sirupy mass which remains after the crystals have formed. Two or three extractions are usually made in order to obtain as much sugar as possible. The brown, or coffee variety is prepared from what is left after the first yield of the granulated form.

SAFE.

L. P. writes: Is there any danger in occupying a house in which a patient with tuberculosis lived two years ago—after the quarters have been cleaned and aired?

REPLY.

None. I assume that the woodwork, walls, floors, and ceilings have been refinished.

THE REAL DEFEATISTS.

Little Rock, Ark., April 19.—One of the local prowar sheets terms Col. Lindbergh a "defeatist." The Lindbergh smearers call him pro-Nazi because he is pro-American rather than pro-British. His only crime is that he loves his own country rather than somebody else's.

Here are the real defeatists in our country:

1. The intellectual Lilliputians who say that another nation is fighting our war. It is not our war—it is the war of the two dominant European imperial systems. If it is our war, we are cowards for letting another nation fight it.

2. The sterling patriots whose scholarly argument runs, "Luxemburg thought she could remain neutral, but the Nazis invaded her anyway. America will be next!" That sort of drivel is an insult to the greatest nation on earth.

3. The politicians who say that we should permit ourselves to be seduced by Josef Stalin. If we align ourselves with the soviet, who will our other strange bedfellows be?

4. The crusaders by proxy who would rather fight brutalitarianism in Europe, Asia, and Africa than do something about communism, Nazilism, and other Ku Klux imitations within our own borders.

5. The escapists who admit inability to solve our own enigmas when they advocate our entry into another of Europe's eternal wars.

6. The adjective slingers who can always write about the ills of the old world, but get writer's cramp when conditions within their own horizon need correction.

7. The geniuses who tell us that invasion is imminent, but want to leave our nation defenseless by sending all our war materials abroad.

A people who believe in themselves, who boast of a heritage of freedom, who respect Old Glory, who are proud of their free institutions, and who despise anything that smacks of un-Americanism, will be able to resist any foreign aggressor who might be foolish enough to attempt an invasion of our beloved America.

SVEND PETERSEN.

ARGUMENT FOR WAR.

New York, April 19.—"Ruffled" in his letter of April 16 to you says: "Can it be that any one who is against war is a crank?"

The answer, of course, is "no." In fact, any one who is in favor of war is a crank. But what do you do when war cannot be avoided?

What do you do if a gangster attacks your mother?

Every wise head of a government does all he can to keep his country out of war. But if war is inevitable it is surely best to act quickly while one has strong allies rather than wait and have to fight alone. And it surely is better to fight in somebody else's country rather than your own. Do not the British prefer fighting in the Balkans rather than the streets of London?

STRATEGOS.

HAROLD WINS A RECRUIT FOR AMERICA FIRST.

La Grange, Ill., April 20.—After reading Harold Ickes international, communistic, smear speech in which he denounced such sterling Americans as Col. Lindbergh and Gen. Robert E. Wood, I came to the conclusion that the most patriotic stand to take was to join the America First committee.

BRITISH BORN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

ENGINEERING EDUCATION.

Detroit, Mich., April 18.—One of our students, who lives in Chicago and who believes as firmly as you do that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is the world's greatest newspaper, has given me a clipping of your editorial on engineering education in the issue for Saturday, April 12.

Nobody appreciates the deficiencies of engineering education as much as engineers themselves do. And nobody except engineers seems to appreciate the difficulties which stand in the way of a solution. Laymen who write and talk about engineering education always say, directly or by implication, "Why don't you engineers educate your young fellows just as the physicians, the lawyers, and the dentists do?" There is a great difference in organization and structure between these professions and engineering.

Unfortunately, the writer flounders badly when he talks about engineers repairing vacuum cleaners and the like. Engineers are not mechanics. You could yourself go to the Chicago airport and do as good a job, or nearly, in servicing motors of transport planes as could the chief engineer of either Pratt and Whitney or Wright where the motors are built. A superb job of servicing these motors is done by the mechanics. But they are not engineers altho they sometimes fondly call themselves so.

And the writer collapses, too, when he speaks of the specialization of engineers. There is so much in common between all branches of engineering that engineers switch readily from one field to another. According to the best information gathered by the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, 38 per cent of engineering graduates are engaged in fields of work which are different from those for which they directly prepared in college. An obvious instance just now is the thousands of engineers who are leaving other fields to go into the aircraft industry. I suppose that not more than a fraction of 1 per cent have been trained directly as aeronautical engineers. But, on the whole, they are doing an excellent job.

C. J. FREUND,
Dean, College of Engineering, University of Detroit.

THE GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION.

Chicago, April 22.—Peeved by overwhelming war antipathy, President Roosevelt complains that the people do not comprehend the gravity of the country's peril. O yes, Mr. President, they can't but comprehend the gravity of peril facing this country when a third term candidate for the Presidency solemnly, without if or but, promises to keep American boys out of foreign war and no sooner is elected on that score than he begins stepping up manipulations calculated to propel us right into it.

CHRISTIAN BOTKER.

CONFIDENCE GAME.

Kewanee, Ill., April 21.—Tuesday afternoon a businesslike man came into my store with a fine collecting plan. The storekeeper would furnish a list of debtors. He would get in touch with them and finance them so they could pay the entire bill. Then the debtors pay him small payments plus 1 per cent a month interest.

The storekeeper would pay $15 a year for membership and receive a written guarantee that the $15 would be refunded unless results could be shown. After he went I discovered that the book he left had no address of any kind. He signed his name Martin De Lacy, had a blue car with a black and white license plate, and traveled with a woman. If he only got one in each town he would be making a living. I am a widow and unfortunately can't stand a hard luck story so have over $2,500 out in bills, and, of course, the above plan sounded wonderful.

SLUSH RECORDS DISAPPEAR FROM MANTENO VAULT

Witness at State Inquiry Also Vanishes.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kankakee, Ill., April 24.—Records of 2 per cent slush fund collections from employés at the Manteno state hospital, seen in the institution's vault within the last six weeks, were missing this afternoon when their seizure was attempted by a legislative investigating committee.

The committee, inquiring into civil service abuses under past administrations, issued a subpena for the records after witnesses at today's hearing at the Kankakee state hospital told of the slush payments here and at Manteno. Fred Brackenbush, former office secretary at the hospital, testified he saw the records in the hospital vault a month or six weeks ago.

Clerk Brought In.

Sergeant at Arms Bard McMullin started at once on the 10 mile drive to Manteno. He reported by telephone after searching the vaults that the documents had vanished. When he returned he brought Lawrence Welch, an office clerk, who insisted he had seen no records "for a good long time."

The Manteno slush record was not all that disappeared during the day. Attachés of the Kankakee hospital, present in the hearing room, later reported to Senator Robert J. Branson [R., Centralia] that Mrs. Nelle Payne, an attendant at Manteno, had been present at the hearing but departed as the subpena was being issued.

Attempts to locate her failed and it was indicated that she will be summoned to a future hearing in Springfield.

Yesterday Miss Pauline Rithmiller, bookkeeper, testified that the slush records were destroyed by the Democratic state central committee after the November election.

Neither of the two minority members of the committee, Senator A. L. Marovitz [D., Chicago] nor Representative William Vickers [D., Pontiac], were present at today's session. Marovitz yesterday clashed verbally with Chairman Branson over the taking of testimony.

Civil Service Violations Told.

Before leaving the stand Brackenbush, who was removed from the state pay roll last month, told the committee of devious methods which he said were used by the previous administration to defeat the civil service law. Under questioning by Representative E. A. Green [R., Chicago] and Robert Hunter, president of the civil service commission, he asserted that only 10 or 12 of the 800 employés at Manteno were certified from the civil service lists in the last few years.

According to the testimony today the 2 per cent "contributions" to the Democratic campaign chest were collected every payday from nearly 1,500 employés at the Kankakee and Manteno hospitals in the business offices of the institutions by the regular clerical staffs.

Following testimony that the slush payments were made to Mrs. Dorothy Stack, secretary to Walter C. Peters, chief clerk, Senator Branson issued a subpena for the secretary.

Mrs. Stack was served with the summons a few moments later by Sergeant at Arms McMullin and went to the hearing room immediately.

Others Handled Cash.

"What did you do about campaign collections from employés at the hospital?" asked Attorney Jenkins.

"They handed me their donations and I kept them together," she replied.

Exchanges between the witness and Jenkins follow:

Q.—How much were they required to pay? A.—As long as it was a donation they weren't required to pay anything.

Q.—Please, the facts. We want the facts. Now, what was the understanding on the amount? A.—Two per cent.

Q.—What did you do to those who didn't pay? A.—It wasn't any of my business.

The witness, before leaving the stand, denied that any records of the 2 per cent collections at the hospital had been kept. The money was merely lumped together every month and mailed to Springfield to the offices of the Illinoisans, she insisted.

Nearly a score of other witnesses testified. The majority, including Pearl Conway, chief nurse, corroborated Miss Sexton's testimony on the slush collections and the fear of losing their jobs if they failed to contribute.

Spring's Advance

April 24, 1941.

MORE songbirds in the woods, a bigger showing of wild flowers, and a heavier tint of green on the trees and shrubs tell of spring's advance on the farm. The gay music that comes from the increased number of songbirds on the farm is this week one of the most delightful signs of spring's progress. From the thickets come the songs of the song sparrows, whitethroats, towhees, and other feathered singers which always add so much to the pleasure of a hike thru the country at this time of the year.

More Wild Flowers.

The wild flowers also have stepped up their displays. About ten days ago we found the first spring beauties of the season. It was a rainy day when we walked thru the woods, so these delicate flowers had closed their blossoms.

This week the spring beauties are much more numerous. Abundant moisture and warm days have caused these beautiful spring flowers to blossom out in large numbers. We always want the sun to shine when we walk thru the east woods of the farm to enjoy the annual spring show staged by the spring beauties, for this temperamental wild flower sulks if the sun does not appear. In fact, the spring beauty, a real sun worshiper, closes its blossoms as soon as the sun is hidden by clouds.

Another intriguing trait of this wild flower is that it faces the sun as it rises and gradually turns its flowers so as to still keep facing the source of light as it moves thru the sky.

Like all early wild flowers, the spring beauty is hardy and doesn't mind the frosty nights of April, but it wilts quickly when some "flower lover" picks it for a bouquet. So outdoor fans who hike thru Chicagoland at this time of the year to enjoy the wild flowers and check the migration of songbirds are advised not to pick the blossoms of the spring beauty [or other species] in the woods, for within a few minutes after the flowers have been pulled from their fragile stems they are nothing more than a handful of unattractive green vegetation.

More to Come.

Altho the spring beauties, eager to blossom before the trees develop their foliage, now dominate the wood lots, the yellow adder's tongue or "dog toothed violet" is ready to give the spring beauties considerable competition for the most colorful display in the east woods of the Wheaton farm. The number of these wild flowers has been increasing on the farm. Each closely packed bed of them is expanding. It's possible to find patches of them 20 and 30 feet in diameter.

A welcome dash of green among the dead leaves of the wood lots is now being furnished by the mandrakes. When the umbrella shaped leaves of the mandrake first show above the ground they look like a tiny umbrella rolled up and out of use. This week we saw thousands of these plants making a bid for the spring sunlight. They've pushed their shoots thru the heavy carpet of wet leaves, along with the purple trillium.

SUPER-PARKWAY GETS SETBACK IN REPORT TO GREEN

Committee Urges Holiday in Road Building.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 24 [Special]. —Promoters of a 40 million dollar Congress street super parkway, lobbied thru the Chicago city hall by realty interests, received a setback this afternoon in a report to Gov. Dwight Green by his advisory committee on taxation.

The report recommends a holiday in road building to accumulate funds for construction during a depression after the armament production is ended. In the meantime, it is proposed that a legislative commission formulate a long range, state-wide highway program, including plans for Chicago.

Match Federal Funds.

"Construction work," read the committee's report in reference to highways, "should be limited for the present to requirements for matching federal funds, for meeting defense needs, or for realizing immediate economies and preventing wasteful deterioration. Available funds not required for these special purposes should be held intact in special reserve accounts."

The Congress street promoters have been trying to high pressure Green into approval of immediate expenditures of Chicago and Cook county gas tax revenue for a superparkway. Motorists' tax money would buy for a wide right of way depressed realty for which there is no other market. The plans, drafted by city hall engineers, dead end the express pavements on the east at Canal street, inaccessible to much of the central business district, and on the west at the city limits, inaccessible to rural highways.

Refuses Hurried Decision.

Gov. Green has refused to be rushed into a decision on the city's request for his prerequisite o. k. If the governor follows the recommendation of his tax advisors, there will be no large tax outlay on any such project during the rearmament program.

Furthermore, for eventual construction, Congress street would have to win approval of a legislative commission, advised by state highway engineers, that would report to the 1943 general assembly.

The defense roads mentioned by the tax advisors are entrances and service roads for military and naval establishments and for some of the larger armament plants. The federal aid refers to a government allotment, about $4,500,000 for 1942, which requires 50-50 matching with state money for building on routes that have been designated as part of the federal aid system, including most of the state highway system.

AGED CRESTWOOD WOMAN BURNED.

Mrs. Mary Herman, 78 years old, of 136th street and Keeler avenue, Crestwood, was burned seriously yesterday when a chicken brooder she was tending overturned and caught fire in a building at her home.

Licenses Lost

First Quarter's Total 131 Over Last Year's.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 24.—Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes said he saw a trend toward a more stringent enforcement of the drivers' license law in statistics he released this afternoon covering the first quarter of 1941. Revocations totaled 318 as compared with 187 during the first three months of 1940.

Edward J. Hughes.

Cook county courts accounted for 91 of this year's tally. For the first quarter of last year the county's figure was 68.

As in 1940, drunken driving was the ground for revocation in almost all of this year's count, 313 of the 318 total. In the other five cases, motorists were deprived of their driving privileges after their third conviction for recklessness within a year.

Cover Varying Periods.

The revocations were for the following periods: 96 for 30 days, 61 for six months, 59 for 60 days, and 16 for indefinite periods.

No such increase was evident in the enforcement of the license suspension provision of the financial responsibility act. There were 470 such suspensions during the first quarter of 1941 as compared with 481 in the same period of 1940.

Of the 470, Cook county courts tallied 379, with the other 101 counties in the state reporting only 91 cases. Sixteen counties did not have a single suspension under the financial responsibility act during the first three months of this year.

The suspensions of the drivers' licenses and automobile licenses under the financial responsibility act are for failure to pay judgments in civil suits for damages from traffic accidents. The statute requires the court to report delinquents to the secretary of state after the payments are 30 days tardy.

Cook Courts Obey Statute.

Cook county courts obey the statute. Most downstate courts are not obeying the statute, records reveal, thus thwarting the intent of the law to remove from the highways drivers who don't pay damages resulting from their proven negligence.

After receiving such a report from the courts it is mandatory upon the secretary of state to suspend the licenses. For reinstatement of the licenses, the motorists must pay the judgment and post a bond, usually a liability insurance policy, to assure compensation for any second accident he might cause. Thus far this year, 99 drivers have obtained a reinstatement of their driving privileges.

A FATHER SUES FOR INFANT SON HE NEVER KNEW

Adoption Tangle Created by Reconciliation.

Kenneth Tangrady, 4 months and 10 days old, opened wide his blue eyes and gurgled happily yesterday in the Superior court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti, unaware of being the central figure in a strange adoption story.

The story begins in November when Kenneth's parents, Sergt. John W. Tangrady, attached to the army air force at Scott Field, and his wife, Frances, 21, separated. Mrs. Tangrady, who lives at 1630 Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn, later went to the West Suburban hospital where Kenneth was born on Dec. 14.

Uses an Assumed Name.

Mrs. Tangrady registered under an assumed name, "Mrs. Robins." She said that her husband, whose name she gave as Earl, was in South Dakota and did not want the baby. This news came to the attention of George F. Kocna, 3711 Wenonah avenue, Berwyn, and his wife.

The Kocnas saw Kenneth and fell in love with him. They obtained Mrs. Tangrady's permission and on Jan. 24 adopted Kenneth in the county court. This relationship probably would have gone on undisturbed had not the Tangradys become reconciled last month.

Then the army sergeant, who had been told previously that the baby died at birth, learned he was the father of the son. Mrs. Tangrady was tearful and contrite. Sergt. Tangrady started out to find his boy.

Refuse to Give Him Up.

When he eventually found the Kocnas, Sergt. Tangrady found that they were devoted to young Kenneth and would not relinquish him. The sergeant, thru his attorney, Joseph A. McInerney, filed suit to recover the baby thru habeas corpus action.

After hearing the testimony yesterday, Judge Allegretti said he would rule on the case on May 28 after he has had an opportunity to learn if he has jurisdiction. The judge remarked that Mrs. Tangrady's action in using an assumed name for herself and the baby's father might challenge the legality of the adoption proceedings, necessitating the return of the case to the county court.

Kenneth said, "Glub."

Mr. and Mrs. Kocna, holding the baby close between them, went home. Hands clasped tightly, Sergt. Tangrady and his wife quietly left the courtroom.

GIRL, 14, SHOOTS SELF OVER LOW SCHOOL GRADES

Betty Mae Arbaugh, 14 years old, freshman student at Schurz High school, staggered into the apartment of Mrs. Blanche Rebel, manager of a building at 3903 Tripp avenue, yesterday afternoon. "I've shot myself; my marks at school weren't what they should be," the girl mumbled, then collapsed. She was rushed to St. Anne's hospital, where it was found she was wounded in the chest.

In the apartment at the same address where Betty Mae lived with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harley Monroe, Lieut. Daniel O'Hara found a revolver and two notes. One read: "Forgive me. Don't tell grandma; tell her I'm in school. Tell Mom," and the other: "Forgive me. I'm all wrong. Cremate me."

At the school Lieut. O'Hara learned the girl's marks during the last term had been high, but recently some of them had dropped to "fair" ratings. Her parents have been separated for several years. Her mother is living with her own parents in Webster City, Ia. The whereabouts of the father is unknown.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stineway, Service, Fay and drug stores everywhere.

STATE MEETINGS TO PLAN SOLDIER WELFARE DRIVE

Five states in the central region of the United Service Organization for National Defense yesterday set dates for state conventions to plan the $10,765,000 nation-wide campaign to open June 3. More than 500 leaders from Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, and Indiana, and from five states in the north central region attended the meeting in the Stevens hotel.

Steering committees are arranging for the Michigan meeting in Lansing on May 1. Illinois leaders will meet in Springfield May 6, and other sessions will be held in St. Louis, Mo., May 7; Columbus, O., May 8, and Indianapolis, Ind., May 9. Victor A. Rule, central region director, said a separate meeting for Chicago and suburbs probably will be arranged at a 12:30 p. m. session today in the YMCA.

The quota for the central region has been set at approximately $2,600,000. The north central region will be asked to raise about $400,000. The funds will be devoted to recreational and welfare facilities for the American armed forces.

Little do they know the heartaches
That our smiles hide, all the while.
How often do we tread the path
That leads us to the grave
Where rests the one we loved so well,
But whom we could not save.
To have, to hold, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of our hearts.

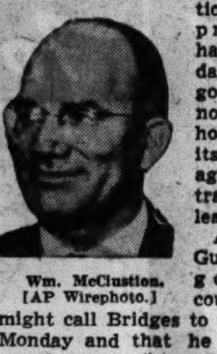
HOPE TO CLOSE CASE AGAINST BRIDGES TODAY

Prosecutors Present 16th Witness Against Alien.

San Francisco, Cal., April 24 [Special].—The Harry Bridges deportation hearing approached the halfway mark today when the government announced that it hoped to conclude its testimony against the Australian born CIO leader tomorrow.



Wm. McCiustion. [AP Wirephoto.]

Albert Del Guercio, chief government counsel, said he might call Bridges to the stand next Monday and that he would "vehemently oppose" any attempt by the labor leader's attorney to secure a delay before presenting the defense's case.

Time Limit Set.

Examiner Charles Brown Sears indicated every effort will be made to provide a speedy decision when he informed counsel they would be allowed only 30 days, after testimony has been concluded, to submit briefs. After that time the 70 year old New York jurist will make his recommendations to the justice department which ordered the hearing.

The government today called another former communist as its 16th witness in seeking to prove that Bridges was affiliated with the communist party. The witness, William McCiustion, testified that Bridges told him after McCiustion had been kicked out of the party: "I can get you back. We are sorry to have to expel a militant worker."

Another Ex-Red Testifies.

McCiustion took the stand following testimony by John Thompson, another former communist, who said that while he was elevator operator at communist national headquarters in New York City he saw Bridges go into a meeting of the communist central committee and that Bridges stayed there about four hours.

Thompson's session was not a happy one for him. He admitted he is out on parole after serving 17 months of a five year prison sentence for manslaughter in the knife death of his wife.

Asked About Stabbing.

Questioning Thompson regarding the manslaughter case, Aubrey Grossman, of defense counsel, asked: "Isn't it true you stabbed your wife in the back?"

Objections from government counsel brought a ruling from Examiner Sears that "the witness' conviction of manslaughter does not affect his credibility."

CITY WILL TAKE AIRPORT TRACKS ON WEDNESDAY

Marks End of Long Fight to Enlarge Field.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Chicago's seven year campaign to enlarge Chicago airport into one of the nation's finest air terminals will culminate next Wednesday when the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad will deed over to the city title to a strip of right of way that now bisects land available for airport uses. With this in its possession the city will remove the tracks now on the right of way and the field expansion will be completed.

This was announced yesterday by Joseph F. Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, who has been in charge of legal details of the airport expansion drive since 1937. He said he has received a letter from J. R. Barse, vice president of the C. & W. I., inviting city officials to receive the title to the right of way at the trust department of the American Bank and Trust company Wednesday afternoon.

Satisfied with New Tracks.

"This means the railroad is satisfied with the new tracks, switching system, and right of way that the city has bought and constructed for it," said Grossman. "The company is now ready to give us title to the old right of way and we will turn over to them title to the new tracks. As soon as the exchange of papers is completed we can get to work tearing out the old tracks and joining the two portions of the field now separated by them."

Grossman said that Barse's letter also acknowledged the deposit of $50,000 with the bank which has been escrow agent for all funds used in the exchange agreement. The bank heretofore has held funds totaling approximately $240,000 in connection with the work. The $50,000 represented a final deposit which will cover all the remaining phases of the work.

One of these is the removal of the rails and ties, switches, and the fill now on the old right of way. C. & W. I. engineers will supervise this inasmuch as considerable salvage is expected to be obtained from it. It is expected that work crews will begin this job next Thursday.

Use New Route Thursday.

In a statement issued at the C. & W. I. offices yesterday it was announced that the railroad would begin regular use of the new right of way at midnight Wednesday.

While the legal obstacles to removal of the tracks were being overcome the Works Project administration spent approximately $5,000,000 in grading the entire airport, constructing concrete runways, taxi strips, installing drainage facilities, boundary and obstruction lights, fencing it, landscaping it, and preparing the entire area for flight use. This was completed last year and the entire field now is ready for use as soon as the tracks and the fill on which they are now supported is removed.

Junction of the two halves will provide Chicago with a field approximately one mile square. There will be double runways extending toward eight points of the compass, permitting for the first time in the United States simultaneous landings and departures in periods of peak air traffic. The runways will average more than 4,500 feet in length and in directions of the prevailing winds will be from 6,700 to 7,200 feet in length—greatest of any municipal airport in the United States.

On W-G-N Program

Andy Andrews as he appeared on the same W-G-N program.

Spring songs, swing songs, and satire brightened the broadcast of In Chicago Tonight on W-G-N and the Mutual network last evening. The program was presented by Bonnie Baker, singer; John Hoysradt, impressionist; Andy Andrews, comedy singer, and the Mills Brothers, a five man vocal orchestra, supported by the W-G-N orchestra directed by Harold Stokes and the W-G-N chorus directed by Robert Trendler. Jess Kirkpatrick was narrator.

Hoysradt, who is appearing in the Camellia House of the Drake hotel, regaled studio guests and radio listeners with his impressions of Wagnerian opera stars.

BIGGEST MOVING DAY SINCE 1929 IS EXPECTED MAY 1

May 1 promises to be the biggest moving day since 1929. This was the consensus of a representative group of movers and authorities of the Chicago Real Estate board yesterday.

Four factors are combining to create a great migration thruout the city and suburbs, the movers said. They are: The draft program, increased incomes, the building of homes outside the city limits, and the lack of new apartment buildings.

The majority of movers questioned reported that, according to the contracts they have signed for April 28 to May 1, their business will be more than double that of last season. The storage business also has taken a new rise because of the drafting of men with employed wives.

HOSPITAL PATIENT KILLS HIMSELF.

John Stajduhor, 70 years old, 634 Evergreen avenue, killed hmiself with a razor yesterday in County hospital where he had been a patient since Feb. 22.

SCHENCK GIVEN 3 YEARS; MUST PAY HEAVY FINE

Aid Also Is Sentenced for Tax Evasion.

New York, April 24 [Special].—Joseph M. Schenck, multimillionaire movie producer, was sentenced in Federal court today to serve three years in prison and pay a fine of $20,000 on his conviction of income tax evasion.

His co-defendant, Joseph Moskowitz, eastern representative of Schenck interests, was sentenced to a year and a day and fined $10,000. He was found guilty of aiding the film magnate in evading his taxes in 1936.

Faces $253,692 Suit.

Federal Judge Grover M. Moscowitz, who imposed sentence, continued the defendants' bail pending setting of a date for their surrender and a possible appeal. The fines were to be paid at once.

Schenck also faces a possible civil action by the government to collect $253,692 in back taxes, plus interest. United States Attorney Mathias Correa said the government could collect an additional fraud penalty of 50 per cent.

Perjury Indictment Standing.

Still outstanding against the producer is a perjury indictment charging him with making false statements to a federal agent about a $100,000 transaction with Willie Bioff, stage and movie employés' representative, which allegedly involved calling off a film strike.

As board chairman of the 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, Schenck was one of the greatest powers in the motion picture world, a height to which he rose from a $4 a-week job in a wire factory.

REPORTS PURSE STOLEN; 'WE HAVE IT,' POLICE REPLY

Mrs. Anna Samp, 1852 Maud avenue, a waitress at the county hospital nurses' home, telephoned Marquette police last night to report that two boys a few minutes earlier had snatched her purse, containing $7, in front of 733 South Winchester avenue.

"Yes, we know about it," Sergt. Charles Miller replied. "In fact, we have your purse, the $7, and one of the boys here at the station."

Sergt. Miller explained that a passing motorist, David Anderson, 24 years old, of 3101 Washington boulevard, had heard Mrs. Samp scream and had chased the boys to 621 South Damen avenue, where he captured one beneath a porch. Anderson, a meat cutter, brought his captive to the police station unaided.

The boy identified himself as Patsy Morelli, 14 years old, of 913 South Winchester avenue, a student at Montefiore school for juvenile truants and delinquents. He admitted several other purse snatchings, Sergt. Miller said. Young Morelli was taken to the juvenile home while police sought his companion.

Mother and 5 Children Die When Fire Destroys Home

Mobile, Ala., April 24 (AP).—A mother and her five children were burned to death tonight in a farm tenant house near Irvington, 22 miles south of Mobile. The dead were Mrs. Eskar W. Gibson, Robert Eskar Gibson, 7 years old, Huey P. Long, 6, Frank O'Neal, 4, Mary Margaret, 3, and Marie Eloise, 7 months. Gibson was absent.

41 OF 61 UNIONS IN G. M. PLANTS APPROVE STRIKE

No Closed Shop, Says Corporation Head.

Detroit, Mich., April 24 (AP).—The United Automobile Workers-CIO announced tonight that local unions in 41 of the 61 General Motors' plants in which balloting is being conducted had voted overwhelmingly to authorize a strike call. Midnight was set as the deadline for the completion of strike votes in the remaining 20 plants affected.

Walter P. Reuther, director of the UAW-CIO organiation in the corporation's plants, made the announcement. He reiterated a previous pledge that armament workers would remain on their jobs should a strike be called.

Earlier, General Motors President C. E. Wilson told a press conference there was "danger of a strike at any time" affecting perhaps 160,000 employés, but declared flatly that the corporation would not "underwrite the union by giving it a closed shop," as the union demands.

Other developments on the nation's labor front were:

BALTIMORE, Md.—A CIO organizer headed picket lines at two main gates leading to yards of the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft company following a walkout over wage increase demands. The company said "the incident could hardly be regarded as a strike."

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Production at the Kansas City Structural Steel company was halted as 265 union iron workers refused to go thru a picket line of building tradesmen who were protesting the alleged use of nonunion painters and truck drivers at the plant. Both unions are members of the AFL.

SAGINAW, Mich.—Eight CIO members were indicted on charges of conspiracy to intimidate and molest employés of the Wilcox-Rich plant here as a result of fighting at the factory on Jan. 13. The plant is a division of the Eaton Manufacturing company.

EDGEWATER, N. J.—The 8 cent an hour wage increase offered by the Aluminum Company of America to employés of all of its plants was accepted by 1,000 members of local 16, Aluminum Workers of America, who are employed in the Edgewater plant. This plant, employing 3,000, was closed for two weeks last month by a strike in the CIO local, which sought a pay increase of 10 cents an hour.

NEW DRUG SPRAY FOUND AN AID IN SINUS INFECTION

A new drug for the treatment of chronic sinus infection, which is claimed to have brought relief to 40 out of 47 patients between the ages of 13 and 78, is reported upon by Dr. Frederick Myles Turnbull of Los Angeles, Cal., in the issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association to be published tomorrow.

The drug, a sodium salt of sulfathiazole, was used in a 5 per cent solution as a nose spray twice a day with consistent relief.

"Among the 47 patients with chronic sinusitis using the spray all but seven reported definite improvement and relief of symptoms," Dr. Turnbull writes. "On four of the seven I had no report. Of the three reporting no improvement two had hay fever and one was fighting an influenza infection and at the present time is showing symptomatic improvement."

BEAUTY GRACES INTERIOR OF THE WRINKLED PRUNE

Rich in Flavor, Vitamins, and Minerals.

Don't take the wrinkled prune at its face value. Dried and wrinkled tho it may be, it's a beauty, nutritionally and economically speaking.

Prunes contain vitamins A, B-1 [thiamin], and G [riboflavin]; the minerals iron and copper, and quick energy value in the form of simple sugars.

You get all this food value at bargain prices. There has been a superabundance of prunes for several years now. It takes eight years for a prune tree to produce in commercial quantities. No wonder prune growers' brows become as wrinkled as their product trying to predict a market [to say nothing of weather conditions] eight years in advance.

Next Week Is Prune Week.

Prunes have been one of the surplus commodities distributed to relief families for the last few years. This week prunes have been chosen the "food of the week" thruout Chicagoland. You'll find them featured thruout the stores of the city.

You can buy either large or small prunes—both have the same flavor and nutritional value. The large ones are much more expensive, of course, and are most attractive for eating out of hand or as stewed fruit. There are many more of the small prunes per pound, naturally, and just that many more stones to be removed. But even considering that there is a higher proportion of stone to pulp in small prunes, they are still much less expensive. Use the small prunes in puddings, pies, and other dishes where attractiveness is unimportant.

Guard the Moisture.

Many of the large prunes now have a small percentage of moisture added to them. You pay for this extra weight, of course, but you get prunes that are exceptionally good when eaten raw and which look plump when cooked. Their cooking time is shortened. Use these prunes up quickly after the package is opened, for the extra moisture will evaporate from them if left in the air for long.

It isn't necessary to soak prunes nowadays. Just wash them, cover with water, bring to a boil, and cook for 45 minutes to an hour or until tender. A little sugar may be added during the last 5 minutes of cooking, if desired.

The following recipe is as simple and delightful a dessert as you'll run across anywhere:

PRUNES IN RED WINE.
[Serves Six to Eight.]

Soak a pound of extra large prunes in red wine [claret or burgundy] to cover over night. Add ½ cup sugar, a small bit of bay leaf, a 2 inch stick of cinnamon, and the thin peeling [yellow only] of half a lemon. Cook until tender and remove prunes from liquid. Boil wine until somewhat sirupy and pour over prunes. Serve very cold, with or without cream. Allow 4 to 6 prunes per serving, depending on size.

While less winey in flavor, something of the same effect can be achieved by adding 2 tablespoons of port or sherry to each serving of prunes cooked in water. Chill thoroly before serving.

Another easy way to use prunes effectively is to stuff the cooked prunes and serve them well chilled as appetizers or in salads. A few suitable stuffings are:

STUFFINGS FOR PRUNES.

1. Chopped nuts and celery moistened with mayonnaise.
2. Finely shredded raw carrots with a bit of mayonnaise and a drop of tabasco.
3. Wedges of salted crisp cucumber.
4. Stuffed green olives.
5. Chopped dried beef.
6. Apple wedges dipped in mayonnaise and then into crumbled roquefort cheese.
7. Cream cheese and chives or cream cheese and pickle relish.
8. Pineapple cream cheese spread.
9. Grapefruit sections rolled in finely chopped nutmeats.
10. Cottage cheese flavored with onion juice.

All these should be very chilly when served, of course. But if you like a hot appetizer or meat accompaniment try forcing American cheese thru a sieve and adding a little chopped green chili pepper. Stuff this into the prunes, wrap them in bacon, and broil them. Or stuff the prunes with drained crushed pineapple and sauté in a little butter.

Beet Slaw—It's Pretty, Tasty—and Economical

Nobody ever has enough recipes for simple, inexpensive salads to serve the family. This one has plenty of flavor and economy to recommend it. It's pretty, too.

BEET SLAW.

2 cups chopped cabbage
1 cup shredded cooked beets
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles
¼ teaspoon onion salt
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
⅓ cup salad dressing

BAKED TOPPING ON THIS CARAMEL MERINGUE CAKE

This cake has its own baked topping. The topping, a caramel meringuelike affair is put on after the cake is baked and cooled. The cake takes a caramel filling, too.

CARAMEL MERINGUE CAKE.

½ cup fat
1 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅔ cups milk
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream fat and sugar. Add eggs, flavoring, and seasonings and beat into creamed mixture. Add sifted flour and baking powder alternately with milk and beat until smooth. Then beat one or two minutes longer. Turn into two greased waxed paper lined layer pans and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for about 25 minutes. Cook and put filling between layers. The top with meringue.

FILLING.

⅔ cup dark brown sugar
⅓ cup flour
2 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1¼ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix sugar and flour, add egg yolks, salt, butter, and milk. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until thickened. Add vanilla and cool.

MERINGUE TOPPING.

2 egg whites
½ cup dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon salt

Add sugar slowly to stiffly beaten whites and beat well. Add remaining ingredients. Frost top and sides of cake. Bake 10 minutes in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven. Cool and serve.

BREAD PUDDINGS LEAVE CLASS OF LEFTOVER FOOD

Bread puddings no longer belong to the leftover class, for they can be as tempting a company dessert as you please. Try these two recipes on the family, if there's any doubt about their appeal.

CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT BREAD PUDDING.
[Serves 6.]

1 quart milk
2 tablespoons butter
3 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon peppermint extract
6 slices bread, cut into cubes

Scald milk with butter and chocolate. Beat well. When blended pour onto mixture of sugar, salt, beaten eggs, and flavorings. Place cubes of bread in a buttered baking dish and pour over milk and egg mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until set — 45 to 50 minutes. Serve with cream if desired.

RHUBARB PEANUT BETTY.
[Serves 4.]

4 slices bread
4 tablespoons butter
1½ cups crushed peanut brittle
2 cups drained, stewed rhubarb
¼ cup rhubarb juice

Cut slices of bread into tiny cubes; toast lightly in butter in a frying pan; combine with peanut brittle. Arrange in alternate layers with rhubarb in a buttered baking dish. Pour over rhubarb juice. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, about 35 minutes. Uncover during the last 15 minutes. Serve warm with hard sauce flavored with mace.

KIDNEY LOAF MAKES TASTY DISH; HERE'S HOW TO PREPARE IT

Your family may be used to the idea of liver loaf, so why not kidney loaf. This has a wonderful flavor, no foolin', and will be well received.

KIDNEY LOAF.
[Serves 6.]

1 pound beef kidney
1 cup milk
8 slices bread, cut in cubes
¼ cup bacon drippings
2 eggs
1 No. 1 can pimientos
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons grated onion
⅛ teaspoon sage
3 slices bacon

Wash kidneys in cold water; drain well and grind, including internal fat. Pour milk over bread and soak. Combine all ingredients except sliced bacon and mix thoroly. Line bottom of pan with slices of uncooked bacon. Add kidney mixture and pack firmly. Bake in moderate oven [350 degrees] 1½ to 2 hours.

Grease Only Dish Bottom to Hold Souffle in Place

To prevent a soufflé mixture from shrinking from the sides of a casserole or baking dish, grease only the bottom of the dish. The mixture clinging to the ungreased sides will then be held in place.

HOW THE ARMY FILLS STOMACH IT TRAVELS ON

If the United States army "travels on its stomach" it will travel well, it was revealed yesterday. The army published a list of field rations to which soldiers must confine themselves during summer maneuvers starting May 1.

Breakfasts will be limited to chipped beef, ham omelettes, bacon omelettes, ham or bacon with eggs, wheat cakes, buckwheat cakes, French toast, creamed beef, or oatmeal fritters with plenty of coffee.

For dinner—served in the middle of the day in the army—soldiers must get along on roast beef, spareribs, boiled beef, grilled or breaded pork chops [two per man], roast leg of lamb, beefsteak, baked ham, corned beef, pot roast, roast pork, frankfurters, or beef loaf with mashed potatoes, one vegetable, a salad, dessert, and coffee or tea.

Suppers will find troops eating spaghetti with meat sauce, pork and beans, corned beef hash, cold cuts, chop suey, stews, pot pies, either spareribs or frankfurters with sauerkraut, and plenty of bread and butter, doughnuts, and milk. As to meat portions, the army considers 60 pounds enough for 100 men.

Water Cakes Are Tasty with Fresh Fruit Sauce

These little not-too-sweet wafers go well with the tart fresh fruit sauces that are a popular spring dessert. Water cakes are an old southern cookie. They keep well.

WATER CAKES.

2½ cups flour
⅓ cup sugar
⅓ cup butter
6 tablespoons milk, heated to boiling
½ tablespoon caraway seed

Sift flour and sugar together and cut in shortening until mixture is mealy. Add caraway seed and milk. Roll paper thin and cut into circles 3 or 4 inches in diameter. Prick full of holes with a fork. Bake on greased cookie sheet in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until lightly browned.

THE TIME IS RIPE TO EAT GREENS IN ANY SEASONING

Cold, Hot, or Cooled Off, They're Good.

Have you ever considered the many serving possibilities of greens? Serve them raw in salads, hot as vegetables, or cooked and cold as a relish.

Greens have been bargain starred for many weeks and few vegetables can beat them for high vitamin content. It only takes one ounce of raw dandelion greens to furnish an adult with a full day's supply of vitamin A. Parsley has about the same potency.

Not Hard to Prepare.

Greens are not at all hard to prepare. Wash them well by dousing in two or three waters. Then cook them in a very small amount of water [have it boiling rapidly] until tender. For tender greens such as spinach, which cooks in a very short time, only the water clinging to the leaves after washing is needed and the kettle is covered during cooking. Keeping a cover on and using little water preserves vitamins, but less tender greens which take a longer cooking time keep their color better if cooked uncovered. Always cook greens rapidly and just until barely tender.

Proper seasoning is most important in the serving of greens. If they are to become popular in your family you'll need to serve them in tasty style.

Seasoning Suggestions.

Here are a few seasoning suggestions:

COOKED HOT GREENS—Season with salt and pepper and butter or bacon fat. For variety and to give flavor to bland greens add one of the following: Onion juice or minced onion, bits of crisp bacon, grated cheese, cheese sauce, grated horseradish, hard cooked egg topping [sliced or rubbed thru a sieve], buttered bread crumbs, chopped pickle, sour cream, minced green pepper or parsely, lemon juice or vinegar, tomato sauce.

COLD COOKED GREENS—Toss in a well seasoned French dressing or other salad dressing, or in a bacon and vinegar dressing. If you like, add chili sauce, chopped onion, chopped pickles, or olives.

RAW GREEN SALAD—A simple dressing of salad oil [preferably olive] and a herb or wine vinegar is best. Any other French dressing may be used. Garlic juice or salt, chopped chives or green onions, olives, sliced radishes, sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, shrimp, hard cooked eggs, green pepper, shredded carrots, and other vegetables may be added for extra flavor and variety.

MEAT

and our Men in Uniform

The defenders of America—the best-fed of all the armed forces in the world.

Experts in charge of feeding the Army, Navy and Marine Corps specify meals which include more than 300 pounds of meat per man per year—nearly a pound a day.

Any housewife can take a tip from these experts who recognize —that meat contains essential B vitamins including vitamin B_1 (thiamine), and how important these vitamins are for health and well-being.

—that meat is an excellent source of complete, high quality proteins necessary for body building and repair, as well as the important and constantly needed minerals: iron, copper and phosphorus.

—that meat is 96 to 98% digestible—all meat—beef, pork, lamb, veal, ham, bacon and other smoked meats.

Whether you're "shouldering a musket" or putting your shoulder to the wheel in industrial or business life; whether you're going to school or "bossing" a home, you need the nutritional essentials which meat provides. Your food must supply them or replenish them daily.

There is a new thrift knowledge in meat, too. Let your meat-man tell you about the nutritious cuts which fit every food budget.

AMERICAN DAIRY ASSOCIATION

A FAMILY TREAT: IT'S STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE TIME

Fried Chicken, Too, Is Possible Now.

BY MARY MEADE.

Strawberry shortcake, rosy red with dripping juices, and tender green asparagus shoots are a likelihood on your Sunday dinner table.

Don't be surprised to find chicken on the menu, either, since poultry is specially priced in some of the stores. And if it's not poultry it may be a tender roast or steak of beef. Beef is a good meat buy this week.

Strawberry prices which have held up all spring are finally dropping to levels within the reach of a budget purse. The berries are still not cheap, but at 15 cents a pint or two pints for a quarter, they're not too high for occasional serving.

Asparagus too, is getting down to a reasonable price. The quality is better than it was last week.

It's Rhubarb Time, Too.

You'll be using lots of rhubarb, in desserts, as sauce for breakfast, and even in a batch or two of preserves, if you've any respect for a rather low price.

Make use of citrus fruits as much as possible while they're still plentiful and low-priced. Supplies of grapefruit are getting lighter already, altho the price is still low. California navel oranges are costing your grocer a trifle more this week, but not enough to make much difference in his price to you. Other oranges are as inexpensive as ever.

You'll be glad to know that prices are lower on at least two apple varieties, winesaps and delicious. All apples took a price climb a couple of weeks ago.

Fruits from South America.

At the moment those luscious peaches, plums, melons, and other fruits hailing from South America are off the market. Limited shipping facilities are the answer. New shipments are expected any day, now, so the shortage probably won't last long.

Pineapple is slightly higher now, but this fruit should be available in larger quantities and at lower prices shortly.

Over at the vegetable section the good and bad news is handed out in about equal portions. You'll find lower prices on green peas [the quality is only fair] and on good quality white celery. It should also be good news to you that greens, all kinds of 'em, are still cheap, bunch beets and carrots are reasonable [watch the carrots for quality], that spinach is low in price, radishes are reasonable and mostly field grown, that new onions are beginning to appear and that new crops of green beans and peas are expected within the next week.

More Sources of Vegetables.

Best news of all is that more and more states are beginning to ship vegetables northward. As the states come closer home, produce can be expected to be less expensive and in some cases in better condition. This also means the gradual approach of the home grown season. Some of the asparagus and some of the greens now available were grown in southern Illinois.

Not such good news is the high price of tomatoes, and the price is not likely to topple before the middle of May. Tomatoes are still coming all the way from Mexico or from hot houses, and new domestic crops of field grown tomatoes won't be ready for weeks.

Lettuce also is sharply higher this week and the quality is no better, either. There's a wide price range entirely dependent on the quality you buy.

Peppers and Beans High.

Green peppers and green beans are still high, tho the lower bean prices are expected soon. Cabbage is still very reasonable and the quality is good, tho the price is up a little this week.

Now that the biggest fish eating season of the year has passed fish prices have settled down to some comfortably low prices. Very cheap are all the fresh water fish, including lake herring, lake trout, smelts, whitefish, yellow perch, and yellow pike. Rough fish [also fresh water] are carrying price tags way down in the cellar. These include buffalo, carp, and similar bony, large scaled varieties.

Salt water fish are moderately priced and shellfish with the exception of cold storage shrimp are high.

Beef Is Best Meat Buy.

Beef is the No. 1 meat buy of the week. It seems to be the most widely featured and in some cases is very temptingly priced. There are lots of good veal buys in some stores. Veal, as you might expect, runs a little cheaper in price than beef cuts of the same quality in most cases. Lamb and pork are specialed in scattered sales.

Poultry prices aren't to be overlooked this week. Frying chickens are a penny or two cheaper in some stores and one chain is featuring ducks at under 20 cents a pound.

COMBINE ORANGE AND RHUBARB IN SPRING PRESERVE

RHUBARB AND ORANGE PRESERVE.

3 cups sugar
1 quart rhubarb
½ teaspoon blade mace
12 cloves
1 inch stick cinnamon
3 medium oranges

Wash rhubarb and cut into small pieces. Place in baking dish and sprinkle with sugar and spices. Wash and dry oranges and pare off very thin pieces of rind [the orange part only] about the size of a dime and scatter these over the rhubarb. Then cut oranges in half, remove pulp, and free from seeds and inner skin. Add pulp and all the juice to rhubarb. Cover closely, put in hot [400 degrees] oven until rhubarb is clear. Turn into clean, hot jars and seal.

Six Slices of New Bread 1-3 Day's Vitamin Needs

If you eat two slices of enriched bread at each meal you will supply about one-third of the day's need of vitamin B-1, nicotinic acid and iron. Some of the vitamin B-1 [thiamin] will be lost if the bread is toasted too long. Whole wheat bread also loses some thiamin if toasted too brown.

Hard Case

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

INSTALMENT XI.

ESCAPE.

Dave didn't answer Usher's taunt. He only coughed. Sholto got a cup of water, broke thru the five men blocking the door, and came up to Dave, holding out the cup. Dave's left hand was already extended to receive the cup; his other hand at his mouth smothering the cough.

Just as he was about to take the cup, he reached out, yanked Sholto to him, and at the same time whirled him. Usher's gun came up, and then it was too late.

Dave had pulled Sholto half around, and now had his arms around him and pulled against his body so that Sholto shielded him.

Dave jeered, "Don't shoot your $50,000, Will."

Usher hesitated, and so did the other men. To kill Dave they would have to shoot Sholto too.

And in that second Dave acted. He put his back to the side wall and started moving along it toward the door, Sholto in front of him. He had traveled perhaps eight feet when Usher came to his senses. "Rush him, boys, he hasn't got a gun!" And he followed his own advice.

Dave pushed out from the wall with one leg and hurled Sholto toward the advancing men. And in the same movement he kicked the table, which tipped over the bottle with the candle and extinguished it. He let go of Sholto, hearing him collide with Usher, and threw himself at the feet of the others. He mowed one man down in the darkness, and the man shot. He rolled on, came to his feet, and dived for the door, tripping over the sill. But he lit in the grass this time, rolled, came to his feet, and ran in the darkness toward the meadow where he had left his horse.

There was a tumult in the cabin, and every one was afraid to shoot. He heard Usher cursing wildly, and then a voice bawled, "There he goes! Thru the meadow!" There was a scattering of shots around him and Dave dropped into the high grass and crawled away thru it from the spot where he fell. But it was slow and exhausting work.

They had him now. He could hear Usher's voice yelling, "Surround him!"

In the darkness a man's figure standing in the yellow grass made a blob of black against a lighter background. He'd forgotten that. If he stood up he'd be a target for the six of them.

He lay there, breathing softly, wondering what he could do. If they started to move in on him he might overpower one man and get a gun.

But Usher had seen that, too, and now he was yelling, "Don't move in on him! Stay where you are!"

Dave poked his forehead above the grass. He could see them now. They were in a circle around him, a circle perhaps 40 yards in diameter.

Suddenly a match flared in the direction from which Will Usher's voice came. The light died and then flared up again, and it was bigger this time. The flame grew, and suddenly Dave understood. Will was going to burn him out, set the grass on fire. There was just enough of a ground breeze riding off the peaks to fan the dry grass into flames, and Dave knew that once it was started it would blaze with the heat of a blacksmith's forge.

"Shoot anything that moves!" Usher shouted, and then he started out in the wake of the flames. They laid in a long line now that was spreading. It didn't matter to Usher if he set a forest on fire, just so he caught Dave.

For one panicked moment Dave wondered what to do. Again he looked up, and now he counted the men. There was seven of them spaced at regular intervals around him, the light from the fire picking them out. He sank gently down again cursing—and then something struck him.

Usher had six men, counting himself. He had counted seven. That meant that Sholto was guarding, too! Dave forced himself to think back to what had happened in the shack. Sholto hadn't struggled when he'd been forced to make a shield for Dave. And it seemed to Dave that he had willingly smashed into Usher, upsetting his aim.

It was worth a try. And it was his only chance.

Again he had raised up, studying these men's figures. They had the light in their eyes now, and couldn't see him so well. He saw Sholto, off to one side, toward the middle of the meadow.

Dave ducked down and set off in the heavy grass on his hands and knees toward Sholto. A panicked family of field mice ran over his hands, oblivious to anything but the fire that was chasing them. Dave could hear it crackle behind him, and knew that it was burning on a wide front and was fanned by the wind.

He paused and looked up again presently, and he saw Sholto 20 feet ahead of him, knee deep in the grass. The light touched up the man's face, and again Dave was reassured. This wasn't a killer's face.

He crawled on, and now he could see Sholto watching the grass that he was disturbing. And then he looked away, and Dave's heart leaped. He headed straight for him, and still Sholto was looking out toward the fire. Dave passed within inches of him, and still Sholto didn't look at him.

"No," Sholto whispered.

Dave vanished then. Usher, following the fire, was shouting instructions for them to watch closely. And Dave, traveling as fast as he could, headed for the nearest peninsula of timber that sloped down into the meadow.

In another two minutes he had achieved it, and he put the point of land between him and the fire, then disappeared into the timber.

Panting, he looked back at the scene. The circle of men still held, altho the grass fire had eaten more than halfway thru it. Those six men stood there with their guns drawn, waiting to collect their bounty on him. A sheepishness welled up in Dave as he looked at it. He'd been a sucker, just like Will had said.

He'd forgotten that Will traveled with a wild bunch, headed it, and that his was the sort of gall that needed men to back it. Well, he'd have to kill Will Usher now. He was a nuisance, a dangerous nuisance, but that could wait. In a few minutes these men would think of their horses, and Dave wanted to be away by that time.

He pondered a moment and decided that Will would have tied the horses to the windward of the shack, lest Dave's mounts, when they approached, catch the scent of other horses and give away their presence.

Therefore, he plunged into the timber, came presently to a ridge, crossed it, dropped down into a gully and walked up it, and found the horses in the dark. They were tied out in a thicket of scrub juniper, which they would tramp. The scent of evergreens would kill any other scent coming to them, and keep them from whinnying.

Swiftly then, Dave searched the saddles, and on one he found a carbine in the rifle scabbard. This was the horse he took, not even bothering to shorten the stirrups until he was clear.

Once he was away from the shack he dismounted, adjusted the stirrups, and considered his situation. Will had Sholto. He would collect ransom on him, just as they had planned together.

For one moment Dave pondered going back and taking Sholto, now that he had the gun. And then another thought occurred to him. Why not let Will Usher have all the grief of lugging Sholto around with him and sending a man for the ransom money? It would be easier to steal the money from Usher than steal Sholto from him.

And that meant that he'd have to hunt up Wallace and watch him. And Wallace had probably been out with the posse, which would return to Yellow Jacket.

He set off in the night then thru the timber, headed for Yellow Jacket. Will Usher would keep. He was going to have a lot of fun with Usher before he killed him, and he wanted to figure out just what shape that fun would take.

Approximately 24 hours after the kidnaping of Sholto the posse, headed by Sheriff Beal, came home to Yellow Jacket empty handed. Wallace, who had driven himself and his men until they were ready to drop, dismounted wearily at the tie rail in front of the sheriff's office, alongside Ernie See and Beal. The posse members who had borrowed guns from the sheriff's gun rack returned them and scattered to their homes.

BOOKLET MAKES IT EASY TO WHIP UP AN EGG CAKE

Directions for Frosting Also Included.

Eggs are not cheap now, so you probably will be making fewer angel food cakes, sunshine cakes, and other egg dishes this year.

That only makes it all the more important that the ones you do make be perfection themselves. Egg cakes have gained a reputation for themselves for being hard to bake. Perhaps they aren't easy, but there's no reason to be afraid of them. And you won't be if you follow the directions in Mary Meade's cake booklet. Even an experienced cake baker will get helpful suggestions from the many instructions, recipes, and tables in the booklet.

See the Directions Given.

"Baking the Perfect Cake" deals with both egg and butter cakes, their fillings and frostings and directions for mixing them with an electric mixer as well as by hand. COOKERY TERMS ARE DEFINED FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

How a Roast Differs from Pot Roast.

If you insist on adding water to your tender roast of beef ribs and covering the pan in which you cook it, go ahead, but don't call it a roast. Strictly speaking, you've turned it into a pot roast. [Kind of expensive isn't it, paying beef rib prices for a pot roast?]

There is much confusion in the meaning of meat cookery terms. Roasting is not the same thing as pot-roasting, pan-broiling is not frying, even tho the variation is slight. For while the difference in cooking may not seem much—merely the addition of a cover the cooking vessel, or the addition of fat to the skillet will make a vast difference in results.

Perhaps it would be of help to define the terms of meat cookery. Then if you want to argue the superiority of your methods over your neighbors you have something to go on. Every debate begins with a definition of terms, you know. These definitions were worked out by the subcommittee on cooking of the National Cooperative Meat Investigation Project:

DEFINITION OF TERMS.

To Bake—To cook by indirect dry heat, usually in an oven, or in hot ashes, upon heated metal, or stones, etc.; to roast, especially when said of meat, as to roast beef.

To Barbecue—To roast slowly [an animal] whole or in pieces on a gridiron, spit, or over coals in a specially prepared trench. The meat is usually basted with a highly seasoned sauce. [In practical home cookery, meat braised or reheated in a barbecue sauce is called barbecued.]

To Baste—To moisten meat while cooking to prevent drying and to add flavor. The liquid used is usually pan drippings, water, or water and fat.

To Boil—To subject to the heat of boiling liquid, especially water. See simmer. Note: Meat should be simmered, not actually boiled.

To Braise—To brown [meat] in a hot receptacle in a small amount of fat, then to cook slowly in juices from the meat or in added liquid in a covered utensil. The added liquid may be water, milk, cream, meat stock, dilute vinegar, or vegetable juices.

Brochette—A small skewer. Meat "en brochette" is meat threaded onto a skewer, either alone or alternating with pieces of onion, tomato, etc., and broiled or otherwise cooked.

To Broil—To cook by radiant [direct] heat from hot coals, a gas flame, electric element; to grill.

Fricassee—A dish made of fowl, veal, or other meat, cut in pieces and stewed in gravy. Braising is the method used in making a fricassee.

To Frizzle—To cook thinly sliced meat, such as dried beef or cooked ham, in a little fat so that it is crisp and brown, with curled edges.

To Fry—To cook in fat, especially [1] to cook in a small amount of fat; also called saute; [2] to cook in a deep layer of fat; also called deep fat frying.

To Panbroil—To cook in a hot, uncovered frying pan, pouring off fat as it accumulates in the pan.

To Parboil—To simmer for a short time preliminary to cooking by another method.

Potroast—A piece of meat cooked by braising.

To Roast—To cook by dry heat before a fire or over hot stones or metals; now especially when said of meats, to cook in an oven.

To Sear—To brown the surface of meat by the short application of intense heat. Meat is seared for the purpose of developing flavor and improving appearance.

To Simmer—To cook in any quantity of water below the boiling point; the cooking temperature is approximately 185 degrees F.

To Steam: To cook in steam with or without pressure.

Good for Sunday Night Snack

Just right for a Sunday night snack are these dried beef and deviled cheeseburgers. Top generously buttered split buns with dried beef and cover with ⅓ cup finely chopped celery and ⅓ cup pickle relish mixed together. Then sprinkle with shredded cheese (use about 2 cups). This is enough for 6 buns.

Enriched Bread Differs from Vitamin B-1 Bread

Vitamin B-1 bread and enriched bread are not the same thing. Enriched bread contains in addition to vitamin B-1 iron and nicotinic acid.

TOP O' THE STOVE SOUFFLE HANDY IF OVEN'S FULL

An easy recipe for soufflé is one that can be made on top of the stove, and it comes in handy when the oven space is needed for other foods. Serve the soufflé with a garnish of parsley for breakfast, or accompany it with a well seasoned mushroom sauce for a tasty luncheon dish.

TOP STOVE SOUFFLE.

[Serves six.]

1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 eggs, beaten

Heat milk and butter in upper part of double boiler. Add seasoning to eggs and beat until very light. Add the hot milk and combine thoroly. Pour into upper part of double boiler and cook over gently simmering water for 30 minutes. Scoop out a large spoonful for each serving.

HERE'S FROSTING THAT'S DELICIOUS AS ANY FUDGE!

A topping and filling of creamy, smooth chocolate frosting will make your favorite cake more tempting than usual, and this one's guaranteed to be delicious as fudge.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING AND FILLING.

4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1⅓ cups sugar
⅓ cup milk
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add chocolate and sugar to milk, place over low flame, and cook until mixture is smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and stir a small amount into egg yolks; then add gradually to remaining chocolate mixture, stirring until blended. Add butter and vanilla. When cool, beat until thick and creamy. Makes enough frosting and filling to spread between and on top of two split 8 inch layers, or tops and sides of two 9 inch layers.

Want to make a perfect Dear of your husband?

Better change to McLaughlin's MANOR HOUSE COFFEE

Maybe you've tried to brew the magic potion that transforms grouchy husbands . . . and decided there must be a jinx on your coffee pot!

But it doesn't take good luck to get perfect results : . . it just takes good coffee that really fits your pot. And Manor House is the only coffee that comes in three scientifically correct grinds: for regular pot or percolator, drip, and glass coffee-maker.

The "magic" formula that enables Manor House to cast such a spell over coffee-lovers has been handed down from father to son for three generations! So the grandsons of W. F. McLaughlin still roast Manor House the old-fashioned way : : : over a slow, open flame to seal in all its glorious goodness. Grandpa would turn over in his grave, if they dared use those new-fangled dry-heat roasters that dry up the delicate flavor oils!

And the McLaughlin's have copied grandma's preserve jar to keep Manor House extra fresh when you buy it—extra fresh when you drink it! The seal-tight cap and rubber ring thoroughly re-seal the fragrant flavor every time you close the jar. Thus, unlike other coffees, Manor House is protected after you open it : : : stays gloriously fresh and rich through the very last cup!

FRESH when you buy it! STAYS FRESH as you use it! STILL FRESH through the last cup!

So if you really want to make a perfect dear of your husband . . . say the magic words "Manor House" to your grocer today : : : and make perfect coffee tomorrow!

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 24.—Betty Grable's in the hospital with an impacted wisdom tooth. Well, it isn't every blonde cutie around here who can claim a wisdom tooth. . . . Laurel and Hardy will make a comeback, doing the leads for a 20th-Fox army comedy called "Forward March." Their last picture, "A Chump at Oxford," was made a year and a half ago. . . . A native Mexican studio is filming one called "Neither Blood nor Sand." . . . Clark Gable's new toy is a four wheel drive pickup truck which skitters up mountainsides like a blitzbuggy.

Anything for Art! George Raft today was scheduled to slap Marlène Dietrich in "Man Power," and is nervous about it. Dietrich isn't. In "Seven Sinners" she finally had to tell Brod Crawford to go ahead and clip her one, after he had faked a few blows. Brod knocked her ankles over earrings. . . . Leah Baird, old-time star, has a rôle in "Man Power."

Humphrey Bogart is due out of suspension at Warners' any day, so Brothers Jack and Harry will have to dust out the solitary cell for somebody else. . . . Nothing like perseverance. Robert Lowery, Kansas City lad who has been at 20th-Fox for three years and has been in 60 pictures without anybody realizing it, gets his break. He'll play opposite Brenda Joyce in "Private Nurse." . . . A forthcoming movie is being made solely to get a chance crazy actor out from behind the gamblers' eight ball. His wage will go in trust for him so he can't put it on a horse or a deuce. . . . Whitney Bolton heads advertising and publicity for David O. Selznick beginning May 1. . . . One of my favorite movie lines is about the producer who said, "Sit down and I'll give you a complete inkling of the situation."

Which brings up the inexhaustible Samuel Goldwyn. Mr. G. is a turbulent and whimsical boss. When he buzzes people leap yards. He has an intercommunicating loudspeaker system in his offices, and when he wants anybody he buzzes, slaves open the key and he commands in a tinny, far-off voice. Well, once he buzzed his writers—a pair of well known guys. They whipped into the master's sanctum and he said, "What do you think of Wally Ford?" They replied well, he was a good actor—a darn good actor—but maybe he didn't have a big enough name to carry a picture. "No, no, no," said Goldwyn. "I mean what do you think of George Washington at Wally Ford?"

Hollywood's Hitching Post theater is quite a place, specializing in double bills of westerns. And Robert Taylor—who has just finished "Billy the Kid"—has long been a western fan. So there was a sight to see the other night: Taylor and the missus, Barbara Stanwyck, placidly standing in line at the box office and not being given a tumble. There was a box office line because on that night Smiley Burnette was making a personal appearance. . . . The Taylors, by the way, head for New York the end of this week, and so do the William Powells.

Happiest of all this week's L. A.-to-N. Y. Hollywoodians is Metro's Edgar Selwyn, because Edgar, whose theater background dates back 44 years, is going to produce a play. The last show he did on Broadway was the late George Gershwin's "Strike Up the Band," 10 years ago. Now he's heading back to line up Frederick Hazlett Brennan's war drama, "We Fought at Arques"—whose title probably will be changed to "Mr. Wookey." Casting is not set, but Edgar has aroused the interest of Thomas Mitchell and Binnie Barnes, who may do the leads, and a Labor day opening is slated.

Tip to filmdom's uneasily married folk: Superior court judges have decided that California's incompatibility divorces have been a little too whimsical, and are going to tighten up. No longer will a lady win herself a ticket just by saying, "Your honor, he was mean to me." She'll have to put out a few solid facts—which should improve the divorce court copy not a little.

Children May Differ About Food Demands

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We sat at breakfast. "Mother," mother's friend, the young daughter of the family, and I.

Of course, waffles were her favorite, the young daughter's, but even so, she ate the rest of her breakfast very well. Not much in quantity, but some of everything. But I noticed that it helped the eating process when she and I stopped talking about puppies, and the conversation was exclusively grownup and so of less interest to her.

Afterward I said to her mother: "Marilyn really eats now, doesn't she? I remember that summer two years ago . . ."

My friend laughed. "What a worry she used to be to me. She's really doing very well, altho I shall never expect her to eat like other children. How could I? Look at her small bones and slender frame and general makeup! Yet she's perfectly well and full of 'go,' altho she would still rather talk than eat. I never saw a child who enjoyed conversation the way she does, not at all like Elizabeth [her older sister]."

Marylin comes to my mind today in connection with eating problems, which vex mothers so much. She is one of those children who illustrate the very point that, no matter how true a generality about behavior may be, each child is an individual and must be treated as such.

Take the blanket advice so often given by physicians who don't know small children very well. "Put their food before them. Give them a normal amount. If they're hungry they'll eat it. Make them eat it all. If they don't, hold back their dessert. Let them go hungry a few times," and so forth and so forth. Such advice is not adequate.

Even take the wise generalities about feeding, such as, "have mealtimes pleasant, don't focus attention on your child or her food, don't overload her plate, give her some latitude in food likes and dislikes," and so forth. They work, but not the same with all children. For there are some children who are, for instance, like Marylin. She is slender, small, active, creative. Atho she must eat enough to nourish her, she probably will not [for years] be interested in food, nor will she ever eat very much in quantity.

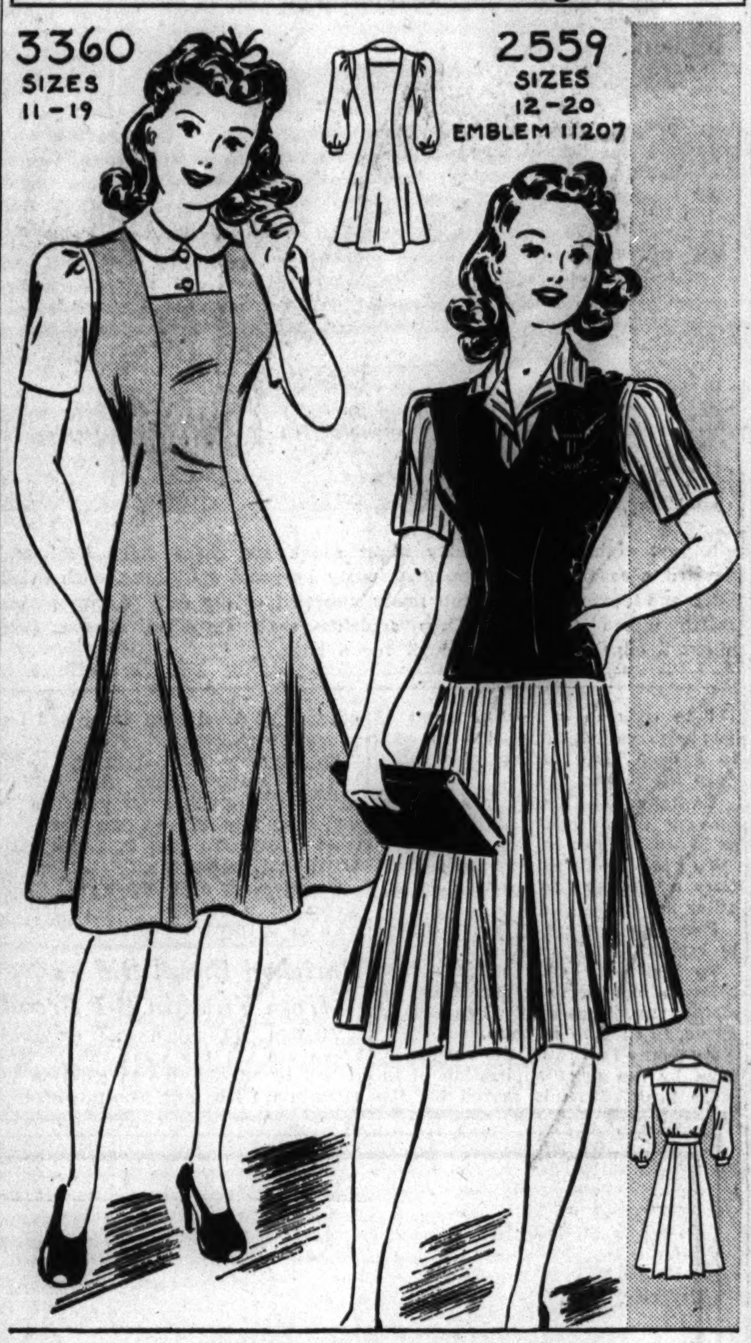
For the Youthful Figure



SPRING AND SUMMER FROCKS.

For youthful figures only, these two dresses are "tops" in chic for late spring, and for summer. One is a jumper model with shirtwaist blouse and princess lines in the skirt. This pattern is an ideal opportunity to employ fabric contrasts.

The other frock is a becoming casual one with contrasting jerkin. If you like, order pattern No. 11207 as an "extra" and add the eagle emblem to the jerkin.

Style No. 3360 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19; 29, 31, 33, 35, and 37 inch bust measurements.

Style No. 2559 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Post-Season Concert Made Great Event

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The pension fund of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will be increased by upwards of $13,500 as a result of the postseason concert given last night in Orchestra hall.

It was a gala concert in every sense of the word. Even before the maestro, Toscanini, appeared, a stranger who did not know what it all was about would have realized that it was not an ordinary event. There was an air of expectancy in the great hall, an air of excitement.

There were dinner coats and formally clad women in the balcony and gallery as well as in the boxes and on the main floor; every usher had a deep pink carnation in his buttonhole and when the musicians assembled it was seen that they, too, had carnations in the right lapels of their "tails." The flowers were the gift of Mrs. Frances Glessner Lee, who carries on a tradition started by her father, the late John J. Glessner.

Dr. and Mrs. Stock had the box adjoining that in which Mme. Toscanini and her daughter, Mme. Vladimir Horowitz, sat. Mme. Toscanini hurried backstage as soon as the intermission came, leaving her handsome daughter to greet the many who journeyed to the box to speak to the wife and daughter of the maestro. Mme. Horowitz was in black with white lilies embroidered on the front of the bodice.

Charming Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, who was a sort of hostess because her husband is president of the orchestral association, also wore black with orchids, but her flowers were pale lavendar. Her gown was of lace, the skirt made with many ruffles. One of the most stunning gowns in the hall was worn by Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed. It was of lavendar chiffon with a belt of velvet ribbon in a bright magenta.

Among others in the audience were David Sarnoff, who had come from New York for the occasion; Miss Elsa Maxwell; Miss Dorothy Vicaji, well known portrait painter from England; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Cottle [Gitta Gradova], the Giacomo Riminis [Rosa Raisa], the John Alden Carpenters, Mrs. William S. Hay, the Clark Lawrences, the Frank Wilhelms, the Bryan Reids, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley and her daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, the Mitchell Follansbees, Mrs. Ernest Waud.

Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. George A. Kelly, the John L. Irvings, the Cyrus H. Adamses, Mrs. John W. Gary, Miss Cornelia Conger, Arthur Meeker Jr., Mrs. Roger Faherty and her daughter, Miss Mary; the Edwin Fetchers, Mrs. Alden B. Swift and her sister, Mrs. James Ward Thorne; the Henry Bartholomays.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, the Giovanni Cardellis, Mrs. John Stuart, the DeForest Hulburds, Mrs. Edward Morris, Mrs. William E. Vogelback, Dr. and Mrs. Philip Miller, the Frederic Woodwards, the Daggett Harveys, the Gordon Louds, Miss Mary Adams, Miss Adair Orr, the Robert J. Thornes, Durand Smith, and Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall.

Arts Club to Open Member Show with Tea on Sunday

BY JUDITH CASS.

AN artist whose water color, "Ah God, Herrings, Buoys, the Glittering Sea," won a prize in Philadelphia, and whose painting of a fisherman entitled "Heavy the Oak to Him Who Is Tired, Heavy the Coat—Heavy the Sea," was a triumph at a Chicago Society of Artists exhibit, has another queerly named painting in the professional members' show at the Arts club. It is called "This Ichnolite of Mine." Ivan Le Loraine Albright is the artist.

Just what an ichnolite is will be disclosed to Arts club members on Sunday when they visit the exhibit, which is being opened that day with a tea from 4:30 until 7:30 o'clock. Each of the 77 artists who are showing their work may bring several guests, but other members may have only one each. A professional member, Mrs. Robert Griffin, who paints as Nina K. Griffin, will decorate the tables. She will have a painting of a boy on a merry-go-round, called "Carnival," in the show.

Maude Phelps Hutchins to Show Piece of Sculpture.

A piece of sculpture by Maude Phelps Hutchins [Mrs. Robert M.] will be shown in the round sculpture gallery. Sylvia Shaw Judson [Mrs. Clay] and Mrs Laura Marx also will be represented in this small gallery. Among the others who have contributed to the show are Nancy Cox-MacCormack, who now is Mrs. Charles Cushman of New York; Raoul Josset, Buell Mullen [Mrs. James Bernard], Helen Haugan Dean [Mrs. William], Clay Bartlett, Frances S. Badger, Paul Trebilcock, Edward H. Bennett, Alfred P. Shaw, whose wife is the club president; Peggy Palmer Burrows, Anna Lynch, Charles P. Kilgore, John Storrs, Baroness Wenner, Rudolph Ingerle, Oskar Gross, Lucie Hartrath, and Gerald A. Frank.

The Chicago chapter of France Forever is sponsoring as a benefit a concert of Veloz and Yolando on Monday, May 12, in Orchestra hall. Miss Mary Waller is chairman of the committee in charge of the sale of tickets and working with her are Miss Mary Laughlin, Mrs. Katherine Knowles Robbins, Henri David, Clifton Utley, Mrs. Ames W. Ross, and Mrs. Norton V. Smith Jr.

Mrs. Leander McCormick, who is French born, has undertaken to take charge of the sale of emblems to benefit the Free France movement, and to accept contributions in a shop at 662 North Michigan avenue, which has given a window for disply in support of the movement. The emblems, French bonbons and flowers, will be sold at the concert by a group of young women under the leadership of Miss Anne Daughaday.

Style Show and Tea Planned for British War Relief.

The British War Relief society's next benefit venture will be a style show and tea on Thursday, May 8, at the Ambassador East hotel. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk serves as chairman of the party, for which invitations already are out.

Toscanini Brings Orchestral Season to Brilliant Close

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Arturo Toscanini, the most celebrated musician of our day, conducted the Chicago Symphony orchestra in a pension fund benefit concert at Orchestra hall last night. It was as if a big exclamation point had been put at the end of a season which had already had more than its share of pleasurable astonishment.

For the great conductor called on every resource of his imagination to make the music vivid and meaningful. And the orchestra leaped to the execution of his ideas with a passion and a sureness that transcended technical considerations entirely and succeeded in laying the music itself before us in all its purity and beauty.

When the erect little man with the gray-white hair, the swirl of mustache, and the gimlet eyes first walked upon the stage the orchestra jumped to its feet with an almost military smartness. The rest of us followed suit with slightly less of military smartness. Toscanini cut the ovation short by turning to the business of the evening—which was the presentation not of any earth shaking novelties but of the standard music in whose service he has grown old and which he himself, paradoxically, has done so much to keep young.

The first of this timeless music was Gluck's "Iphigenia in Aulis" overture. Its melodies were made to sing along with an unhurried sort of grandeur. Its tone had a soft glow and its general scheme a classical spaciousness and serenity.

Beethoven's Seventh Symphony was played with a surge and momentum which did not preclude an exquisite flexibility of line. The Presto was exuberant and exhilarating and full and free flowing without a suggestion of the uncontroled or the headlong. The symphony's movement was almost gruff in its tremendous rhythmic strength.

In the first and fourth divisions of Respighi's "The Fountains of Rome" the colors were indicated rather than laid on. In the second, on the contrary, the effect was as dazzling as that of sunlight on water, and in the third the impression of golden noon and of a pagan sort of fullness of life was caught with an uncanny skill.

The Berlioz version of Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," done with a salonlike graciousness and worldliness and ease, offered First Cellist Edmund Kurtz opportunity for two finely executed solos. Wagner's "Siegfried Idyl," to which conductor and orchestra brought the loving, gentle quality which its genesis, to say nothing of its inherent character, demands, was followed by an overwhelming performance of the same composer's "Tannhäuser" overture.

The features of this one piece deserve a column by themselves. There was the wonderfully explosive announcement of the melody of Tannhäuser's hymn to Venus, the quiet shimmer of the strings over the theme of the pilgrims' song, the unbelievable splendor of the brasses at the end. The Wagner esthetic—his determination to leave nothing sayable unsaid—received here a definitive and triumphant statement which must have united believers and unbelievers alike in the sheer intoxication of the moment.

O, precious stolen sweets that crowd
The memory to brimming o'er;

Then let us dream, altho we know
The debt that must be paid in snow.

Chicago Ballet.

George Balanchine has said that the most beautiful legs in the dancing profession belong to Chicagoan Albia Kavan, one of the leading dancers with the Chicago Ballet which, sponsored by the Chicago Dance council, will have its first performance at the Goodman, Sunday afternoon, in a program of three ballets. One of them, Walter Camryn's Daring Young Man, is a ballet of circus life in early America, and the music is compiled from folk tunes of the periods. These Are My People, choreographed by Ruth Hatfield, is set to some of Langston Hughes' poems. According to Camryn, a former cowboy from Montana who was one of the first dancers to work in the American idiom, the poetry from which American ballets can be made are the "virile antics of Paul Bunyan, the beautiful madness of Johnny Appleseed, the cruel witchcraft of Salem, the prowlings of Calamity Jane."

Professional, Not Professorial.

John Steuart Curry, middle western painter and artist in residence at the University of Wisconsin, was standing in front of Gauguin's Oranges and Lemons at the current French show at the Art institute when we went in for another look at the pictures Tuesday. He was comparing it with a neighboring piece by Cezanne, Still Life with Pears.

"It certainly does show Cezanne influence," commented Curry, indicating the Gauguin picture.

He is Mr. Curry, by the way, not Prof. Curry, in spite of his university position.

"I never even finished high school," said the brown eyed, smiling, round faced artist. "Altho I do have Prof. Curry painted on the garbage cans," he added.

Curry was on his way back to Madison after making a speech in Iowa. His big oil Wisconsin Landscape, which was exhibited at the American show in Chicago last year, recently won a medal in an eastern show.

About Rise Stevens.

Rise [pronounced Rees-a] Stevens of the Metropolitan Opera, who, if you are an operagoer, you may have heard sing in Rosenkavalier with the Chicago Opera last winter, spent Tuesday in Chicago on her way to Hollywood where she will appear with Nelson Eddy in M-G-M's technicolor production of The Chocolate Soldier. Her husband, Walter Szurovy, a Hungarian citizen who made pictures in Vienna for UFA, met Miss Stevens in Prague, when they were both appearing there in different theaters three years ago. Rise is a traditional first name for women in her father's family, Miss Stevens said. He was Norwegian but she was born in the Bronx, New York. Miss Stevens, who looks like Gail Patrick of the movies, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lustgarten in Chicago, whose two sons are members of Toscanini's NBC symphony orchestra.

The first time the board was played, the bidding proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	2 diamonds
3 diamonds	3 spades	Pass	5 spades
6 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass [!]

I cannot explain West's six club bid except as an attempt to throw dust in the opponents' eyes. Obviously, West expected to be doubled; he then would run to six diamonds. South, however, did a bit of figuring when the six club bid reached him. His side was not vulnerable; the opponents were. A spade small slam would be worth 980 points, but it looked as tho this score could be surpassed by letting West play the hand at six clubs, undoubled. Hence South calmly passed.

Of course South's decision was correct, but a strange thing happened. North, who should have read the situation perfectly and opened a trump [thereby defeating West 12 tricks], chose to lead the spade king. Dummy ruffed and a diamond trick was cashed. If declarer had been able to enter his own hand he could have ruffed another spade, but he had taken his last trick and was down 1,000 points. This seemed satisfactory to North-South, who knew that 980 points would have been their limit at six spades. To their astonishment and horror, however, this is what happened at the other table:

The bidding was the same up to and including East's pass over three spades, but at that point South jumped all the way to six spades. Now it was East who ruined his own team in his choice of opening leads. Overimpressed by South's original cue bid in diamonds, East decided to make a surprise opening and selected a low heart. Needless to say, that was the last time his side got on lead. North-South took 13 tricks and, by so doing, earned not 980, but 1,010 points, thus winning the board by 10 points!

Tomorrow's Hand.

North, dealer.

Mrs. Loud New President of Junior League

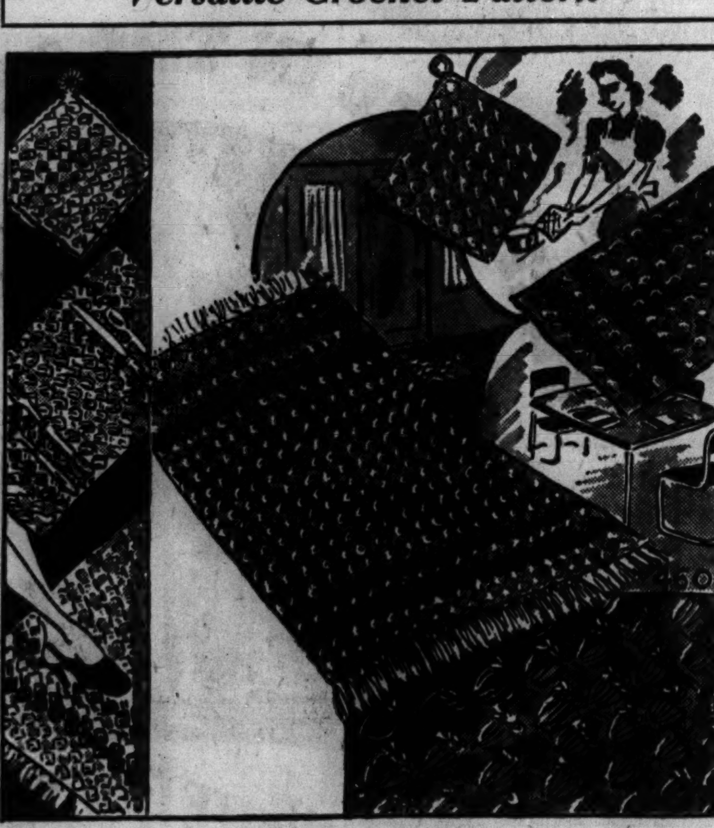
Mrs. Gordon Loud, the former Honor Merrell, was elected president of the Chicago Junior league at the spring meeting yesterday. The remainder of the slate is: First vice president, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III.; second vice president, Mrs. Paul Winthrop Oliver; secretary, Mrs. Alanson Donald; treasurer, Mrs. H. Holinger.

Mrs. Gordon Loud.

The meeting was held in the Drake, after which Miss Elsa Maxwell talked, with "The Future of the Junior League in the World Which Confronts Us Today" as her subject. This rather awesome, serious title did not prevent Miss Maxwell from being her usual gay, cheery and delightful self. She had her audience in gales of laughter much of the time altho there were many serious moments during the talk, which was full of good advice to the several hundred young women who heard her.

"Common sense is the rarest thing in America," the speaker opined. She counselled her listeners to cultivate that quality, and to develop a sense of humor. "You can't be defeated, or ill, when you laugh," she said. "Make some one laugh and you've done your good deed for the day. Learn to laugh at yourself, for there's something ridiculous in the best of us."

Versatile Crochet Pattern



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted rug, pot holders, and matching rectangular place mats, done in the beautiful but durable shell design, create a lovely set for the kitchen of the young bride-to-be. Yellow and white is a popular color for a kitchen decorative scheme. Boilproof carpet warp in one of the shades of yellow, combined with white, cream, or ivory, and crocheted with two or three threads, produces a curiously mottled effect which will not show soil. The rug and place mats have two stripes of solid yellow at each end, but the holder is made of two colors.

For instructions in crocheting the pot holders, rug, and place mats in shell stitch, No. 460, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Early Showing of 'Good Little Dresses' Found

BY REA SEEGER.

When a new showing of what are knowingly called "good little dresses" to discriminating women is launched there is much excitement and crowds rush down to grab the smartest models. Even when the entire collection is excitingly different there are always a few that breeze out in record time. Locating one of these early spring showings, we wholeheartedly recommend each and every dress in the lot.

If you like black with white dots you'll claim the clinging new jerseys as your very own! The material is dull black and thin, with small neat dots plentifully spattered all over. The sleeves are exceedingly brief, the new very low "plunger" neckline has a detachable vee vest that can be alternated with sheer white affairs.

There's one of the best looking lacy knitted effects ever seen. It's a cool dove gray and white patterned in puffy stitch. The details are like the trick bits in crêpe dresses, intricate shirrings neatly anchored in the front of the skirt and in the side sections of the bodice.

Delectable lime green and orange tones of thin summer jersey are other finds, and two exquisite shades of star sapphire blue and pink will please the pastel color collectors. Clever new back shirring and gathered fullness has been defined by using crush belts of soft wool combined with buckles of pale leather or wood.

In the same showing are some grand light materials of the same texture as linen. There are new necklines, the naive, Joan of Arc outline. It's new, flattering, and is ideal in these simply designed daytime dresses that can be worn from dawn till dark.

Weddings Announced

The marriage of Miss Amparo de los Desamparados Sabater Guzman to Roland I. Onstad took place on April 5 in the archbishop's palace, Manila, the Philippines. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Manuel Sabater of Manila, and Mr. Onstad's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Onstad of Bosworth avenue. The former Miss Sabater was graduated from St. Theresa's college and received her doctor's degree in optometry from Centro Escolar university. Mr. Onstad, a Northwestern university graduate in the class of 1937, has been engaged in business in the far east since then. He will bring his bride to the United States for a visit in June.

Miss Mildred Archer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Archer of Washington, D. C., and John R. Mallahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Mallahan of Elmhurst, were married on Monday afternoon in Washington D. C. After a wedding trip to Florida, they will return to Joliet to reside. The bride studied for two years at the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, and Mr. Mallahan received his degree from the University of Illinois.

Veteran Corps Dinner.

The annual dinner of the Veterans Corps Second [132d] Infantry will be held at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Hamilton hotel, 18 South Dearborn street. Peter A. Mares, 4224 North Hamlin avenue, is commander of the group.

U. S. LOAN PLANS DROPPED IN NEW TRANSIT MUDDLE

Fresh Financing Basis Is Reported in Offing.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Plans for a 53 million dollar federal loan, which has been one of the chief props under the proposed Chicago traction unification plans, have been virtually abandoned, and an entirely new basis of financing the city's transit modernization is reported in the offing.

This report came on the eve of a court hearing in the 14 year old traction dispute. It is to be held today before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. The judge, who has jurisdiction over the surface and elevated lines, has requested all interested parties to express their views on the city's proposed unified traction ordinance. These parties include the city, the various securities groups of the transit lines, and the lines' receivers.

Mayor Denies Knowing of Plan.

Mayor Kelly, who is expected to make the city's statement to the court today, yesterday said he knew nothing of the prospective abandonment of the federal loan plan. However it was learned that terms of the loan offer are objected to by the Surface lines' new board of management and operation appointed Feb. 13 by Judge Igoe.

They contend that the loan, as tentatively worked out by a previous transit board, city officials, and Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, would provide insufficient funds for modernizing a unified transit system and would jeopardize the interests of the lines' present junior securities holders.

The loan called for using almost 40 million dollars to make cash redemption payments to first mortgage bondholders of the transit lines. This would leave only 13 millions plus the 30 millions of cash now held by the Surface lines, available for improvements. The proposed traction ordinance, however, calls for 60 million dollars in improvements in three years and 42 millions in improvements in the following five years.

Why Loan Offer Is Opposed.

The loan terms, moreover, would give the federal government a 53 million dollar first lien on Chicago's entire transit system and call for issuance of 40 millions of new income bonds, besides the cash payments to present first mortgage bondholders. This would place 93 millions of bonds ahead of the claims of the present junior securities, and thus make the securities nearly worthless, the present board holds.

Aside from the new board's objections, moreover, at least two conditions outlined by Jones have not yet been met. These call for an agreement with the Chicago Motor Coach company on the purchase of its properties and definite terms in the traction ordinance for an employés' pension plan—both to be subject to Jones' approval.

Today's hearing was called by Judge Igoe three weeks ago after the Surface lines' board had rejected the city's unified ordinance proposal. Mayor Kelly in his statement to the court today is expected to offer concessions in an effort to meet the board's objections to the ordinance.

The surface lines' largest securities group, representing $41,700,000 of bonds, today will back up its suggestion, made 10 days ago, that the proposed ordinance be abandoned in favor of a separate reorganization and modernization of the surface lines.

3 SCHOOL BANDS PARADE SILENTLY TO AID CLEAN-UP

There was no music to set the pace but more than 6,000 elementary and high school pupils marched along west side streets yesterday in a crusade for community cleanliness. The Garfield Park Business Men's association, sponsor of the parade, was unable to obtain a permit from the Chicago Federation of Musicians allowing Austin, Marshall, and Lucy Flower High school bands to play.

The pupils appeared in their band uniforms, but without their instruments, and marched with the other children who carried clean-up banners, mops, brooms, rakes, and garbage cans. A new cry this year was "Down with unions."

Harvey Johnser executive secretary of the association, said the band permit was issued without question last year. He followed the same procedure this year, except that he applied two weeks earlier, Johnsen added, but he did not hear until Wednesday afternoon that the permit had been refused.

2 Mistakes Wives So Often Make

Because of inward shyness or ignorance, many married women make needless mistakes—risk health, happiness. Why? Generally because feminine hygiene is considered too personal to be discussed. And so many women use over-strong solutions of acids which can burn or scar delicate tissues. Today risks are needless. For science has given womankind Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Booklet Tells Intimate Facts. Get this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today"—FREE, sent postpaid in plain wrapper. FBI SEARCHES 37 GERMANS ON JAP VESSEL; 4 HELD

Los Angeles, Cal., April 24 (AP).—Holding up sailing of the Japanese steamship Buenos Aires Maru from Los Angeles harbor tonight, federal bureau of investigation agents searched 37 Germans bound for their homeland and held four of them.

The four were booked at the county jail on suspicion of violating the draft act and a United States commissioner's hearing was set for Friday.

Pockets and luggage of all the Germans were searched. Socks were turned inside out and shirts opened as agents went thru the bags. One German was forced to remove his shoes.

The Germans were reported to have arrived here from various cities in the last few days to sail homeward via Japan and Russia, 17 coming from New York and others from Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco and Denver. All were described on the passenger list as merchants.

CONTINUE CASES OF 6 ARRESTED IN ABORTION PROBE

Charges against Louis Piquett, a disbarred lawyer, and five women, arrested during an investigation of an alleged abortion ring, were continued yesterday in Felony court until May 6. Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek, who is in charge of the investigation, said he expected grand jury action before that time. The women are Mrs. Emily Ranus Millstone, 30 years old, widow of Dr. Henry J. Millstone, who committed suicide last week after leaving notes describing the ring; Miss Marie Larson, 40, and Miss Ann Blosser, 40, both of 6646 Maryland avenue; Mrs. Roberta Powell, 24, colored, 6158 South Park way, and Mrs. Edna Bullock, 42, of 741 East 62d street.

Ex-Judge Stelk Found Ill from Sleeping Tablets

John F. Stelk, a judge of the Municipal court from 1914 to 1920, was taken to County hospital in a serious condition yesterday after he was found unconscious in his home at 1665 Bissell street. Hudson avenue police said he had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets. He is 65 years old. Stelk was placed on probation in 1928 after being found guilty of forging notary public seals in an alleged conspiracy to swindle real estate owners. His defense was that he was insane. He was disbarred as an attorney, but later was readmitted to practice.

Finals Held

Finals in the sixth annual Interstate Oratorical association competition for women were held last night in Harris hall auditorium on the Northwestern university Evanston campus. Champions from 10 midwestern states competed during the day and the six preliminary winners spoke last night.

First place was awarded to Miss Jean Park of Sioux Falls college, Sioux Falls, S. D., who spoke on "Youth: For Sale or Hire." Miss Gudrun Anderson of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., took second place with an oration on "Of Driven Men," while third place was awarded to Miss Dorothy Moor of Wayne college.

Two British Flyers Killed, Two Hurt in Ontario Crash

Propose Law Amendment to Avert Primary.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki announced yesterday that legislative action will be sought to save the county $644,152, which would have to be expended under present state law for a special primary in the fall to nominate candidates for the vacancy caused by the death April 15 of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court.

The proposed amendment to the election law, which is being drawn by Robert Taylor, attorney for the board of election commissioners, would permit candidates to be nominated for the vacancy in party conventions. They would then be voted on in the regular judicial election, set for Nov. 4, when 21 Superior court judges are to be chosen.

Appointment Barred by Law.

Judge Sonsteby's term expires Dec. 1, 1942. State law provides that the governor can name a successor for an unexpired term of less than a year, but if the term is longer an election must be held in conjunction with the next regular election. The latter is the case here.

The law further provides that a primary would have to be held seven weeks before the election for nominations for the chief justice post. Nominations for the Superior bench are made at party conventions, however, and no primary is held. The present law, therefore, would necessitate a primary at great cost for a single vacancy of slightly more than one year. The salary of the chief justice of the Municipal court is $15,000 annually.

Covers Future Cases of Kind.

The proposed amendment to save the cost of a primary would provide further that whenever a similar situation occurs—an election not preceded by a primary at which another office, requiring a primary, must also be filled—candidates for the office may be selected in party conventions.

Judge Jarecki said that the amendment will be submitted to Werner W. Schroeder, national Republican committeeman from Illinois, who wrote the state's present primary law. It was indicated that Gov. Dwight H. Green approves the purpose of the amendment.

Nashville, Tenn., April 24 (AP).—Gov. Prentice Cooper today requisitioned Gov. Keen Johnson of Kentucky for extradition to Claimorne county, Tennessee, of 12 men named in first degree murder warrants in connection with the fatal shooting of four men April 15 at the Fork Ridge Coal and Coke company mine near the Kentucky-Tennessee line.

Named in the requisitions were A. T. Pace, J. W. Ridings, William Turnblazer, A. J. Napier, E. B. Smith, Earl Allen, John Holland, Millard Forester, Clayton Webb, R. W. Lawson, Alfred Smith, and Walter Polling.

The governor acted at the request of Sheriff Frank Riley of Claiborne county.

DEFEATS RIVAL BY SIX LENGTHS AT KEENELAND

Ability Over Route Boosts Stock.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 24.—Our Boots, moving with an easy stride thru the stretch, beat his arch-rival, Whirlaway, by six lengths today in the $10,000 Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland. These two speedy Kentucky colts, both of whom are highly regarded candidates for the Derby, put on one of their traditionally brilliant duels thruout the earlier stages of this mile and a furlong.

On the last turn, however, Jockey Conn McCreary called on Our Boots and sent him ahead on the inside as Whirlaway went to the middle of the track. Steadily, thereafter, the Woodvale farm colt drew away despite Jockey Wendell Eads' resolute attempts to rally Whirlaway. Amid the cheers of spirited partisans, Our Boots went coasting over the finish line to complete the route in 1:51 1-5, which was regarded as excellent time, considering the muddy condition of the track.

Other Starters Never Factors.

The only other starters, Valdina Paul and Valdina Groom, were never factors after the sprint to the first turn. The former finished 15 lengths behind Whirlaway and three lengths ahead of his stable mate.

Whirlaway, which carried the devil red colors of Warren Wright's Calumet farm, was backed down to 1 to 2 odds by the crowd of 8,000 which gathered in pleasant sunshiny weather. Our Boots, owned by Royce G. Martin of Toledo, whose Woodvale farm is located in the Lexington area, was held at 8 to 5.

Our Boots paid $5.20 to win. Both place prices were $2.20, no show tickets being sold.

Dispels Ability to Go Route.

There had been some doubt about the route running ability of Our Boots, whose most celebrated performance of last season was his victory in the Belmont Futurity most important event for juveniles on the American turf. His race today tended to dispel these doubts. He was hooking up with a horse which is conceded to have route running ability and he had no trouble pulling away from his rival in the stretch.

The race was quite a riding duel between McCreary, who heads the national ranking, and Eads. Breaking his mount from the outside post position, McCreary sent Our Boots out on top in the rush for the first turn, but he wasn't able to draw sufficiently clear to get over to the rail before Valdina Groom got there.

On the clubhouse turn, however, Our Boots disposed of the Valdina horse once and for all. Then, as they started the run down the back stretch, Eads brought Whirlaway up on the outside.

Lets Whirlaway Forge Ahead.

McCreary refused to urge Our Boots to run his legs off in response to his rival's challenge. Taking a snug hold, he let Whirlaway forge half a length ahead. This apparently surprised Eads momentarily, for he pulled Whirlaway's head back. The Calumet colt wanted to run, however, so he held the lead by a slight margin to the end of the back stretch.

On the turn, Whirlaway drew out to a clear lead of slightly more than a length, but McCreary continued to sit still on Our Boots. Approaching the stretch, Whirlaway went fairly wide but not too wide. Then McCreary began to move Our Boots. Driving him up on the inside, he took the lead after a brief duel. And that was all there was to it.

R. W. McIlvain's Bushwhacker, winner of the rich New England Futurity last season, gave further indication today that he's not likely to be ready for the Kentucky Derby. He finished second to Hal Price Headley's Laatokka, beaten half a length, in the six furlong Almahurst purse. Boss Hoss was third, four lengths farther back.

Headley Strategy Works.

The strategy followed in the handling of the Headley entry of Laatokka and Highanlow was a little too much for Bushwhacker. Jockey Al Snider sent Highanlow out to force a fast pace after Bushwhacker had taken the lead out of the gate. Meanwhile, Laatokka was taking it comparatively easy. Calumet farm's Blenweed went up to run beside the two leaders as they scampered down the backstretch.

On the far turn, Highanlow began to tire, but Blenweed hung on. As they approached the stretch, it was apparent Bushwhacker had both of these rivals soundly whipped. Once they were straightened out, however, Jockey McCreary brought up Laatokka with a rush, wore down Bushwhacker in the last sixteenth and won drawing away. Time for the six furlongs was 1:13. The Headley

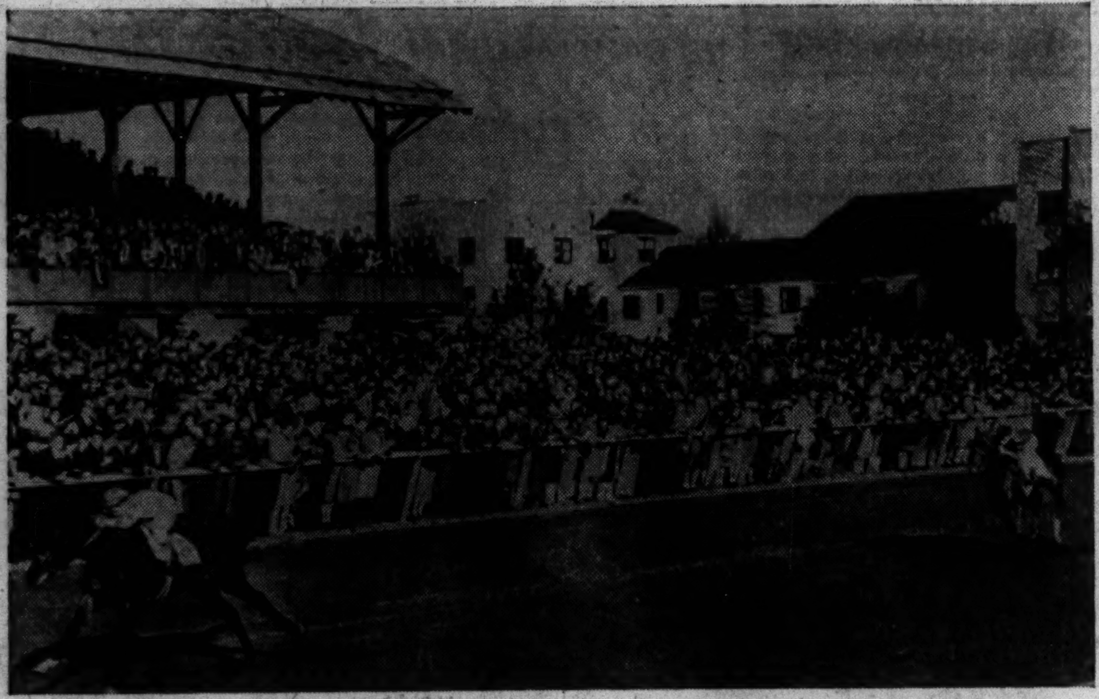
Our Boots Romps to Foreground of Derby Scene



Our Boots, from the Woodvale farm owned by Royce G. Martin, rushes to an easy six lengths victory over Warren Wright's Whirlaway in the $10,000 added Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland yesterday. Our Boots' victory in 1:51⅕ over a muddy track for the mile and a furlong boosted the colt's stock for the Kentucky Derby May 3.

Drake Relays to Open Today; Hold 9 Championship Events

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., April 24.—It is Drake relay time again in Des Moines and today the preliminary informalities were observed with all the enthusiasm which annually has made this last week-end in April the red letter days for springtime athletics.

By custom, and after blaring bands had attracted thousands to the four block course on Locust street, between the Savery and Chamberlain hotels, the bellboys' annual relay was held. As usual, the Randolph hotel took first place, with the Fort Des Moines quartet second.

Since the hotels have no restrictions other than employment and since recruiting is encouraged, anything could come to pass in this event but nothing ever has happened more startling than discovery today that a member of the Chamberlain relay team won 80 cents betting on Randolph. The first and second teams today qualified for the competition over the Drake university track against teams representing hotels from all sections of Iowa.

Des Moines Beats the Drums.

All Des Moines service clubs devoted meetings to relay publicity and no previous relay carnival ever neld greater promise for establishment of an attendance record. Two university relay championships, four college championships, and three individual titles, nine in all, will be decided tomorrow afternoon. High school teams open their competition in the morning. In addition, preliminaries will be held in nine relays and individual events.

The university sprint medley and university distance medley headline tomorrow afternoon's races. Champions also will be crowned in the two mile, the broad jump, and discus. Billy Brown of Louisiana State, two time winner, should take the broad jump. Jack Hughes, Texas' defending discus champion, is unanimous choice to repeat his victory, and he may break the record of 159.79 feet he established last year.

Promise of Fair Weather.

Texas' great sprint medley team, which set a world mark of 3:24 three weeks ago in their own games in Austin, Tex., should crack the Drake record of 3:25.1 if the weatherman's promise of fair weather holds. While having no alibi for their defeat by Indiana last week at Kansas, the Texans feel confident they can better any mark the Hoosier team may make in the Pennsylvania relays in Philadelphia. Indiana is the only member of the Western conference not included in the list of more than

WISCONSIN MAN SHOOTS 712; 7TH IN ABC SINGLES

St. Paul, April 24 (AP).—Vern Anderson of Cambridge, Wis., took seventh place in the singles of the American Bowling congress tonight, when he rolled a 712 series.

Opening with 215, Anderson, competing in his fifth national tournament, followed with 258, and then scored 239.

None of the other high 10 leaders was disturbed today, but Alvin Hoffmann and Art Anderson, Wausau, Wis., hit 512 in their second game of the doubles, high game in the two man event. After they had opened with 389, Hoffmann registered 268 and Anderson added 244. They finished with 356 for a 1,257 series. High of the day was scored by Lee Weinand and John Herdt, West Bend, Wis., who tallied 1,261.

May 30, 31 Tentative Dates for Ruth-Cobb Golf Match

New York, April 24 (AP).—May 30 and 31 were proposed as tentative dates today for the golf match between Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth, with 18 holes to be played in Boston the first day and another 18 on a New York course the second. Ruth told Fred Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament manager, that this program would be all right with him. Cobb issued the challenge for the match, to be played for British war relief.

LEFTY LEE AND LODIGIANI EQUAL ONE SOX VICTORY

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Dario Lodigiani, the little man who sneaked in and stole the third base job from Bob Kennedy, spread a large order of grief in the ranks of Cleveland's Indians yesterday in Comiskey park. The little man tripled, two of his White Sox mates dashed over the plate, and that was enough to bust up a left handed hurling match by 2 to 1 between Thornton Lee of the home forces and Al Smith, the same Smith who vanquished the same Lee, 2 to 0, in the opening series of the season.

Both Lee and Smith were so frugal with their hits that 1,764 frigid customers began to suspect they might never have the pleasure of seeing a runner make a complete tour of the bases. Smith couldn't be budged for any thing more than one hit in six innings. Lee was just a bit more generous. In the same stretch he yielded two hits and a pass but the Indians didn't reach second. Thereafter safeties were most plentiful for both factions, the Sox getting their last pair off Doc Clint Brown in the eighth.

Appling Gets Going.

A Walk Means Nothing.

The first break in the perfect defense put up by Lee and Smith came in the second inning when the Sox left hander passed Mack but two were out at the time and the third out was applied on Peters in the form of strikes. The Indians also were the first to come up with a base hit. After two were out in the fourth, Trosky noticed something promising about Lee's first pitch so swung away and a line single into center was the result.

The fourth also put the first Chi-

Puts Cavarretta on 1st Base Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 24.—The Cubs lost a 2 to 1 game to the Pittsburgh Pirates in 11 innings this afternoon, their third straight setback. Tonight the repercussions were felt when Manager Jimmy Wilson, irate at the happenings of the last three days, set about to figure out a new lineup.

Up to a late hour, Wilson's only announced change was to install Phil Cavarretta at first base, where both Ed Waitkus and Glen [Rip] Russell have been unimpressive in the seven games the Cubs have played this season.

Altho it was not a part of Wilson's shakeup plans, Dizzy Dean was announced as tomorrow's pitcher against the Pirates. Claude Passeau, knocked out by the Cardinals in his last start, was excused from his assignment against Pittsburgh because of a sore side.

Prize Rookies Fizzle.

Tho the season is not yet two weeks old, Wilson, as the field manager of a new Cub régime has had reason to sympathize with those gentlemen who have handled the Cubs in past years. The Pacific coast prize duo, Lou Novikoff and Lou Stringer, has failed to live up to advance notices. After showing a powerful offensive at the plate in exhibition games, the Chicagoans' attack has stalled in most of their championship contests to date.

They have scored only one run in the last three games, and had gone runless for 22 consecutive innings until scoring in the fifth inning today. That run stood up until the Pirates tied it up in the ninth, then went on to win in the 11th, defeating Larry French, who pitched a good game.

Grimm May Become Active.

Wilson was even heard to mutter that he might put Coach Charley Grimm back on the active list. Grimm, who is five months and eleven days younger than Charley Root, the 42 year old pitcher, still can pick up short hops which neither Russell nor Waitkus has been able to do. Until tonight's move by Wilson, Cavarretta believed his future fate with the Cubs was as a pitcher. It is only another chapter in the Chicago Italian's strange career, which saw him come up as a first baseman, only to be shifted to the outfield.

Things went on at 1 to 1 until after the first two Pirates had been retired in the eleventh when an error by Bill Myers started Pittsburgh toward loaded bases.

Collins Breaks Up Game.

Then Rip Collins, Cub castoff, singled to drive home DiMaggio with the winning run.

The Cubs' one run, which in the light of recent events must be considered a miracle, was produced when Bill Herman tripled off Bob Klinger and got home on a single by Clyde McCullough. There were five hits besides these in the 11 innings, three of them by Stan Hack, including a double in the eleventh.

Eight Chicagoans fanned, lifting the total for their last four games to an even 40. When Myers fanned the second time, in the eighth, he rounded out a record of nine whiffs in 13

EAST TO BATTLE SOUTHWEST AND MIDWEST AT PENN

N.Y.U., Indiana, Princeton Favorites in Relays.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 24 (AP).—A wide open battle among the east's best quartets and outstanding midwest and southwestern teams appeared certain as University of Pennsylvania officials prepared Franklin field for tomorrow's opening program of the 47th annual Penn relay carnival.

New York university and Indiana are ranked as the teams to beat in the distance medley relay and Princeton as the No. 1 team in the sprint medley but strong rivals in both races gave the favorites little reason to be overconfident. The quarter mile relay, third American championship event on the program, was rated as a tossup.

Kane vs. MacMitchell.

Penn officials announced that the stadium's cinder track is in excellent condition. "Fair and cooler" weather was forecast for tomorrow.

Track followers leaned toward Indiana and N. Y. U. in the distance medley because each has a star miler for the all-important final lap. Campbell Kane, Big Ten champion, will anchor the Indiana quartet while N. Y. U. has Les MacMitchell, coholder of the world's competitive indoor record of 4:07.4.

Princeton's sprint medley championship team of last year is back intact, headed by Sprinter Bob Jackson and I. C. 4-A Half Mile Champion Ed Burrowes. Indiana, which won last week's Kansas relays event with a meet record time of 3:25.2, stands out among the challengers.

Run 19 Events Today.

Five special invitation events and 14 high school, preparatory school and district college relays complete the first day's program. Chief interest in the invitation events centers on the 120 yard hurdles, where Ed Dugger of Tufts, national collegiate champion, heads the field, and the shot put and discus, in which Ed Beetem of Penn, Archie Harris of Indiana, and Steve Lach of Duke are the best bets to win titles left undefended by Al Blozis of Georgetown.

Bill Dodds of Ashland college, N. C. A. A. cross-country champion, is the favorite in the two mile and Roy Cochran of Indiana in the 400 meter hurdles, an event he won at the Drake relays last year.

Booker Beckwith, 1938 intercity and international Golden Gloves middleweight champion, will seek his twelfth straight professional victory in a 10 round bout against Lee Oma, Detroit heavyweight, in Hammond tonight. The Gary youngster will be after his eighth knockout. In his last appearance, on April 4, Beckwith scored a two round technical knockout over Altus Allen. Prior to this achievement he won a decision in six rounds over Orlando Trotter. Trotter holds a two round knockout triumph over Oma, scored in Marigold Gardens March 10. Supporting matches this evening:

Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor, vs. Johnny Rhodes, Chicago [4], 156.
George Mitchell, Detroit, vs. Speedy Schaefer, Chicago [4], 160.

Mickey Grod is paired with Al Walker, Savoy Athletic club lightweight, and Eddie Longazo with Johnny Crane, Morgan Park middleweight, in two contests of five rounds heading the amateur fight card tonight in Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street. . . . For the first time since boxing was legalized in 1926, Illinois Athletic commission referees must pass a medical examination by Dr. Frank A. Lagorio of the board before becoming eligible for a license. The order was sent out yesterday by Sheldon Clark, commission chairman.

Gene Ward, lightweight protégé of James Christopher of Chicago, will meet Herschel Joiner of Cincinnati in a return bout of 12 rounds in New Orleans this evening. Ward lost an unpopular verdict in 10 rounds to Joiner last Friday. . . . A number of state boxing commission inspectors, appointed by the late Gov. Horner and his successor, John Stelle, will be ousted next Thursday, it was reported last night.

Bears Select All-Star Game Training Site

St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis., again will be the site of the world champion Chicago Bears' preparation for The Chicago Tribune's All-Star football game in August, Coach George Halas announced yesterday.

Halas decided to return to Delafield, where the Bears have trained for the last seven years, after studying offers from several other Wisconsin cities, an attractive proposition from California and bids from Minnesota.

The Bears first went to Delafield in the summer of 1935 to train for their second appearance in the All-Star game. They defeated the college All-Americans, 5 to 0, on Jack Manders' field goal and a safety that year, after being held to a scoreless tie in the first All-Star game the summer before.

Col. F. W. Mouso, commandant of the academy, already has begun extensive preparations for the Bears' arrival, the major item being enclosing the practice field. All workouts this year will be behind barred gates, thru which only reporters assigned to the camp and boys and girls of the academy's nearby summer camps will be admitted. The field also will be kept in shape thruout the summer.

N. U. to Open Series Against Gophers Today

Northwestern university's baseball team will place its undefeated record at stake today in the first of a two game series against Minnesota. Because the Wildcats' new diamond is still waterlogged from spring rains, today's and tomorrow's games will be played in Roosevelt park in Glen View.

Clason Takes Mound for N. U.

Despite the lack of a home diamond on which to practice, the Purple nine swept both games of the Chicago series to go into a tie with Ohio State in the Big Ten race. Northwestern and Ohio State are the only undefeated teams among those which have started their conference seasons. Iowa and Michigan open their Big Ten schedules this week.

Henry Clason who pitched a 4 to 0 shut out against the Maroons last week will be on the mound for the Wildcats today. Clason, who played right field for the Purple last year, turned pitcher on the spring trip. He went the route against Tulane in his first assignment and held the Maroons to six hits in his next start.

Gophers Well Balanced.

Altho Minnesota lost a two game series to Indiana, the Gophers have a well-balanced nine which is still expected to be a factor in the conference race. In Bill Anderson, Minnesota possesses one of the best pitchers in the league. Norman Gallup, sophomore hurler, already has displayed signs of being a top notch performer. The Gophers lost to Indiana, 5 to 1 and 10 to 9.

DE PAUL ALUMNI APPLAUD PLEA FOR FOOTBALL

Members of the Quarter Century club of De Paul university, graduates of 25 or more years ago, last night applauded a suggestion that De Paul again take up football. The suggestion came from Nick Kearns, Big Ten football and basketball referee, who spoke at the club's annual meeting in the Knickerbocker hotel. Kearns is a De Paul alumnus.

The sport was dropped after the end of the 1938 season, Father Michael J. O'Connell, president of the university, blaming the student body for lack of interest. Father O'Connell last night heard Kearns argue that Chicagoans will be unable to see a collegiate football game next fall on week-ends when Northwestern university's Wildcats are out of town.

Russo's Pitching, Keller's Home Run Win.

New York, April 24 (AP).—The Yankees went into first place in the American league today by beating the Boston Red Sox 6 to 3 to sweep the two-game series.

Marius Russo's seven-hit pitching and a ten-hit attack, featured by Charley Keller's home run, were the winning factors. It was Russo's second victory of the year.

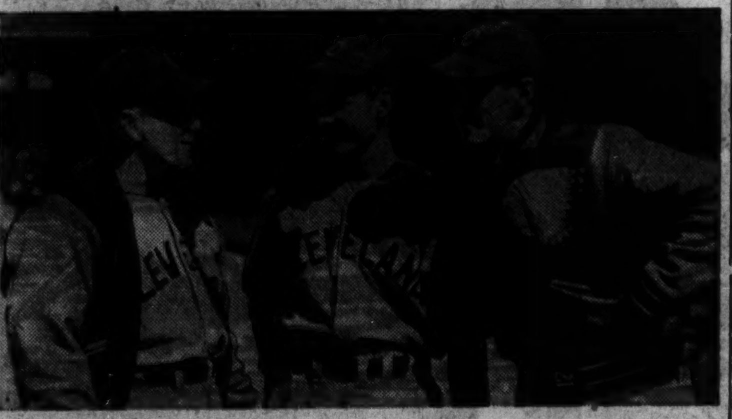
Three New Helpers for Indians



Three men who played elsewhere last year came to town yesterday with the Cleveland Indians. successive times at bat. Another multiple whiffer was Bill Nicholson, the Cubs' cleanup man, who missed the ball twice in four futile trips to the plate.

Tie Score on Fluke Double.

Going into the ninth French had been touched up for only six hits, all of them singles, with no two coming in a single inning. He threw out Maurice Van Robays, first up in the ninth. Elliott then banged a double off the score board in left field. DiMaggio lifted a high fly which Novikoff misjudged. Dallessandro came over, but failed to reach the ball. It plunked for a double and Elliott galloped home with the tying run. Frank Gustine was given an intentional pass and Spud Davis hit into a double play.

After Hack had opened the sixth with a single, not a Cub got on base off Klinger, Dick Lanahan, and Johnny Lanning until two were out in the eleventh, when Hack knocked his double. Augie Galan batted for Waitkus and walked, thus becoming the only Cub besides Hack to reach first base after the miraculous fifth inning. Dallessandro ended the inning with a grounder to Gustine.

Myers' Error Costly.

French threw out Van Robays at the start of the home 11th and Elliott was easy for Herman. DiMaggio then grounded to Myers. Bill's throw was low and Russell, who had just taken over at first, failed in one of his attempted boxing glove pickups of the short bounce. Gustine followed with a single to center which put DiMaggio on third. Davis was given an intentional pass, loading the bases.

cagoan on base. After Knickerbocker had become the 10th Sox to tumble in succession before Smith's deception, Appling shattered the spell by picking off a 3-2 pitch for a single to center and he soon gained the added distinction of being the first to reach second base. He got this ride on Kuhel's gentle tap which Hemsley captured and threw to Trosky. Luke languished on second while Solters closed the inning with a pop to Peters.

There was a slight outbreak from both sides in the sixth. Weatherly singled to center after Smith had been disposed of an strikes. Boudreau succumbed to the same treatment and Walker hoisted to Solters for the third out. In the Sox half, Tresh who led off, survived when Mack dropped a tall popup. Lee attempted to sacrifice, missed two pokes, then swung and grounded to Mack for a double play. The Indians produced their third hit—Mack's single to left with two out—in the seventh and a moment later the Sox produced what proved to be the decision.

Luke Leads the Way.

The winning inning got under way with Appling nudging one of his typical singles into right. Kuhel tried to cram a swinging bunt thru short on a hit and run signal but the agile Boudreau, after starting over to cover the bag, turned, smothered the ball and shot it to Mack to force Appling. Solters walked and then Lodigiani, with a 1 and 1 count, pasted his pay-off triple into the right field corner, Kuhel and Solters galloping home. Rosenthal grounded to Trosky for the second out and Kreevich flied to Bell.

A Pinch Hitter Hits.

A pinch hitter was a contributing factor in the eighth inning incident by which Lee was robbed of a possible shutout. After Lodigiani had thrown out Hemsley, Murray Howell did Smith's batting and singled past Knickerbocker's left. Howell is a pudgy lad who doesn't run well, so Charley Workman took over for him. Workman went to second on Weatherly's infield out and home on Boudreau's single to right. Lee concluded this inning by fanning Walker.

The Sox caused a little trouble for their former associate, Brown, in the eighth. Lee singled to left with one out and Knickerbocker punched a single to right, but Appling's bid for a third hit was a double failure. He rolled to Brown and a twin killing was recorded.

Lyons Opposes Indians Today; Bids for No. 2

Ted Lyons, the 40 year old White Sox veteran, will warm up today and endeavor to make the Indians contribute the second victory of his 19th season. Jim Bagby, Jr., will start for the Indians. The game will mark the first ladies' day of the year in Comiskey park.

The Sox will hit the road again tonight, leaving for St. Louis where they are scheduled for three games with the Browns. Eddie [Lefty] Smith will be employed in tomorrow's opener.

Altho facing a call for service in the draft army, John Rigney continued working at his job yesterday. He was in uniform for another session aimed to get him back in condition after his stretch with the strep germs. If he can get into trim before Uncle Sam's call arrives, Rigney will do some pitching, possibly in relief rôles.

Taft Wright visited with his Sox pals for the first time since recovering from his second flu attack, which sent him to the hospital April 12. He won't appear in uniform until next week and will need at least another week to get back into working order.

"Tonight . . . you'll drink with history!"

Up in the Highlands of Scotland, the River Spey runs, crystal clear and cold, by the distilleries of W. & A. Gilbey, Ltd., largest individual wine and spirits merchants in the world. This is where I began, and from this historic river I get my name.

The major part of my life—like all good Scotch Whiskies—is spent inside sherry casks—aging for better flavour. Then, I'm blended with other fine Gilbey Scotches into one superior, smooth whisky called Spey-Royal . . . bottled, and shipped all over the globe.

First, I went to London, but as soon as we reached (censored), just outside the City, they put me down in the underground vaults. Seems there was quite a disturbance above; it turned out we were right on an estuary of the Thames.

As soon as I was delivered to the docks for shipment to your country, the Government took responsibility. I waited my turn for "bottoms," along with a great many other cases.

They almost got us, two days out of (censored). It was quite an experience. Several times I thought I'd be wasted on the ocean floor. But we got through, what?

When we reached neutral waters, the Admiralty notified Gilbey what ship I was on. Up to then no one knew where I was, when I'd sailed, or where I was to land. You see, it's quite a business getting over to the United States these days.

Because I'm sold on a different basis from other Scotch Whiskies, Gilbey has no primary importer, but sells direct to distributors all over the country. This eliminates what you call "middlemen" and keeps my price down. Thus, I ended up in several different cities.

It's really quite a thrill to see how people enjoy me. You Americans have the nicest homes and all of you seem to have good taste in other things as well as whisky. I heard one man say, "This is the most pleasant way of giving aid to Britain I know!"

JEFFREY NAMED MUTUELS HEAD BY RACE BOARD

Staff Is Completed for Sportsman's Opening.

The Illinois Racing commission yesterday announced the appointment of A. C. Jeffrey as director of mutuels and completed plans for the opening of the Chicago racing season at Sportsman's Park tomorrow. The spring meeting continues thru May 17.

Other appointments, rounding out the commission's staff for the season, also were announced by Clement A. Nance, secretary. Dr. George B. McKillip has been retained as veterinarian and Dr. Y. Thomas Oester as chemist. William A. Hamilton is the commission steward.

Commissioners Will Attend.

Commissioners Walter C. Peacock and Hubert E. Howard, with Secretary Nance, will attend tomorrow's opening at Sportsman's. A third member of the commission, who has not been named, will be appointed by Gov. Dwight H. Green to replace Leo Spitz, chairman, who has resigned.

"Applications for licenses from owners, jockeys, trainers, apprentices, and horsemen already have passed last year's total of 757 for Sportsman's Park," Nance said. "The commission staff has been working overtime to keep up with requests and to have licences in the hands of applicants by tomorrow."

Nance, who also is secretary of the Republican State Central committee, will be honored at a dinner in the La Salle hotel tonight sponsored by the committee. Ben L. Berve, chairman of the committee, will be toastmaster.

All in Readiness at Park.

At Sportsman's Park all was reported in readiness yesterday for tomorrow's opening. The meeting takes up where racing closed in Chicago last fall, when one of the most successful seasons of the year was held at the half mile track.

Eight races, all overnight affairs, are on the daily program, offering a wide variety in distances and fields. Entries for tomorrow's races will be received at the secretary's office this morning.

Feature race tomorrow is the fifth, the Hawthorne handicap, for 4 year olds at 7 furlongs. The Stickney purse, named for the village near which the track is located, is the secondary feature and is sixth on the program.

Drake Relays Open Today; to Hold 9 Events

Texas will have competition in the sprint medley from Michigan, Ohio State, Louisiana, Nebraska, and Notre Dame.

The university distance medley should furnish an exceedingly close fight with the favorite Oklahoma A. and M. team facing competition from Michigan, Missouri, Ohio State, Purdue, and Nebraska. If the Cornhuskers enter they will have Gene [Red] Littler in the quarter mile and Bob Ginn in the anchor mile.

Blozis Threatens Record.

Al Blozis of Georgetown university, making his first appearance in the Drake relays, will perform in the shot put preliminaries tomorrow. He is expected to threaten the meet record.

Six athletes from Northwestern and five from Chicago are entered in the competition, tho the Wildcats' star dash man, Myron Piker, was left at home. Piker suffered a muscle injury in the event last year and Coach Frank Hill decided to save his sprinter for the Western conference meets. In the Northwestern group are Joe Finch and Chuck Horvath, hurdlers; Ed Thistlethwaite, pole vaulter; Jim Smith and Don Smith, high jump, and Don Clawson, weights.

Maroons Enter Relay Team.

Coach Ned Merriam's Maroon athletes include Capt. Jim Ray, high jumper, and the two mile relay team anchored by Ray Randall. Other members of the relay team are Bill Stabenau, John Wilson, and Truman Dahlberg.

Marquette is sending its smallest squad in years. Its captain, Don Vosberg, will forget about running the quarter mile and concentrate on the javelin.

Trainer Mikel's Attorney Makes New License Plea

Charles J. Michal, counsel for J. D. Mikel, Carlock, Ill., race horse trainer who has been barred from Illinois tracks since 1935, yesterday protested the Appellate court's action in quashing an order of Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher which compelled the Illinois racing commission to grant Mikel a 1939 trainer's license. Attorney Michal, appearing before Judge Fisher on a petition asking the commission be ordered to grant Mikel a 1941 license, stated his client is being unjustly barred from every track in the country. Judge Fisher said he would hear the petition on Monday.

entry was the favorite, paying $4.40, $3 and $2.40.

Only Two More Tests Ahead.

Only two more significant tests remain on the pre-Derby schedule. These are the Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday and the Derby Trial stakes at Churchill Downs on Tuesday. The Wood is expected to show just how good Ogden Phipps' King Cole is this season. This horse impressed easterners with his excellent performance in winning the six furlong Paumonok handicap recently and now he faces the longer trial in the mile and a sixteenth Wood. Coldstream stable's Curious Coin is expected to furnish him opposition.

The Derby Trial, which is a dash of a mile, is almost sure to bring out Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap, winner of the recent Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace. Whirlaway also is scheduled to go to the post in that event as a final conditioner for the Derby.

With the close of the Keeneland meeting today, most of the horses quartered at the Lexington track will move over to Louisville, where the Churchill Downs meeting opens on Saturday.

Several at Churchill Downs.

A number of Derby eligibles already are at the Downs. Blue Pair, recently purchased by Mrs. Vera Bragg, was sent there yesterday. Mrs. Louise Palladino's Little Beans arrived today, as did Hugh Nesbit's Staretor. By the time the meeting begins many more will be on the grounds, including Whirlaway, Our Boots, Porter's Cap, and E. F. Woodward's Valdina Groom.

Early in the week eastern owners will begin shipping in. Arrangements have been made to stable King Cole, Curious Coin, J. F. Byers' Robert Morris, King Ranch's Dispose, and Walter Chrysler's Full Cry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 24.—Stanley Hack is one Cub who hasn't succumbed to the club's bashful work at the plate. His three hits today boosted the veteran's average to .478, the second highest average in the big leagues. Cecil Travis of the Senators is hitting .586.

* * *

Pittsburgh's shade trees are leafed, the fruit trees are in full bloom, and the grass everywhere is as green as anything. But there was a touch of winter in the air which kept even ladies' day ticket holders at their stoves.

* * *

The Cubs are wearing second hand uniforms here even as they did in St. Louis. It is probable, too, that they will wear the old garments on their impending tour of the east. Some of the uniforms are a bit ragged and others are faded but for the most part they are clean and modest.

Around the Piano.

It's good to have them gather 'round
And listen to them sing
Familiar songs of other years,
And modern ones of swing.
It matters not the melodies
Their fresh young voices choose,
For every one can bring a smile—
And chase away the blues.
Within a world gone mad with war,
It's fine to hear a song
Upon the lips of happy youth,
And where it should belong.
I doubt if they will ever know
How much of joy they bring
When they are gathered in our home
And we may hear them sing.

SWAIN WINS BY NOSE; KENTUCKY DERBY HOPES RISE

Baltimore, Md., April 25 [Special].—Swain, owned by Cleaveland Putnam of Lake Forest, Ill., a Kentucky Derby eligible, enhanced his chances of running in the Churchill Downs fixture on May 3 by capturing the Elkton purse at Havre de Grace in a photo finish yesterday. Swain won by a nose over E. K. Bryson's Cis Marion, which has been declared out of the Louisville race.

Jockey Johnny Gilbert brought Swain up with a rush in the closing stages of the mile and 70 yard test and many in the crowd believed the bid had come inches too late.

Swain paid $7.10 for $2 and was clocked in a creditable 1:46 1-5. Mrs. J. M. Black's Hornblende was third; Mrs. M. R. Waugh's Pete Jr., fourth, and Mrs. J. L. Furr's Don Orlan fifth and last.

FEAR OF STRIKE CURB ON ARMS OUTPUT GROWS

Coal Supplies Fall Thru Mine Tieup.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—Amid warnings of dire consequences to the armament program if bituminous coal production is not resumed promptly, the national defense mediation board today took over efforts to settle the 24 day strike after President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins failed in their personal attempts.

The strike was certified to the board by Miss Perkins early this morning only after she and Mr. Roosevelt resisted earlier congressional demands for turning the controversy over to the board created by Mr. Roosevelt. Even so, the board lacks power except those of publicity and the force of public opinion.

Operators Summoned.

They were:

1. The mediation board summoned bituminous operators and miners to meet here tomorrow morning.

2. Mr. Roosevelt was informed by R. R. Sayers, director of the bureau of mines, that the nation has only a two week supply of soft coal.

3. A war department survey showed that the bituminous strike has forced a serious curtailment in armament production, particularly in the steel, textile, and ammonia industries.

4. A special senate investigating committee prepared to probe the shutdown on Monday unless mines have reopened by then.

5. Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early remarked that the strike was keeping President Roosevelt from his spring vacation in Warm Springs, Ga.

The seriousness of this walkout of 400,000 coal miners was accentuated by 25 other strikes delaying the armament program, and threatened walkouts at 61 plants of General Motors Corporation, and in the aluminum industry.

"Harmonious," Says Hillman.

Despite this, Associate Director General Sidney Hillman of the Office of Production Management, in charge of labor relations, told a convention of textile workers in New York city that strikes in armament industries are "becoming fewer and of shorter duration" and that relations between employers and employés are more harmonious than during any comparable period of industrial activity.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America and former president of the CIO, has kept 250,000 miners out of the northern Appalachian mines altho the wage dispute with northern operators has been settled by raising the daily basic wage from $6 to $7. Lewis has insisted that southern operators, employing 150,000 miners, also match this raise before he will allow any miners to resume work. Southern operators are holding out for an 11 per cent increase, or from $5.60 to $6.22 a day, insisting upon a favorable wage differential over northern operators.

Lewis Opposes Move.

Lewis has bitterly opposed having the dispute referred to the mediation board, and declared in New York today that "further delay in resumption of coal production is inescapable. For this we disclaim any responsibility."

In the absence of Board Chairman Clarence A. Dykstra, Vice Chairman William H. Davis called the meeting for tomorrow to which representatives of the miners and both northern and southern operators were summoned. He appointed the following panel to mediate the strike: Himself, to represent the public; Walter Teagle, to represent employers, and Clinton Golden, regional director of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO], to represent labor.

In releasing their survey of armament shutdowns resulting from the coal strike, army officials said that the situation is becoming extremely grave. Besides only two weeks' supply of coal on hand it was observed that it will require a full week to get new supplies to the plants after mines have reopened.

Mills Feel Shortage.

This report showed that all principal steel producers had disclosed shortages of coal. As a result, by next Monday, ingot steel production will be reduced by 1,000,000 tons monthly, and by May 5 more than 2,500,000 tons. The situation in the Chicago district was reported "very serious."

In addition, the report related that three large producers of ammonia, used in large quantities for explosives, are preparing to cut production immediately. Solvay Process company, Hopewell, Va., the largest producer, reported the biggest shortage.

Also, a considerable number of woolen and cotton cloth manufacturers are curtailing production and must shut down completely in 10 days unless coal supplies are received.

The Lamson corporation, Syracuse, N. Y., holder of a big contract for gun mounts, must have coal within two weeks or production will be seriously affected, the army said.

Senator Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], chairman of the senate committee investigating the armament program, postponed the original date for probing the soft coal strike from tomorrow until Monday because of the mediation board hearing, but still expressed determination to quiz representatives of the operators and miners unless mines are running by Monday.

Plan Coal Strike Probe

(Story in adjoining column.)

Grace Asserts Coal Tieup Hits Steelmakers

New York, April 24 (AP).—Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel corporation, said today "production of steel is being seriously curtailed because of lack of soft coal," resulting from the shutdown during the miners' wage dispute.

Eugene G. Grace.

Grace said his company, however, had accumulated supplies and coke piles were large enough to last for "a few more weeks."

His comment was made following the quarterly directors' meeting, in connection with announcement of earnings for the first three months of 1941. The report showed a considerable profit shrinkage from the record breaking results of the preceding quarter.

Unfilled Orders a Record.

At the same time, it was disclosed that unfilled orders of this maker of ships and armament reached the unprecedented total of $1,323,200,000 as of March 31, compared with only $255,802,117 a year ago. Grace said more than $1,000,000,000 reflected shipbuilding orders, and the rest regular steel and ordnance lines.

Net profits for the three months ending March 31 were $10,436,028, slightly under the $10,891,139 shown in the same period of 1940, and well under the $14,516,779 reported for the quarter ending last Dec. 31. Profit for the latest period amounted to $2.95 a common share.

Directors ordered a quarterly dividend on the common stock of $1.50, the same as in the two preceding quarters.

Tax Provision Doubled.

Grace said the decline in profits reflected in part provision of $7,270,000 for income and excess profits taxes, compared with only $2,855,000 in the first quarter of 1940. He explained that the provision thus far made was based only on present taxes.

Asked about the coke situation, caused by the soft coal mining stoppage, Grace said that in the industry generally, there had been substantial curtailment in steel and pig iron production, adding:

"And I do not mean just a few thousand tons."

He said it would be some time before the mines could get back in order and make up for lost time, concluding: "It is serious, gentlemen."

He said Bethlehem was continuing to operate at a record breaking rate, with its present operations at 102 per cent of theoretical capacity.

BONDS ADVANCE WITH RAILS OUT AHEAD OF REST

New York, April 24 (AP).—The bond market advanced today, but gains were small except for some rails. United States government issues rose with the corporate list.

Transfers expanded to $11,728,200, face value, the best since April 4, and compared with $9,849,600 Wednesday.

Canada 4s gained 1¼ points and Panama 5s more than 2. German 5½s ended up a small fraction.

3 CHICAGO FIRMS PLAN EXPANSION OR NEW PLANTS

Belt Lacing Maker Has Broken Ground.

BY AL CHASE.

Three Chicago industrial concerns yesterday announced plans for expanding their plants. Two are in new locations and the third is a plant addition. The new improvements will cost about $235,000 it was said.

Armstrong, Bray & Co., maker of steel and wire belt lacing, has broken ground for a new one story factory building at the southwest corner of Northwest highway and Menard avenue, to cost $40,000. Designed by Engineering Systems, Inc., it will be completed in August. It will have 12,000 square feet of floor space. Later the company plans to add 30,000 square feet additional. The company's expansion is partly due to the armament program.

To Build in Keeney District.

Tuttle & Kift, Inc., now at 2626 West Washington boulevard, engineering counsellor and manufacturer of electrical parts for the range industry, completed arrangements with the Phipps Industrial Land Trust for the immediate erection of a one story building to contain 35,000 square feet, at 1823 North Monitor avenue, in the Keeney industrial district.

The company acquired 65,000 square feet of land, part of which is for future expansion. The project will cost $120,000 and will be occupied under a 15 year lease. The building will be designed by the architectural firm of Olsen & Urbain.

Will Lease New Plant.

The Chicago Transformer corporation, 3501 Addison street, has leased a one story building to be built by A. H. Boettcher and John A. Dienner, trustees, on land adjoining the concern's plant. The new unit will contain 30,000 square feet of floor space and will cost about $75,000, it was said.

It will stand on 42,000 square feet of land at 3526-48 Eddy street, extending back to the corporation's main plant which has 76,964 square feet of floor space.

The lease is for 10 years at a term rental of $270,000, according to Hart & Whetston, which represented all parties. Engineering Systems, Inc., is the architect.

EASTERN ROADS ADD NEW TRAINS THIS WEEK-END

Four new trains will be placed in service by the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads when the spring timetables are placed in effect Sunday, coincident with the change to daylight saving time by many cities.

The Pennsylvania will add the new all-Pullman Golden Arrow, leaving Chicago at 2:25 p. m., central daylight time, for New York. It will also place in operation the Red Bird, providing service both ways, leaving Chicago at 10:15 a. m. for Detroit. Westward schedules of many of the line's trains will be advanced one hour.

A new streamliner, the James Whitcomb Riley, will start service Monday both ways between Chicago and Cincinnati over the New York Central and Big Four routes. It will arrive in Chicago at 12:30 p. m., central standard time. Returning, it will leave Chicago at 4:30 p. m., standard time. The Michigan, a de luxe train, will enter service Sunday, arriving in Chicago at 12:15 p. m., standard time.

Last month's sales were made up of 449,597 passenger cars and 76,201 commercial vehicles. Retail distribution of cars and trucks for all of 1940 totaled 4,095,984, of which 3,463,599 were passenger cars.

For the first three months of 1941 retail sales numbered 1,317,737, of which 1,098,712 were passenger cars.

LONDON, April 24 (AP).—The Bank of England statement today revealed an additional £247,000 [about $988,000] was placed in circulation last week, setting a new record peak of £622,450,000 [about $2,489,800,000]. Reserves remained at an all-time low ratio of 5.0 to liabilities.

STRIKE LOWERS MARCH QUARTER PROFIT OF ALLIS

Other Arms Makers Report Gains.

The strike which for 76 days virtually halted all operations at the Milwaukee, Wis., plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company and held up production on 45 million dollars' worth of armament orders contributed to a large decrease in net earnings of the company for the March quarter, it was announced yesterday.

Meanwhile, several other large companies which have received large orders from the government in the armament program reported substantial gains in net income. Included were the Borg-Warner corporation and the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Allis-Chalmers' net income for the three months ended March 31 dropped to $596,469, equal to 33⅓ cents a share, from $969,869, or 54½ cents a share, reported in the comparable 1940 period.

Statement Blames Strike.

In a statement issued from main offices in Milwaukee, company officials said:

"The shrinkage in net income resulted from the strike at the West Allis works of the company, which practically suspended all production at this plant from Jan. 22 to April 8, and resulted in a very large unabsorbed burden."

Unfilled orders as of March 31 totaled $72,372,294, compared with $21,313,400 on the same date a year earlier, and $59,755,289 at the close of 1940. Billings for the March quarter came to $20,273,380, against $18,571,154 in the first three months last year. Orders booked amounted to $32,890,386, compared with $20,153,960 in the 1940 period.

Borg Warner Profit Up.

The Borg-Warner corporation reported consolidated net income of $2,367,597, equal to $1.01 a share, in the March quarter, compared with $1,776,240, or 76 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 quarter. Company officials noted that if the 1940 revenue act in its final form had been applied to the first quarter of that year, the estimated tax provision would have been $797,151 instead of $496,129 as set aside, thus reducing net income to $1,475,218, or 63 cents a share.

The company, with main offices in Chicago, produces automotive parts, refrigerators and other household appliances, and other types of products.

From headquarters in Middleton, O., officials of the American Rolling Mill company, a major producer of steel sheets, estimated net income for the March quarter of $3,500,000, equal to slightly more than $1 a share. In the first 1940 quarter, net income was $1,005,194, or 17 cents a share.

Baldwin Sales Mount.

The Baldwin Locomotive Works, which in addition to its regular production of various types of locomotives also has been filling armament orders, had consolidated net income of $2,104,381, equal to $1.89 a share, for the 12 months ended March 31. Net income was $1,414,289, or $1.24 a share, in the preceding 12 months. Consolidated sales increased to $55,966,786 from $37,030,781.

Charles E. Brinley, president, said that the dollar value of orders taken during March totaled $17,415,061, against $1,944,125 in the same month last year. Orders booked during the three months ended March 31 came to $40,866,302, compared with $6,957,902 in the corresponding 1940 period.

The backlog of orders as of March 31 aggregated $176,108,826, compared with $151,336,668 on Jan. 1 and $38,425,174 on March 31, 1940. Main offices of the company are in Eddystone, Pa.

Finance Firm Earns Less.

The Household Finance corporation, Chicago, reported March quarter net income of $1,665,067, equal to $1.96 a share, compared with $1,772,054, or $2.10 a share, in the corresponding 1940 period.

Company officials of the Victor Chemical Works at main offices in Chicago announced that net income was $318,216, equal to 46 cents a share, in the March quarter. In the comparable 1940 period this manufacturer of phosphates, phosphorous and other chemical products had net income of $226,990, or 32 cents a share.

Another 65,000 Workers' Pay Rates Boosted

Wage increases affecting more than 65,000 workers were announced yesterday by several large companies, including Armour & Co., Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, and Crucible Steel Corporation of America.

Following the course of other meat packing companies Wednesday, Armour reported an 8 per cent wage increase for 10,000 hourly paid and piece work employés of its Chicago plants, effective April 21. The boost is expected to total between 1 and 2 million dollars annually, officials said. Wage adjustments in Armour plants in other cities will be made locally, they said.

Westinghouse announced in Pittsburgh, Pa., that the company and officials of the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union had agreed on a proposed wage increase, equivalent to a minimum of $4 weekly, for 45,000 workers.

Subject to Approval.

The proposed increase, which followed several months of negotiations, is subject to ratification by local plant managements and local units of the union at the 24 plants where the union is bargaining agent.

Completing the list of big steel companies that have granted wage boosts after the recent start by National Steel corporation, Crucible Steel reported in New York the signing of a new contract with the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] providing a 10 cents an hour increase for all hourly rated employés.

F. B. Hufnagel, chairman, said Crucible had decided to pay an "emergency bonus" of 10 cents an hour to all salaried employés receiving up to $175 monthly and 10 per cent of salary to employés receiving more than $175 a month and not in excess of $400. All increases will be retroactive to April 1.

The Interlake Iron corporation, Chicago, has increased wages 10 cents an hour in line with similar action by other steel and iron companies, Frank Armstrong, president, told the stockholders at the annual meeting.

Other Packers Raise Pay.

Two smaller packing houses also joined the 10 which announced 8 per cent wage increases on Wednesday. They are George A. Hormel & Co., Austin, Minn., and Jacob E. Decker and Sons, Mason City, Ia.

Officials of the Lehigh Portland Cement company and representatives of the United Lime, Gypsum and Cement Workers International union [AFL] signed a contract in Allentown, Pa., providing wage increases of 8 cents an hour for maintenance and production workers. The contract increases the basic wage to 65 cents an hour.

A wage boost of between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 a year will be divided by 10,000 pants makers in the New York metropolitan district under terms of a contract signed by leaders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers [CIO] and the New York Clothing Manufacturers association.

COURT UPHOLDS SECTION OF IDLE INSURANCE LAW

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher yesterday handed down a decision, which if upheld by the state supreme court, will bring many thousands of additional Illinois workers into the scope of the state unemployment compensation act.

He held constitutional a disputed section of the act which provides that if two or more "employing units" are owned or controled by the same interest, they shall be treated as a single organization to determine whether together they have enough workers for each unit to come within the act.

Constitutionality of the provision was attacked in a suit by the R. Wilson Cartage company, and A. H. Leucht & Co., both of 2324 North Seeley avenue and both controlled by Robert and William Wilson, brothers. The payments which the state department of labor contends they owe and those of more than 150 other companies will be stayed pending a Supreme court review of the decision.

Northwestern Mutual's Insurance Sales Rise

Sales of new life insurance in the first quarter of 1940 climbed 9.5 per cent over those of a year ago, the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee reported yesterday. New policies sold amounted to $49,990,451 in the latest period compared with $45,656,021 in the first quarter of 1940.

Railroad Buys Cars; Others Plan to Order

Orders and inquiries for railroad equipment yesterday indicated that another wave of that type of buying may be at hand. Other developments in industry included announcement that contractors will be in the market soon for millions of feet of lumber for government military camp projects.

The Louisville and Nashville railroad disclosed it has ordered 2,100 freight cars, of which 1,100 will be built by Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company and 1,000 by American Car and Foundry company. The Norfolk and Western is inquiring for between 700 and 1,500 cars, and several other roads were understood to be planning purchases.

Clear Milwaukee Purchase.

In Chicago, Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe cleared the way for the Milwaukee road to finance purchase of $4,194,871 of equipment. He directed the road to issue $3,120,000 of 2⅛ per cent equipment trust certificates covering 75 per cent of the outlay. The other 25 per cent will be cash. The equipment will include 500 new freight cars and 16 new Diesel-electric locomotives as previously announced.

Donald M. Nelson, director of purchases for the Office of Production Management, announced the new prospective purchases of lumber. At least 150,000,000 board feet will be needed for the construction planned for existing camps, Nelson said. He said lumber demand has slackened and prices have declined, making this a favorable time to buy.

The war department set aside $1,283,000 to finance start of construction at four motor mechanics schools located at San Antonio, Tex.; Fort Crook, Neb.; Fort Sill, Okla., and Fort Benning, Ga.

Navy Signs Contracts.

The navy signed contracts for $1,307,406 of expansion of plants and facilities for making airplane parts. The four projects all are in the east.

The public buildings administration awarded a $1,505,000 contract for construction of 500 housing units in South Bend, Ind. Thomas L. Hickey and Thomas L. Hickey, Inc., received the contract. One group of 350 units will be built near the Studebaker plant and 150 units near the Bendix Aviation plant.

The Chicago Association of Commerce reported that $16,415,000 of additional capital has been invested in industrial plants in the Chicago area in the last 30 days, when 78 companies authorized that amount of new factories or additions. In the corresponding 1940 period expansion programs totaled only $3,475,000. The amount for the first four months of 1941 was estimated at $95,801,000, against $19,736,000 in the first four months of 1940.

STORE SALES DIP AFTER EASTER, BUT EXCEED 1940

After Easter sales of department stores in Chicago and the 7th reserve area slumped from the high levels of the preceding week but were larger than in the coresponding week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said yesterday. Sales of Chicago stores dropped 16 per cent below the pre-Easter trade but gained 3 per cent over the 1940 week. District sales were down 12 per cent from the preceding week but were 11 per cent larger than in the corresponding week last year.

CHICAGO AD-MEN TOLD TO EXPLAIN ARMS PROBLEMS

Urged to Help Mold Public Opinion.

Advertising has a job during the armament period of explaining the reasons for shortages, for higher prices, for substitutions, and for changes from the accustomed buying habits, Paul Garrett, vice president of General Motors corporation and director of public relations, declared yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Federated Advertising club in the Hotel Sherman.

Paul Garrett.

Customers are going to be confused, he said, and upon the clarity and the integrity with which advertising performs this task the future of industry may depend. He added that "in this rapidly changing scene industry needs the guidance of an advertising approach sensitive to public attitudes."

Task of Informing Public.

"In explaining the processes of rearming," Garrett declared, "advertising undertakes the task of explaining the processes of industry. That in itself is important, but it does more. It helps build an informed public opinion. This is indispensable to national confidence."

Advertisers must seek to avoid the misunderstandings arising during the inevitable period for new tooling and new production channeling necessary to get armament materials rolling off the line in big quantities, he said. Garrett illustrated some of the elements in this change-over process by citing the automotive industry.

The $800,000,000 in armament materials being produced by General Motors represents roughly 198,250,000 man hours of work, he said. The armament assignments, he added, are enough for the company alone to keep 100,000 men busy a year.

Suspends Model Changing.

"The company already has suspended its yearly practice of new model automobile introductions applicable to 1943, work on which would begin normally at this time," he said. "This means that the 1942 models, on which work was started more than a year ago and is now largely completed up to the production stage, will continue thru 1943."

In answer to a question, Garrett said that automobile prices likely will rise because of the increasing costs, particularly of labor.

TOBACCO FIRMS ESCAPE TRIAL IN MONOPOLY CASE

Lexington, Ky., April 24 (AP).—An agreement was made in federal court today under which a number of companies accused by the government of criminal monopoly in the tobacco industry were relieved from going to trial. Five major companies, 21 of their affiliates and 11 of their executives made the agreement with government attorneys, leaving three major concerns, five subsidiaries, and 12 executives to face the jury.

The principal companies entering the agreement were Philip Morris, P. Lorillard, British-American, Imperial, and Universal Leaf, and those left for trial were American Tobacco, R. J. Reynolds, and Liggett and Myers.

The agreement participators were granted "a continuance until the rendition of the verdict by the jury and the sentencing by the court of the defendants [if any] found guilty by the verdict."

They further agreed that if the remaining defendants were convicted, they would place themselves on the mercy of the court thru "pleas of nolo contendere" [no contest] and accept fines.

INDIANA POWDER PLANT STARTS 23 DAYS BEFORE DUE

Charlestown, Ind., April 24 (AP).—The world's largest powder plant, built in less than eight months in the southern Indiana countryside, began operations today 23 days ahead of schedule.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of Wilmington, Del., put in operation the first of six production lines in an $86,548,000 factory it is building on 5,500 acres outside of this town. It will employ nearly 10,000 persons and turn out 600,000 pounds of smokeless powder a day.

The war department gave the company a contract last July 17 to build and operate the plant. Ground was broken Sept. 2. The first batch of powder, made by treating cotton with acid and then drying it, will come off the line by the week-end, it was said.

FIRST CHRYSLER TANK BUILT; IT'S A GIFT TO ARMY

Detroit, Mich., April 24.—Built of regulation armor plate and fully equipped for combat duty, the first Chrysler produced "medium" tank was formally presented to the United States army today, many weeks in advance of actual mass production of the new fighting units Chrysler is to make in its arsenal in nearby Macomb county.

The mobile fortress, presented as a gift from Chrysler dealers and their employés, was accepted by Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, chief of ordnance.

The 28 ton vehicle, classified as the M-3 tank, was put thru a series of maneuvers to demonstrate its 25 mile an hour speed and its striking power against such obstacles as utility poles, trees, and specially built structures.

Second Unit Displayed.

As the demonstration was completed a second unit, also "hand built," was brought out onto the arsenal testing ground and displayed to more than 2,000 guests.

Work of completing the quarter mile long tank arsenal and installing its equipment went on uninterrupted as the presentation and demonstration ceremonies took place.

The plant, built at a cost of 20 million dollars, is expected by Chrysler officials to be ready to roll out 14 tanks a day before the end of this summer. Assembly operations call for 66 of the tanks to be on two assembly lines in various stages of completion at all times. The Chrysler contract calls for 1,000 of the vehicles at a cost of 33 million dollars.

All Guns In Action.

As the new weapon was being demonstrated with all its guns in action, a similar "land battleship," built at the Baldwin Locomotive Works plant at Eddystone, Pa., was delivered to army officials for tests. The tank was finished nine months ahead of schedule. Baldwin officials said the plant is ready to begin mass production at once.

While the M-3 tank is officially credited with a speed of 25 miles an hour, it is said to have attained 50 miles an hour on smooth terrain. It is powered with a 400 horse power air cooled aviation engine, mounted in the rear. Eighteen feet long and a little more than 8 feet high, it carries a crew of seven men.

It is equipped with a 75 millimeter gun, with a firing range of 15,000 yards; a 37 millimeter antiaircraft gun, four machine guns and what is described as a "stackfull" of submachine guns, fired out of port holes "for close range work."

FREIGHT TRAFFIC RISES 4 PER CENT, TO 708,651 CARS

Revenue freight loadings in the United States during the week ended April 19 totaled 708,651 cars, an increase of 28,843 cars, or 4.2 per cent, over the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. A sharp expansion in ore shipments was mostly responsible for the rise. Coal loadings, altho gaining moderately from the week before, continued at a low level because of the bituminous shut down.

The week's total increased 80,183 cars, or 12.8 per cent over the corresponding period last year and was 150,784 cars, or 27 per cent ahead of 1939.

Chicago Ford Plant, Made Idle by Strike, to Reopen

Ford Motor company's Chicago plant at 12600 Torrence avenue will reopen Monday, Arthur S. Hatch, manager of the plant, announced yesterday. Approximately 3,000 men who were thrown out of work when the plant closed April 3 will go back to their jobs. The plant was made idle when the recent strike at the Ford River Rouge factory stopped the supply of parts.

STOCKS CONTINUE RECOVERY WITH LESSENED VIGOR

Closing Advances Reduced by Profit Taking.

New York, April 24 (AP).—Stocks generally continued the recovery push in today's market but without quite the vigor of yesterday's late upswing. Gains ran to a point or so for favorites. Closing quotations in many instances were well under the tops, indicating some cashing in on the two day advance.

Brokers still argued that the comeback was largely technical, inspired by short covering and buying for quick turn on the theory the lengthy decline was due for at least a temporary halt.

Average Up Slightly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks retained a net gain of .3 of a point at 39.8. Transfers totaled 485,090 shares compared with 474,500 yesterday.

Bethlehem Steel was up more than a point at one time but ended with a gain of only ¼. United States Steel was off ⅝, Crucible ¼, and Republic and Youngstown Sheet up ⅝ each.

Improvement was held by Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, and Nickel Plate.

Rails were among the best performers until near the finish when most backed away. They were aided by a more than seasonal increase in last week's freight loadings.

PRICES UP; SALES DOWN.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange turned upward yesterday, but transfers dwindled to 12,000 shares from 16,000 Wednesday. United States Steel, the volume leader in turnover of 850 shares, was off ⅝ point at 51⅝.

Only three dually listed issues recorded changes from the New York close during the trading from 2 to 3 o'clock, Commonwealth Edison gaining ⅛ to 26⅝, Swift losing ⅛ to 21¼, and United States Steel dropping ¼.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Cooler weather and a sharp decrease in the available supply of hogs at major markets failed to bolster hog prices at the stock yards yesterday. After a draggy and about steady opening, the market declined, closing 5 to 10 cents under Wednesday's prices. The average showed a 5 cent loss at $8.45. Top loads brought $8.85, unchanged, early, but later fell to $8.5.

Some of the recent sharp losses in cattle prices were replaced yesterday. Most steers and yearlings ruled stronger, with some of the best grades up 15 to 25 cents. Other classes were firm.

Reports of a broader demand for textiles led to fair buying of cotton futures in early trading yesterday. Hedging pressure from the south increased on the upturn and the close was near the bottom. Final sales were .05 cent a pound lower to .02 cent higher.

Cash cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent lower, with New York, 11.29 cents; New Orleans, 10.93 cents; Galveston, 10.76 cents, and Houston at 10.73 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

COMMODITY LIST FAILS TO BREAK OUT OF ITS RUT

Rubber, Hides and Others Post Small Advances.

Commodity futures markets yesterday crept along in their narrow rut of the last several days. Rubber, hides, cottonseed oil, and silk were higher, and domestic sugar, copper, and cocoa declined. Wool tops and Santos coffee were uneven.

Rubber futures picked up after weakness since the first of the week and advanced 0.05 to 0.12 cent a pound to 22.57 cents in the May delivery. Hides added 0.02 to 0.12 cent a pound at 13.79 cents for June contracts. Silk futures were 3 to 4 cents higher at $2.76 a pound bid for May and the cash price gained 2½ cents.

Steady demand and firm prices in cash markets marked nonferrous metals. Copper futures ended unchanged to 0.01 cent a pound lower at 11.43 cents bid for May. There were no lead or tin futures sales.

SEUBERT PLACES EARNINGS BELOW EARLY '40 LEVEL

Seubert.

Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, yesterday reported that the company's estimated earnings for the first two months of this year fell below the level of the comparable 1940 period despite an upturn of 4 to 5 per cent in sales.

He told of the company's operations at a press conference prior to the annual stockholders' meeting in Whiting, Ind.

"The decrease was largely due to the price structure," Seubert said. "Prices received for products were less despite the larger volume. Competition has been just as keen for army and navy supplies. Prices of aviation gasoline have come down drastically."

Doubts General Boost.

Seubert said that he foresaw no general increases "in the offing." Standard of Indiana recently boosted prices 1 cent a gallon thruout 10 midwestern states.

Seubert said that he believed only small quantities of petroleum products were being shipped to England from the United States. England apparently has depended upon South America, particularly Venezuela, for much of its oil, he said.

He said that the company would spend approximately $48,000,000 for modernization of plant equipment and transportation facilities this year. Stockholders approved a proposal for the merger of Pan American Southern corporation, a subsidiary, with the parent company.

Eleven Directors Reëlected.

The 11 retiring directors were reëlected, and were authorized to fill the remaining vacancy at their discretion. Officers also were renamed.

Frank Armstrong, president of the Interlake Iron corporation, told stockholders that the directors were considering "taking advantage of low interest rates prevailing on bank loans" to retire part of the company's outstanding funded debt. The meeting was held in New York City.

Four directors of the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe railway whose terms had expired, were reëlected for four year terms at the company's annual meeting in Topeka, Kas. All officers were reëlected.

IDLE BANK FUNDS AND BUSINESS LOANS DECLINE

A drop of half a billion dollars in the excess reserves [idle lendable funds] of reserve system member banks was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board for the week ended Wednesday.

The decline was a reversal of trend, a $230,000,000 expansion having been reported for the preceding week. The drop for the latest period cut the reserves to $5,760,000,000 in excess of legal requirements.

Member banks in Chicago and New York City reported a smaller volume of business loans outstanding. As of Wednesday, the Chicago total was $551,000,000, representing a decline of $3,000,000 for the week. The decrease in New York City was $7,000,000.

Chicago Avenue Goldblatt Store Will Be Enlarged

Joel Goldblatt, vice president of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., said yesterday that permission granted his company to close part of the alley back of the department store at 1615 West Chicago avenue, would result some time next year in an addition. The size has not yet been determined. It will be the fifth time that the Chicago avenue store, the first in the Goldblatt chain, has been enlarged.

VULTEE AIRCRAFT.

Is there any way I can get some financial information about Vultee Aircraft? My broker told me several months ago that the company had not published any reports.—T. J.

Answer: Vultee Aircraft, Inc., recently issued the first annual report since its establishment in November, 1939, as a separate company. It was previously a division of the Aviation Manufacturing corporation, a subsidiary of the Aviation corporation, both of which retain large interests in Vultee.

Net sales of the company in the year ended Nov. 30, 1940, were $5,606,410, and operating loss was $88,878. Net income was $374,457, after including $1,200,000 received from the sale of rights to manufacture a Vultee model.

Earnings per share were equal to 36 cents, based on 1,052,168 shares of $1 par capital stock. Besides the stock capitalization includes $4,200,000 in long term bank loans.

The shares are listed on the New York curb and the Los Angeles and San Francisco Stock exchanges. No dividend has been paid on the stock.

1937	$1,380,740	$ 80,184
1938	4,571,707	540,332
1939	†1,266,349	*†779,129

*Net loss. †Eleven months ended Oct. 31.

Vultee designs, develops, and manufactures airplanes, using engines, propellers, and other equipment which it purchases from other makers. Virtually its entire output consists of military training, pursuit, observation, and bombing planes for the American and English governments. Unfilled orders last Feb. 15 amounted to about 94 million dollars.

The company's facilities originally were concentrated at Vultee Field, Downey, Cal. In an effort to decentralize its operations to less vulnerable interior points, Vultee last fall acquired from Aviation Manufacturing the Stinson aircraft division at Nashville, Tenn., and Wayne, Mich., and the Barkley-Grow aircraft division at Detroit, Mich.

SOVIET BONDS.

In a discussion of relations between soviet Russia and this country some one mentioned that Russia has bonds outstanding in the United States. I would like to determine the accuracy of the statement.—L. M.

Answer: The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in 1933 floated a 7 per cent loan of 10 million gold rubles in the United States thru the Soviet American Securities corporation. The bonds mature Oct. 1, 1943.

GRAIN AND BEAN FUTURES RISE ON SHORT COVERING

Grain and soy bean futures turned higher on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. A large part of the buying was attributed by brokers to covering by traders who had sold short. Wheat and soy beans at one time were up about 1 cent a bushel.

Closing trades on wheat futures were ⅝ to 1 cent higher. Corn finished unchanged to ¼ cent higher and rye 1 to 1⅛ cents higher. Soy beans gained ⅛ to ½ cent. Lard was affected by strength in cottonseed oil and an announcement that ocean freight rates on cocoanut oil would be advanced and closed 5 to 7½ cents per 100 pounds higher.
